Beyond the Halls

Your mission, if you choose to accept it, is to go beyond the halls of Port Huron High School for most of the important work/ information will be found inside the closed doors.

You are to be an undercover student who is enrolled. You must collect information on the subjects and community both inside and outside the doors; check out the graduating classes, the clubs, and at the sporting events at PHHS. We have already learned...

The administrative team at the school changed over the summer. Mr. Ron Wollen, the former principal, was moved to acting Assistant Superintendent. Taking on the job of Acting Principal was Mr. Ken Semelsberger. Mr. Jeff Dennis added to his assistant principal roll the duties of Athletic Director. Besides all the moving of administrators, PHHS also gained a new assistant principal, Ms. Marla Philpot.

This school year all intructors were teaching subjects that fell in line with their degree, rather than their senority. Some teachers made some course shifts. Also eight instructors were new to the building.

Freshman and sophomore students anguished through an extra week of testing. The freshman took the Explore test and the sophomores took the ACT-Plan test that were mandated by the Port Huron Area School District. The state only allowed the seniors to take the MEAP this year, while the state distributied the ACT to all high school students.

If you accept this assignment to go beyond the halls of PHHS, your mission begins now!

Acting Principal Mr. Ken Semelsberger, Assistant Principals Ms. Marla Philpot and Ms. Janet Barrett, and Acting Athletic Director Mr. Jeff Dennis.

Where's Jared? Can you find the spirited senior Jared Jarvis?

Students were found every Friday night at football games.

Bright colored dresses and matching shoes were seen at homecoming.

Students go to the State Fair during the summer. This scary creature is one of the "Haunted" attractions that you could actually enter and walk inside of.

Besides School Work
Social Radar

The bell rang, the classrooms emptied, and student life beyond the halls of PHHS began. This was private time, shared on a need-to-know basis. Some friends were given security clearance and access to this information. Others could only guess.

The top-secret fashion trends and new gadgets were not kept secret for long as occular tracking devices caught sight of the latest in the crowded halls.

Even without binoculars everyone saw the trendy outfits of Spirit Week, both spring and fall. One of the secret agents favorite days was Sunglasses Day to hide their true identities.

Plenty of students could be spied at the ever popular Friday night football games. "By going to the football games you can see the school pride these students have and how much they enjoy being at the games," said Mr. Harry Burgess.

Student Life also included summer jobs and vacations. Six students and one teacher enjoyed globe-trotting to Europe last summer visiting Italy, France, England, and Switzerland.

Fall Games Assembly showed heavy class competitions with the Class of 2008 going for a third win. The juniors chance was upset by the Class of 2009 which captured first in the games.

With the Homecoming theme of "Heaven on Earth" everyone's head was in the clouds as over 1,000 Big Reds and guests got down and danced to the musical code.

Dancing on the New York Skyline.

Here's to the Night...

After leaving the mundane everyday life, limousines picked up the seniors on May 19 for a night of elegance and lasting memories from the theme "New York Skyline."

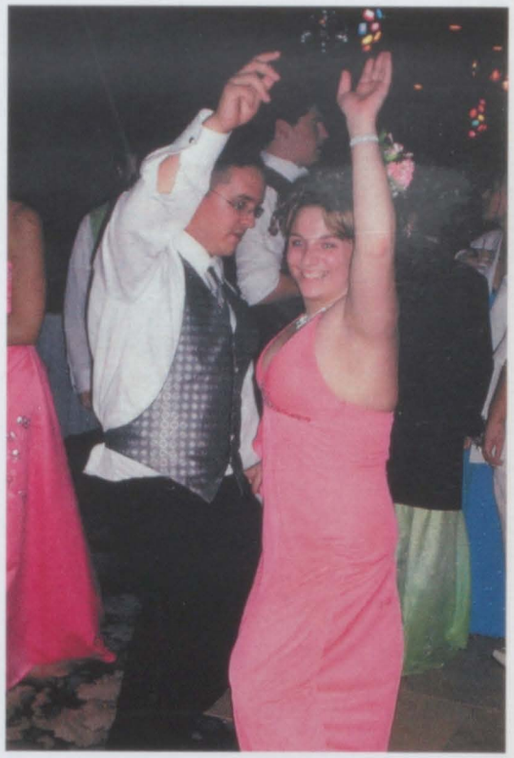
The skyline shined bright at the Fore Lakes Golf Club's Banquet Hall for Prom 2006. The hall opened at six o'clock and students arrived to take pictures and admire everyone's attire. Vibrant colored dresses filled the banquet hall. Girls chose to wear floor length gowns with detailed backs. The guys on the other hand wore either a traditional black tuxedo or a flashy white tux.

After pictures, the seniors were seated and the servers brought out a dinner of salad, bread, pasta, chicken, beef, corn, red potatoes, and chocolate mousse with chocolate chips.

Before the dancing began, the partygoers strolled outside on the grand deck and many took group pictures with the view of the golf course.

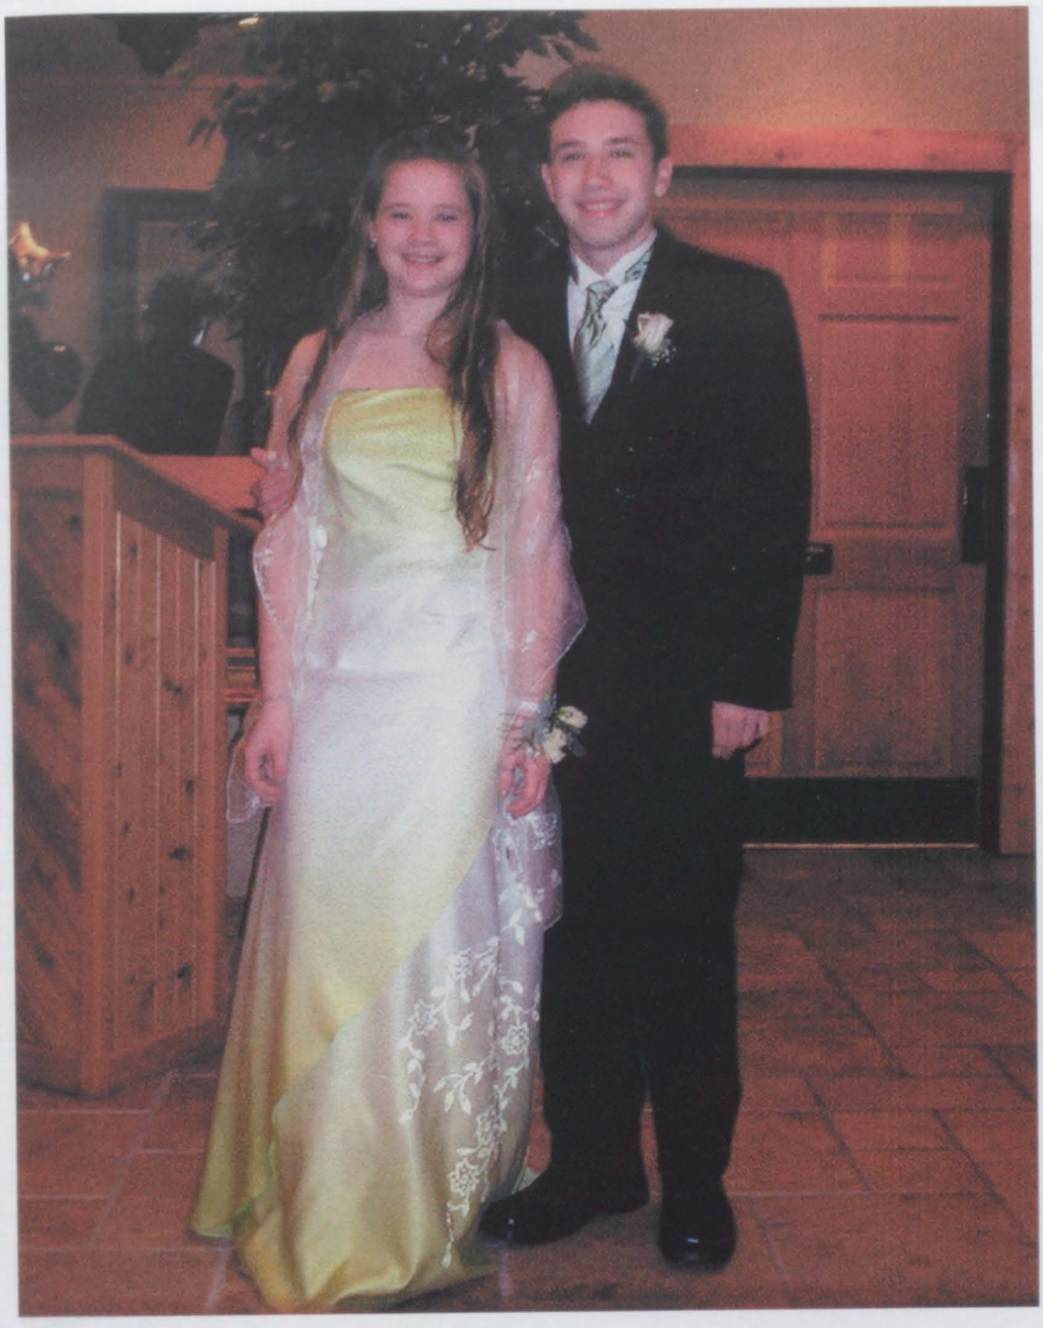
At eight o'clock "All My Life" by K-Ci and JoJo lured the seniors to the dance floor. The tempo changed throughout the night when the DJ took requests. As the senior's night on the New York Skyline came to an end, they danced one final dance to their class song, "Here's to the Night" by Eve 6. "It was the perfect way to end our high school careers," said Chad Fleming (06).

Here Amanda Smith and Joshua Isaac, dance the night away to "Here's to the Night" by Eve 6.

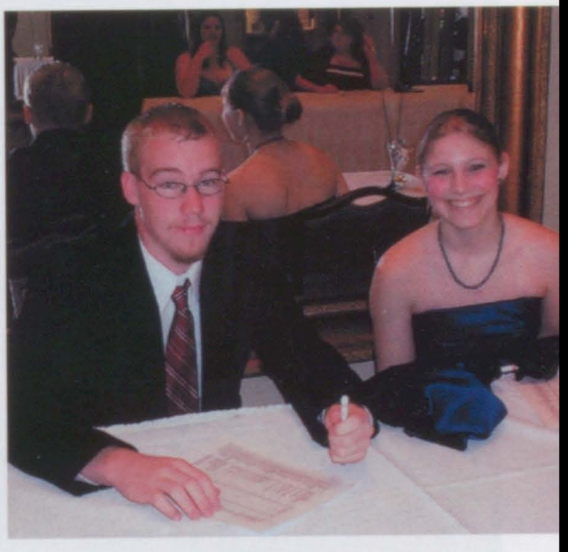


Shelby Rightenberg (10) strolls with her cousin, Lindsay Howe (06) into the main room for dinner and a night of dancing.

In between assisting with the many things that needed to be done for the night, Jared Jarvis (07) and Kathy Weller (07) share a quick dance.



Arm in arm, Adam Mollan (06) and Audrey Visga (07) enter the dance floor together.



Working the check in table, Mallorie Krul (07) and Justin Finch (07) check off the seniors one by one before they enter the prom.

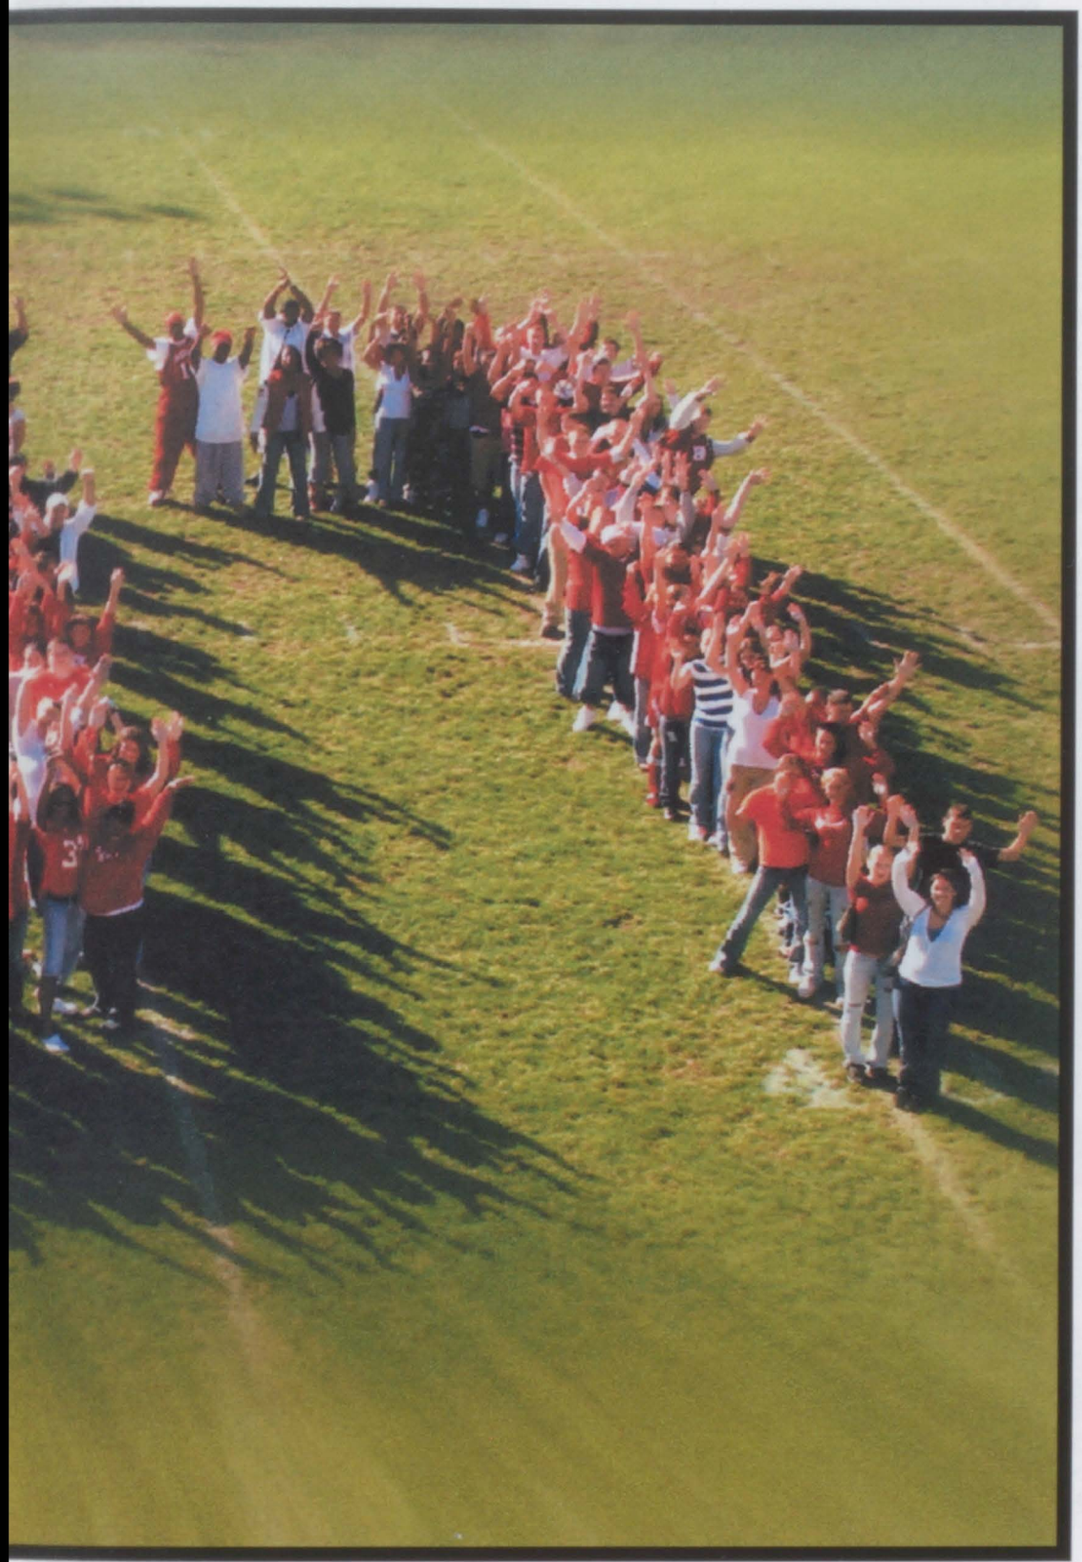
SENIOR PICTURE

The Class of 2007



The senior class got together at Memorial Field on Sunday, October 8, 2006, for the annual group photo, this year photographed by a local professional from Norton's Photography.

Double 07 is our year we've got pride and have no fear!

Since 2003 when the gradutating class of 2007 entered Big Red Country with their pride, they created their own path from fearless freshmen to a unique and great senior class of Port Huron High School.

Four years ago, the class of 2007 started without any advisors, until Mr. Daniel Griffith and Ms. Denise McCaffrey took on these free spirited freshmen, who were led by Presidents Erin Jones and Alphonso Amos, Vice President Kathy Weller, Secretary Jessica Bukowski, Treasurer Tayler Carpenter, and Historian Chyna Lincoln.

The freshman learned first hand how to create a float, even though they took fourth place with their rendition of the Effel Tower. The class of 2007 was so determined to win, that they moved up to second place their sophomore year with their Big Red polar bear. The class was led that year by President Angelina Taylor and Treasurer Toni Spana.

Junior year the class was under the leadership of President Angelina Taylor, Vice President Kathy Weller, Vice President/Treasurer Tiffany Hunter, Secretary Jessica Bukowski, and Historian Amber Hunter. Their Homecoming float, a model of Marilyn Monroe, won first place. The class of 2007 kept the honor of first place at their final Homecoming with "Angels in the Endzone."

At the end of their junior year, the class elected Brittany Gilbert as president, Kayla Jones as vice president, Tayler Carpenter as secretary, and Angelina Taylor as treasurer.

As the class of 2007 completed their final year they remember all the Port Huron High historical events that they were a part of, such as the boys' soccer and the Big Red Maching Machine winning their first division one rating in six years.

Besides all the achievements the class of 2007 earned, they missed the leader they had for their first three years, Mr. Ron Wollen. Even though he moved up into the acting assistant superintendent role during the seniors' last year, they still recalled thinking that they were graduating from "The Finest High School in the State of Michigan, Bar None."

We're Off to Never Land!

I'm Flying!

A small light dashes across the room, there's a faint noise like the "tinker" of a bell. Slowly a window opens; in flies a young boy. It was a trip to Neverland for not only the audience, but also the cast and crew. With passion and perserverance, everyone pulled through with a magical performance. In the new Performing Arts Center, The After School Drama Program wanted to open with something spectacular, which came in the form of the musical Peter Pan.

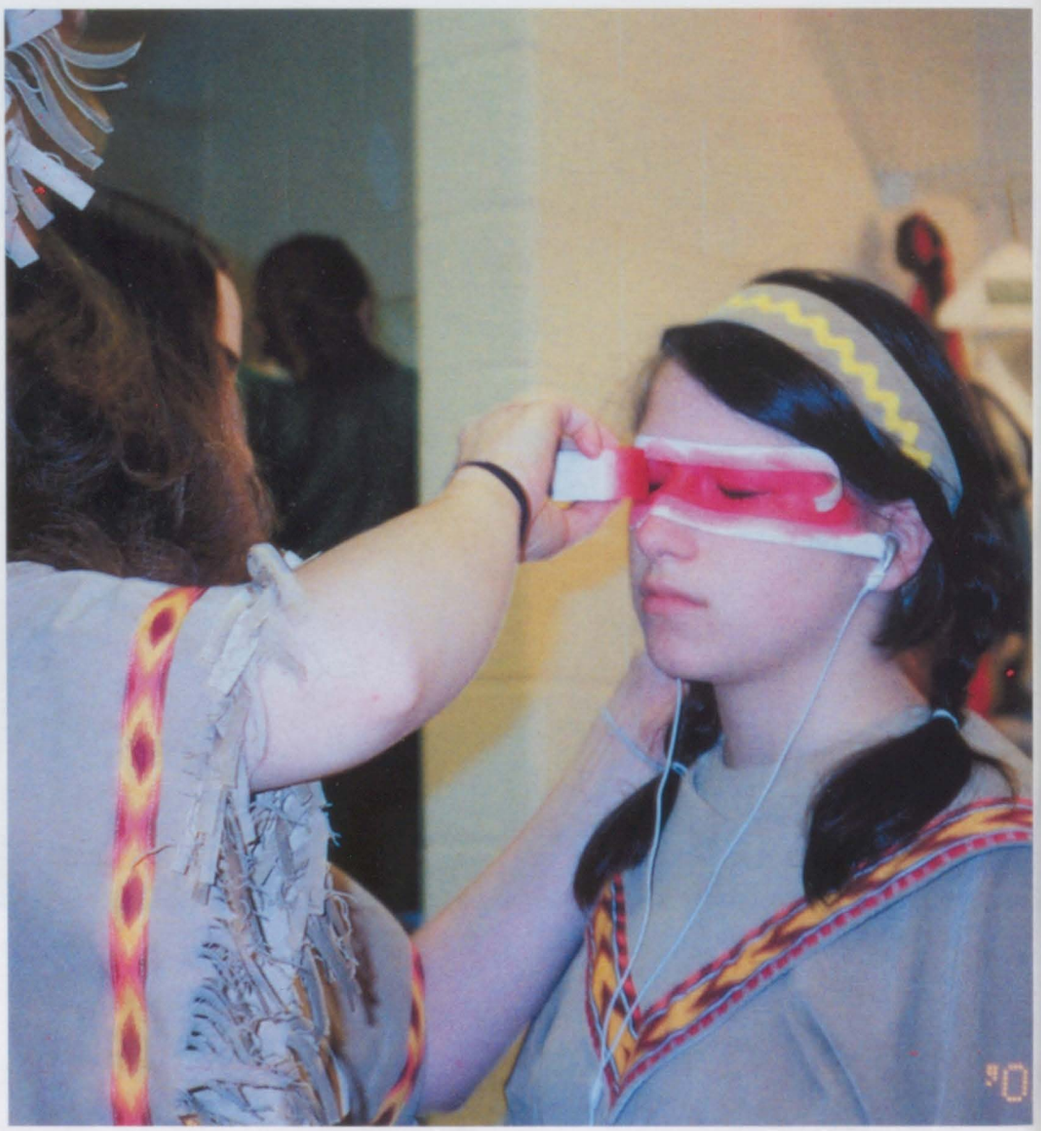
Thanks to the team from ZFX, the actors reached for the stars. For a five thousand dollar fee, the Drama Club brought in a flysystem from Las Vegas to enable not only the actors to fly, but also to give the backstage technicians a uniquie opportunity in operating the system.

The work was not only done by the cast but also by volunteers who built sets, made costumes, sold tickets, flowers, and assisted with hair and makeup. Among the lead roles were Erin Dwyer (06) as Wendy, Luke Sheldon (07) as Captain Hook, and appearing as Peter Pan, Ashley Recker (06). Besides PHHS students performing Dalton Doyle played Micheal.

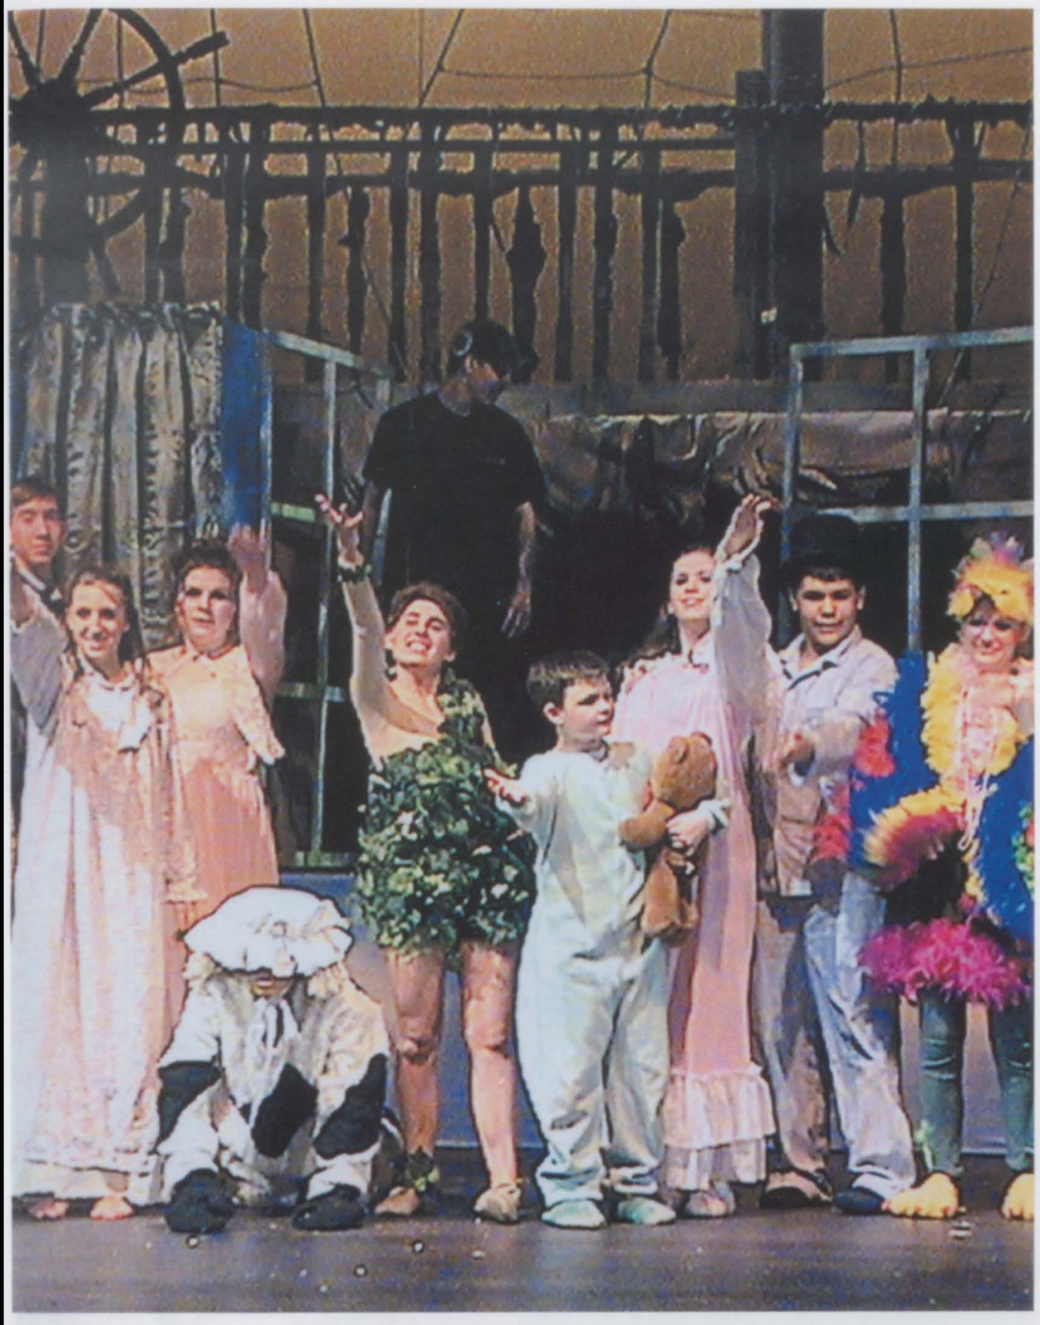
Peter Pan, filled with its catchy tunes and loveable characters, was a memorable experience for both audience and cast.

Captain Hook, Luke Sheldon (07), and pirates Tawny Lash (06), Ashley Finch (07) and Katelyn Hunger (06) surround The Jolly Roger.

To comfort her little brother, Wendy, played by Erin Dwyer (06), sits with Michael, played by Dalton Doyle, a Michigamme studednt.



Tara Muir (09) applies stage makeup to fellow Indian Taylor Krassa (09).



The cast members give a wave during a curtain call.

Together, Chad Fleming (06), Justin Ceckowski (06), and Luke Sheldon (07) lighten the mood and do their best evil grin.

Soaring through the air, Erin Dwyer (06), Michigamme student Dalton Doyle, and Kavik Bressette (08) experience the flying system.

Making it work

PHHS Runway

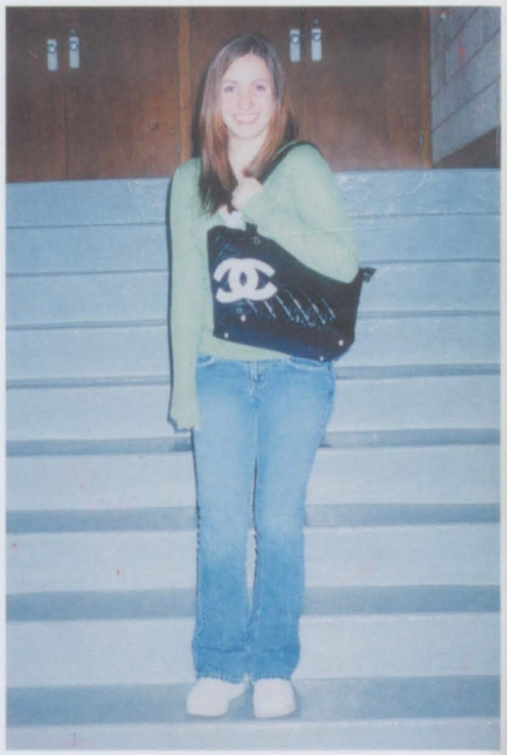
There was definitely a passion for fashion this year. Instead of the usual back to school wear of jeans and t-shirts, students walked the halls like they would strut down a cat-walk.

A more glamorous fashion-forward attire for the ladies was seen in dark washed jeans, fitted blazers and tight colorful shirts with lace trimmed cami's showing underneath. Paired with everything from Prada, Chanel and Burberry handbags to pointed toed stiletto heels, the girls made the hallway their very own fashion runway. The girls took it one step further on the "Pink" route. They sported cropped sweatpants and hoodies from Victoria's Secrets Pink collection.

The guys rocked the school hallways in pinstriped button ups. Graphic tees were a must-have for this school year's wardobe, along with shirts of a their favorite band. Cargo pants and faded jeans accompanied the look for the boys.

This school year showed fashion beyond the vogue.

"They cost more, but it's worth it in how long they last." Jennifer Westley (08) on designer purses.



Following the "in trend" JoLisa Ervin (08) shows off her look of a lace cami underneath a cropped sweater.

Pink is not only on the mind, but on the feet of students at PHHS.

Ashley Ahles (08) shows off her glamorous attire of white capris, a burgundy sweater and black heels.

From the School to the Beach

Aloha Spring!

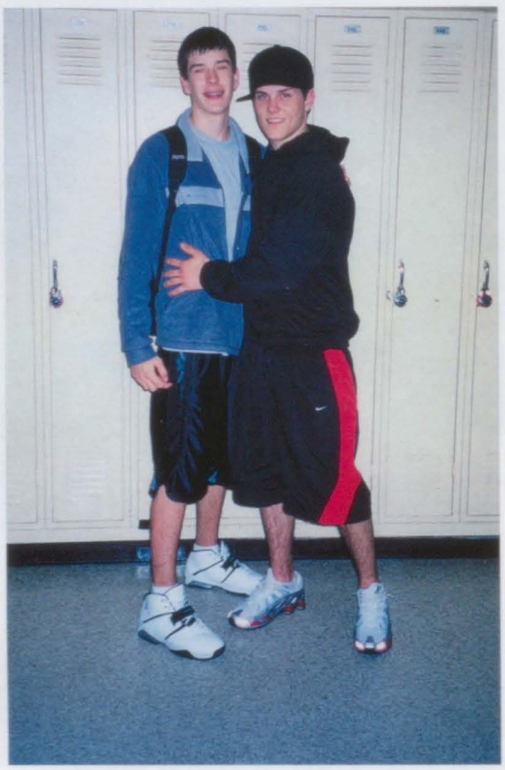
To step out of the bleak, cold days of winter, Student Council members designed Spring Spectacular.

Students joined the fun on Monday, April 3 by wearing their favorite college shirt. Tuesday was laid back with Lazy Day for comfy clothes; such as hoodies, jogging pants and gym shorts. By Wednesday everyone revved up for Neon Day, six hours of wearing the brightest colors from their closets. Lime green and hot pink flashed through the halls and beyond.

With hints of spring weather, students imagined themselves in the tropics, and donned flowered shirts and leis for Hawaiian Day on Thursday. Students showed their Big Red pride on the traditional Red and White Day on Friday. Students added hats for a bit of extra excitement.

The Games Assembly featured the introduction of the spring sports' teams. It also contained spectators who swarmed into the gym for an hour of class competitions. The games consisted of Volleyball, Tug-of-War, Shot Put, Limbo, Hula Hoop, and Pass the Coconut. The class of 2008 ended up in first place, followed by the class of 2006, class of 2007, and the class of 2009. As everyone was leaving, the roar of excitement was still in the air.

Stefan Throndset (08) went all out for Hawaiian Day, while Tara Muir (09) went for the simple style of a classic lei.



Taking "Lazy Day" to a new level, David Kibbe (08) and Oramel Burnham (07) relax in the hallway between classes.

Junior Takeisa Norman concentrates on not letting the Hula Hoop hit the floor resulting in a tie for first.

Janelle Klaas (08) quickly passes the coconut to William Rock (07) in a race against time at the Games Assembly.

Showing their school spirit after gym, Michelle Netter (09), Mrs. Carol Raymond and Lauren Mann (09) enjoy Hawaiian Day.

The class of 2007 tried their hardest to beat the class of 2006 during the Tug-of-War, unfortunately without success.

The Streets of Port Huron Featuring

"Heaven on Earth"

"OOOOH DOMINO!"

At the start of the 2006 Homecoming parade the BRMM played "Domino," a song by Van Morrison chosen by the band as the artist for the football season.

Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson Elementary School students sat on the sidewalks and curbs of streets in anticipation as the high school students, their court nominees, and their floats cruised past. The band thundered "The Fight Song."

Then, doing what they do best, the PHHS Cheerleaders pumped up the crowd to get them ready for what was yet to come.

The Big Reds' former principal, and now the Port Huron School District's Acting Assistant Superintendent, Mr. Ron Wollen was next.

Close behind were the senior court candidates and their first place float, "Angels in the End Zone." Next, juniors with "A Piece of Heaven" got second place.

The fourth place float, "Come to the Light" belonged to the sophomores. The final entry, in third place, the freshmen created "Spread your wings and fly."

To end the parade Central Cougar Cheerleaders rode in the trolley.

Featuring choirs of Heavenly Angels, the freshmen entry floated on a white cloud.

Woodrow Wilson Elementary students lined White Street to hear the musical rendition of "Brown-eyed Girl" by the BRMM.

Juniors grabbed "a piece of heaven" for themselves when they took a second place ranking in the float competition.

With seniors "in the end zone", the class of '07 won the float competition and took first overall for Homecoming 2007.

The Senior Court Candidates Jonathan Blake, Mark Thompson, and Nicholas Jowett rode in the sporty red convertible.

Class of '09 "came to the light" with their fourth place float.

A Walk on the Clouds Is...

A Little Bit of Heaven

With a twinkle of the floor-lights, the streamer gateway opened the gym featuring the Heaven on Earth theme.

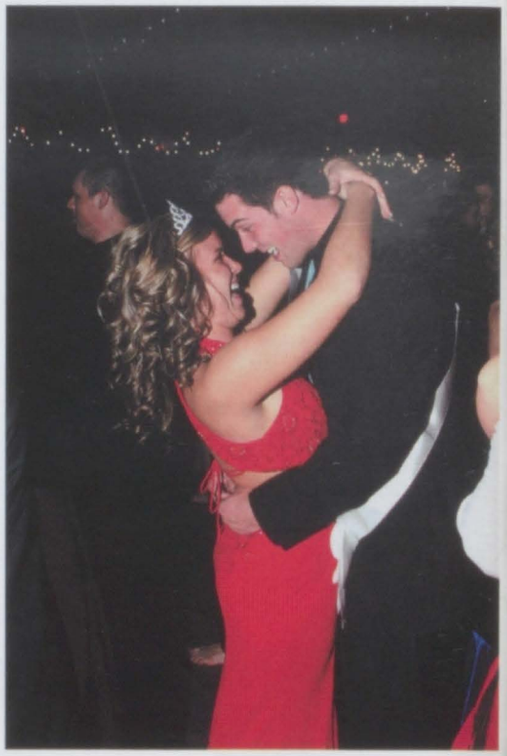
Once inside the gym, large gold and cream colored balloon archways graced the ceiling. Also, puffy clouds floated on the walls. Along the railings on both sides of the gym flowed ecru hued tulle, topped with shimmering white lights. Sparkling white doves accented the black back drop behind the DJ.

With the up beat tempo of Busta Rhymes "I Love my Chick," the dance offically started. A series of melodies from the last five years like "Hips Don't Lie" and "Get Low" played as more partygoers arrived.

Classics, like AC/DC "You Shook Me All Night Long" and the famous Cha Cha Slide, were also a-must. In the mix of songs the slow ballads included Ushers "U got it bad," Nickelbacks "Faraway" and "All My Life" by K-C and JoJo. The evening finale was a rockin' "Shout." Many tunes were aired by request like "Every Time We Touch" by Cascada and Lonestar "Amazed."

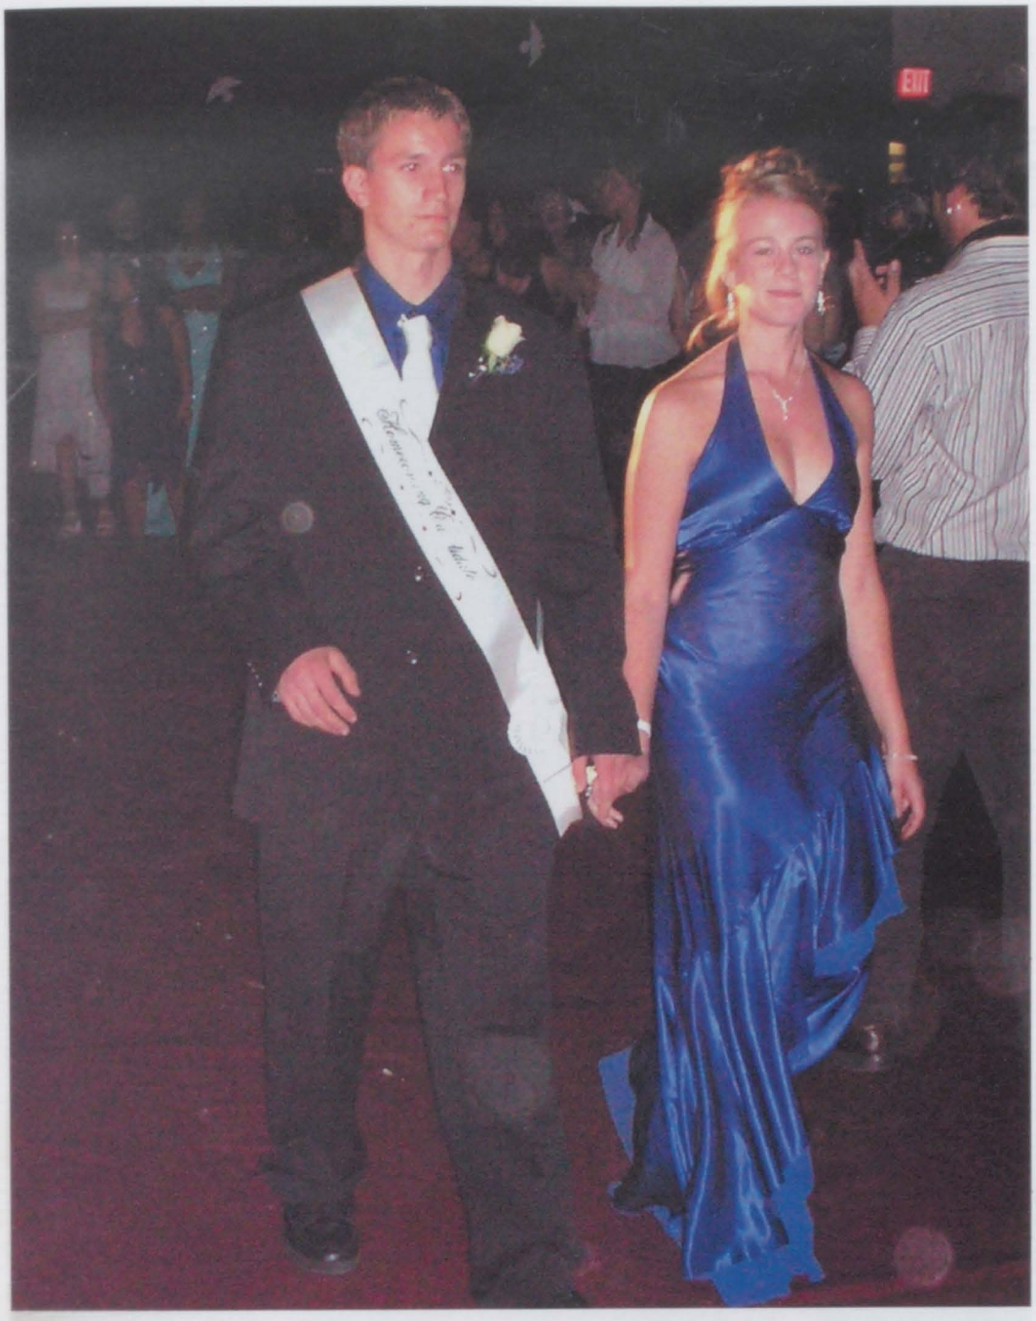
For the King and Queen Dance, it was a "Moment Like This" by Kelly Clarkson.

Senior court members Laura Towns and Nicholas Jowett share the King and Queen Dance together.



King Jonathan Blake and Queen Erin Jones share a moment before the famous King and Queen Dance.

A group of friends Melissa-Sue Barlow (09), Brittany Gilmour (09), Anna Crawford (08), Kourtney Pelkey (08), Timothy Teets (07), and Thomas Kramp (07) bowled at the Zebra Bar Bowl-a-Drome after the dance.



Past Queen Tiffany Herring escorts king candidate Mark Thompson before the King and Queen Dance.

Before the dance seniors Kathy Weller, Kayla Jones, Mallorie Krul and Justin Finch along with sophomore Tyler Evans share a moment at Birchwood Mall in front of the carrousel.

The 2006-2007 Homecoming Court: Jovonte Brenton, Danielle Herr, Charli Head, Davon Hawkins, Jessica Kindle, Mark Thompson, Jordan Gutierrez, Jonathan Blake, Erin Jones, Nicholas Jowett, Amanda Towns, Joshua Nichols, Karlie Livingston, Bailey Klein, Judith Dankenbring and Jasmine Ross.

In the Gym

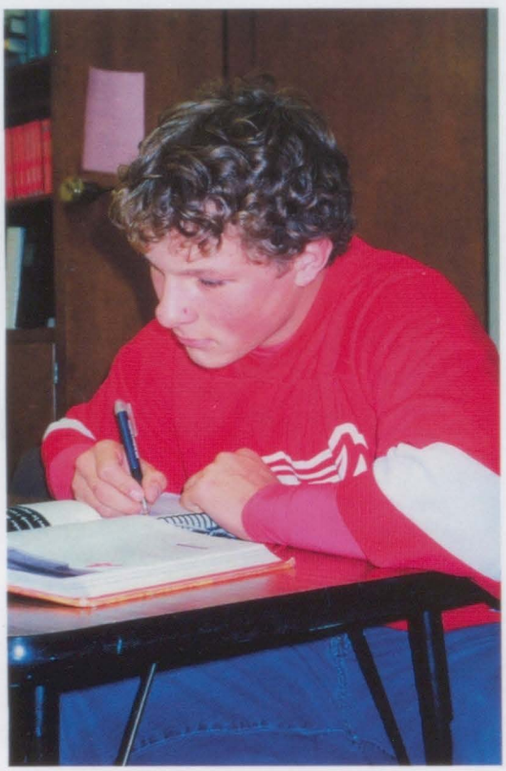
The Games Begin

Dressed in heavenly attire for the week, the ever popular Spirit Week started off with students sporting their university of choice on Monday. The halls instantly flashed with white clothing on Tuesday. On Wednesday students flew to classes on angelic wings instead of the usual walking. Hoping to persuade the sun to come out after a very rainy day on Wednesday students donned their favorite pair of sunglasses for Thursday. The classrooms flooded with students wearing hats and teachers wearing jeans, but like normal Fridays everyone was wearing red and white.

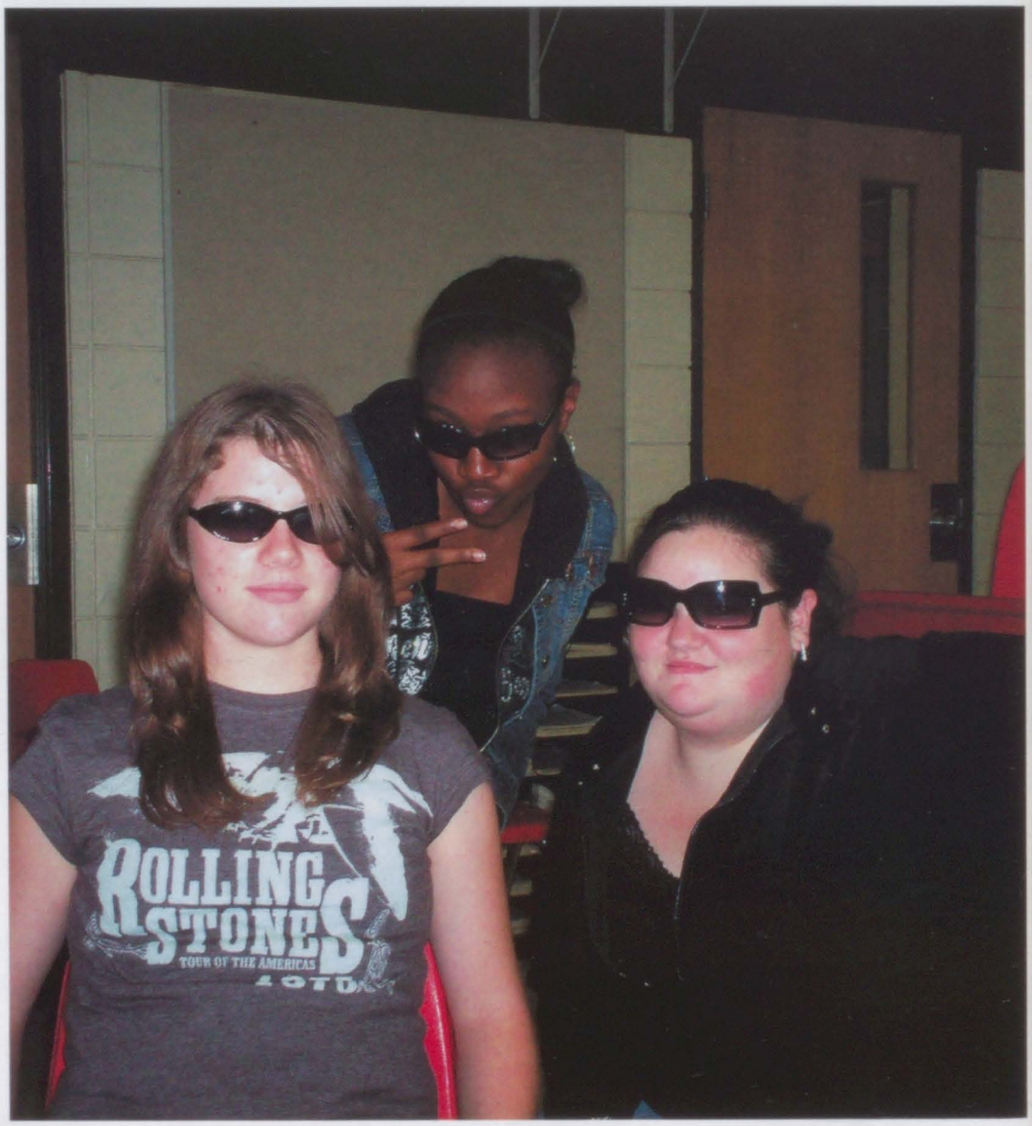
After shortened classes on Friday students assembled in the gym for the best part of Spirit Week the games assembly! This year the assembly consisted of heavenly games like the Angel Relay, the Halo Toss, the Three Legged Race, the Tug-A-War, the Hula Hoop Pass and the Limbo.

After lots of cheering from the staff and students, it was down to the Hula Hoop Pass which ended in a three way tie between the sophomores, juniors, and seniors, but after they tallied the final scores it was inevitable the sophomores took first place with the juniors in second, the seniors in third, and the freshmen taking fourth place.

Megan Morrison (08) stops in for a quick picture before heading down to the Games Assembly on Friday.



During Mrs. Zauner's fifth hour, Richard Mierendorff (10) was wearing Red Wings!



Jaime Raymond (10), Jillian Nichols (10) and Devin Smith (10) sport some cool shades on Thursday.

Seniors Christina Bantle and Mark Thompson try to re-tie the rope keeping them together after falling during the three legged race.

Dariyana Mitchell (08) tries not to fall or hit the bar during the Games Assembly.

Matthew Wilcox (09), Lindsay Henderson (09) and Joshua Campbell (09) showed their skills by winning tug-a-war against the freshmen.

Rachel Herr and RoseAnne Woodard created their own shirts to support the class of 2007.

Carlee Bennett (07) Ashley Morris (08) flash a smile in the hall between classes.

As Mr. Ken Semelsberger works, Agent Q (senior Cody Tippie) spies.

In and Out of School

Friendship Codes

In the crowded halls, students hefted the tools of the trade in backpacks. Carrying modern style walkie talkies, they text messaged each other the latest gossip faster than a satelite could pass the information. Each student was "up periscope" to hunt for friends, even though they faced the five minute rush to enter their classrooms punctually.

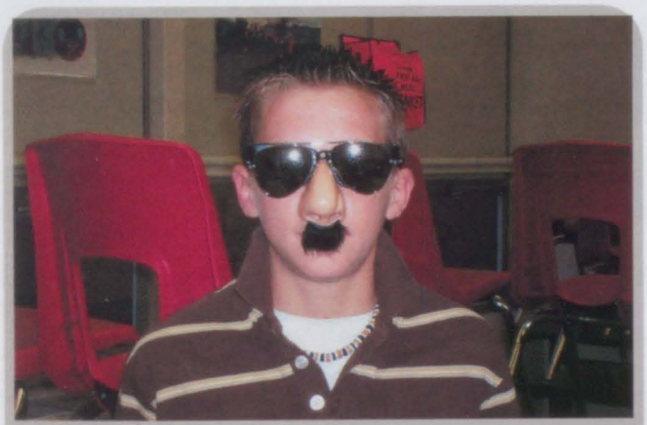
That short time between classes was well used every hour. Students perused faces for the familiar ones or listened intently for the voice with the recognizable pitch. They were all busy with socialization. With iPods and MP3's banned, the search for that friendly associate was more intense this year.

While peeking around corners, Agent "Q" could see immediately that these connections mattered. After further investigation, he found that these friendships offered both fun and support, helping individuals deal with peer pressure, home issues, romantic conflicts and school troubles.

For the fun in friendships, "Q" heard plans being made for lunch and after class activities. Experiences from other courses and groups were shared. According to sophomore Kyle Dyer, having friends meant "getting alone and having fun together." Taylor Krassa (09) said, "Friendship means having someone you can talk to easily, laugh at and with, share a list of inside jokes, and be so comfortable around that nothing you do is stupid."

Undeniably Agent "Q" cracked the friendship code to discover the necessity of belonging.

In the hallway, students gather for the annual pep assembly. As the BRMM marched first, Varsity Football players followed.



Spy-in-training, Freshmen Jeremy Fry disguised himself during Sunglasses Day.

Over the summer vaction, Ashley Clor (08), Amber Duncan (08), Katelyn Walker (08), Danielle Bezotle (Capac), Tayler Carpenter (07), Staci Hilliard (08), Margaret Walsh (06), and Katie Hestererg (06) all went to Italy.

Think Tank

Heading the Think Tank were all the leaders of the class of 2007 including the captains that led their teams to victory, the officers that organized each of the clubs, the class representatives to Student Council, the Steering Committee for the class, and of course, the class officers.

The senior officers spent the beginning of their final year making preparations for June 2007. They had their class vote on the class song, "Dream On" by Aerosmith; class flower, calla lily; class motto, and class colors, red and silver. They also worked to make money for the senior prom at Crystal Gardens in Marysville and other financial needs. Their fundraisers included a holiday sale of flowers, tootsie pops, and PHHS ornaments.

The senior class once again got into the holiday spirit by working at the Festival of Trees. The class designed a tree entitled "A Big Red Christmas," and they also spent time working at the festival.

The end of the year meant passing on the lighted torch of leadership to the incoming leaders of the class of 2008.

The Senior class took part not only as volunteer workers for the Festival of Trees, but also as designers. The class tree, "A Big Red Christmas" won a Judges Award, one of the highest awards given at the festival.

Taking a phone call, Jocelyn Ruck (07) works in the attendance office for her Co-op.

The class sold "student made" ornaments. Angelina Taylor (07) outlines the "PHHS" on the ornament.

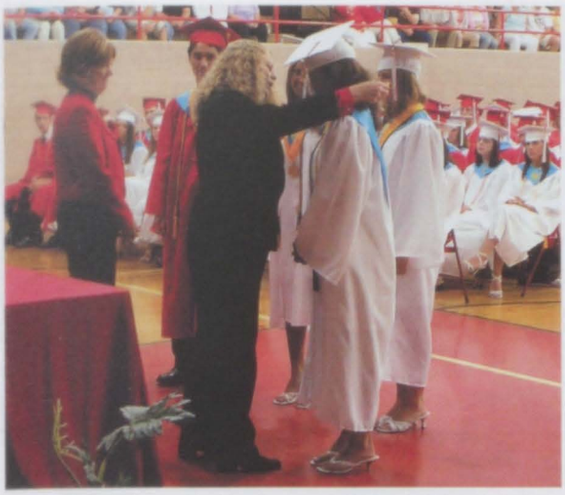
During a hectic day, science students take a break from the lesson in Mr. Juan Hernandez's room. Mr. Juan Hernanadez also sponsers the Bowling Club for Port Huron High and Marysville High.

It's Our Year; We're Outta Here!

Former School Board President Barb Daniels presents salutatorian Sarah Robinson and the valedictorians with a special medal for having an outstanding G.P.A.



Besides the typical school day, work, clubs, and sports, seniors have a series of special activities.

Early in the year seniors smiled that special smile for their senior pictures. Some chose to use the school photographer, while others opted to use a local professonal.

In record breaking numbers the class of 2007 deluged the yearbook staff with baby pictures to be published and the money to be used to help defray the cost of putting senior pictures in color. Students also turned in activity sheets to highlight their four years of accomplishments.

A couple of weeks later seniors grouped together to take the 007 class picture at Memorial Field.

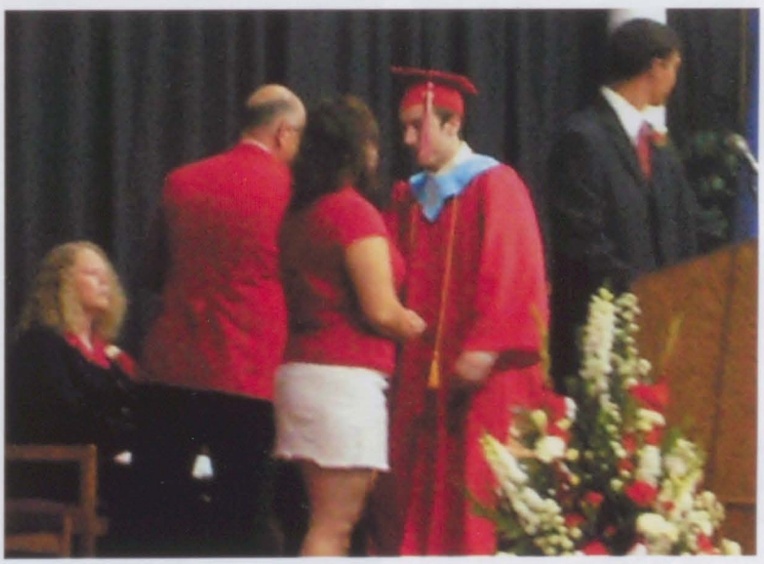
About mid-year students were measured for caps and gowns. At the same time they could order graduation anouncments and class rings in various styles.

As the year came to a close the seniors prepared for an elegant evening at Crystal Gardens in Marysville for senior prom. With the whole school present, seniors marched into the gymnasim for the seinor assembly. Awards and scholarships were presented.

The final two events for the seniors were commencement, which was held in the McMorran Arena and the All Night Party where seniors won prizes, played laser tag, sumo wrestled, and watched their friends be hypnotized.

The class of 2006, led by Chad Fleming, Brianna Chapman, Ashley Bowden and Tiffany Hering, enter the Senior Assembly.

Katelyn Hunger (06) keeps the tradition alive by being the selected interpreter for the National Anthem and the class song "Here's to the Night" by Eve 6.



Adam Mollan (06) shakes hands with Mr. Ron Wollen as he is presented with one of the three Blackwell scholarships which are given to seniors every year.

New Places
New Faces

Would you take the chance of going to school in a different country?

The foreign exchange students Jens Wesselmann (07), Anna Brinkmann (07), Carina Karpf (07) from Germany and Nikolay Gadzhaev (07) from Russia, took that chance.

"The biggest challenge coming to the U.S. was to leave my family behind me for one year and stay with a host family," said Carina Karpf (07).

According to Jens, "My favorite moment was during the sports assembly in the gym after Coach Reno anounced my name because after that I got the biggest cheer. I really didn't expect that."

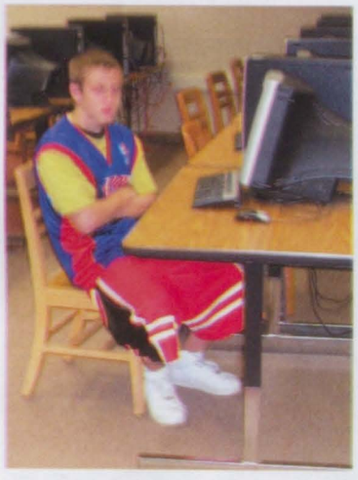
Anna Brinkmann (07) really noticed the differences in schools, since her's in Germany is larger and goes to the thirteenth grade. They are with the same students at the same grade level all day long.

On the Millennium Force, traveling at a speed of 93mph, Carina Karpf (07) holds on tight at Cedar Point.

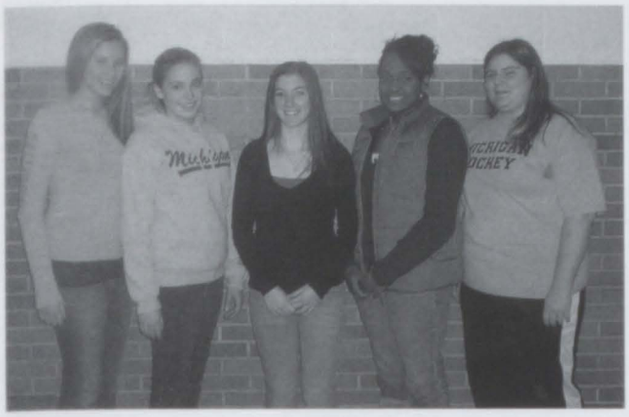
Forward Jens Wesselmann (07), who recently recovered from an injury, jogs down the field in the game against Northern.

Foreign exchange students were Nikolay Gadzhaev (07), Anna Brinkmann (07), Carina Karpf (07), and Jens

During his fourth hour class as a Media Center aid for Mr. Jeff McCabe, Nickolay Gadzhaev (07) surfs the web.



Going Above and Beyond!



Class officers for the class of 2008

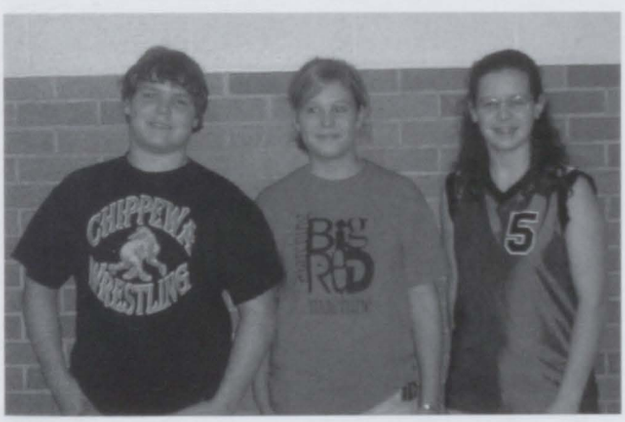
Helping lead others since 2004.

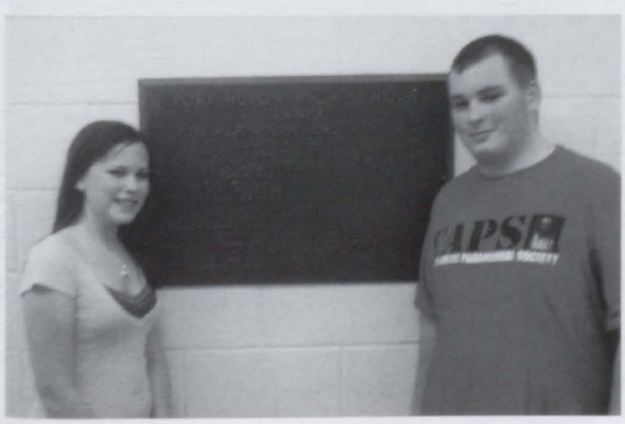
Co-Presidents Tiara Forsyth and Karlie Livingston, Vice President Abbey Bates, Secretary Melissa Bailey, Treasurer Jessica Kindle, and Historian Shawna DeRosia. Led by Mr. David Kleinstiver, these students worked in and out of school to contribute to the junior class of 2007. A lot of time goes into keeping the class affairs under control. The planning of the building of the class float was probably one of the best known events that the class officers dealt with. Throughout the year the officers, along with their advisor, control the "ins and outs" of the class of 2008.

Class officers for the class of 2009

They go above and beyond for their school.

President Maurice Livingston, Vice President Kira Letzgus, Secretary Rebecka Fugate, and Treasurer Rachelle Kelly along with the guidance of Mrs. Laura Mitchel worked hard this past year. All their fundraising and organizing paid off in the long run. Showing their pride in and out of the school halls, these students worked throughout the week and sometimes on weekends as well. The weekend before homecoming, these students along with some classmates created the float on time. "Being a class officer is not only fun, but it's also very rewarding," said Rebecka Fugate (09).





Class officers for the class of 2010

Building up the spirit of the freshman class.

Vice President Colby Alexis and Secretary Shelby Chisiom, followed by Historian Kristen Langolf make up part of the freshman leadership team. Photo two shows President Natalie Sullivan and Treasurer Jason Hoogerhyde are the other two freshman class officers.

This group of five individuals chose fundraisers and helped earn money for their class throughout the year. Building the class float was the major project they had to oversee in October to foster class spirit as they competed against the upperclassmen. Being directed by Ms. Betty Meyer, the freshman class officers were given the chance to see how much work it takes to organize class events and get freshmen actively involved in creating and shouting their chant at pep assemblies, joining contests during Spirit Week and Spring Spectacular to show that they are proud to be part of the Big Red family.

Food + Friends =

Lunch Time

"A." "B." "C." Grades? No, Lunch periods! Despite the rush to get a spot in line or to find a seat, lunch is obviously a favorite time of the day; it was great for hushing the growling stomach, providing renewed energy, and even leaving a few spare moments for socializing.

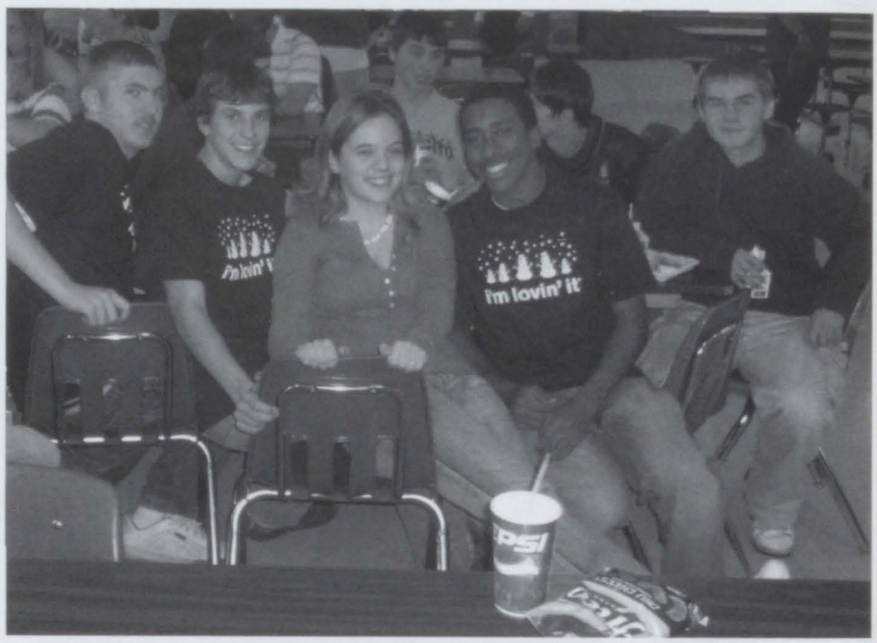
The buzz of human voices would be heard down the halls as all the latest gossip and stories were shared.

Big Reds used their time to finish up on homework, so there would be more time at home. Some used the time to chat on their phones with loved ones no longer in school. Others used it to get work in another class that they may have missed. "A" Lunch is the time when the T.E.C. students return or leave on the bus.

"Lunch time is when I get to eat, and get ready for the second half of my day. I also get to talk to friends I may not have in my classes," said Stacy Bolman (08).

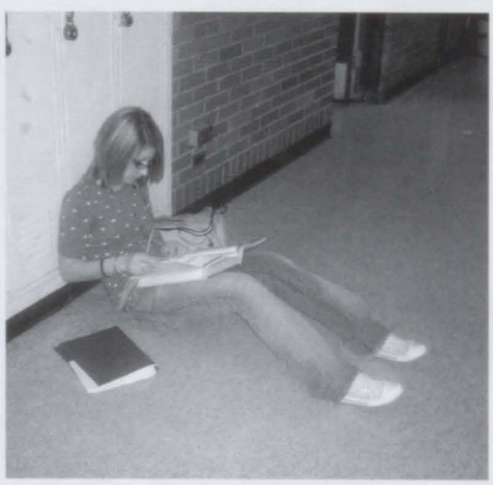
Christopher Cotton (08), Tara Sasu (08), Garrett Gardner (09), and Steven Erwin (09) celebrate Sarah Johnson's (08) birthday in the lunch line the last day before the Thanksgiving break.

Juniors, Stephen Guindon, Tod Johnston, Brenna Clark (Furness), Travis Washington, and Richard Jock display that lunch time may be, of course, for the food, but socializing comes along with the break.



Students are able to work in the school store during their fourth hour to receive four credits. Colton Perugia (07) waits on Kassandra Russell (08) and Jennifer Westley (08) during "C" Lunch.

Socializing as most teenagers do, Tara Helton (08) and Danielle Eagle (08) sit on the benches as Sady Perry (08) snacks in the hall during their lunch.



Trying to get homework done early, Brittany Kamicka (08) works on her Algebra homework in the hallway during her lunch.

Some students have the opportunity to get fast food before returning to school. Juniors Ashley Morris and Elizabeth Hartman share McDonalds.

New Teachers

Bring Energy

New faces, techniques and energy, came with the addition of teachers and student teachers.

Mrs. Deborah Palazzolo came here to "teach, innovate, and scaffold young minds."

Mr. Carl Mueller said he wanted to "use his gifts in a way that would help young people develop their gifts."

For student teacher Mr. Derek Burger it was all about how he "loves school and learning."

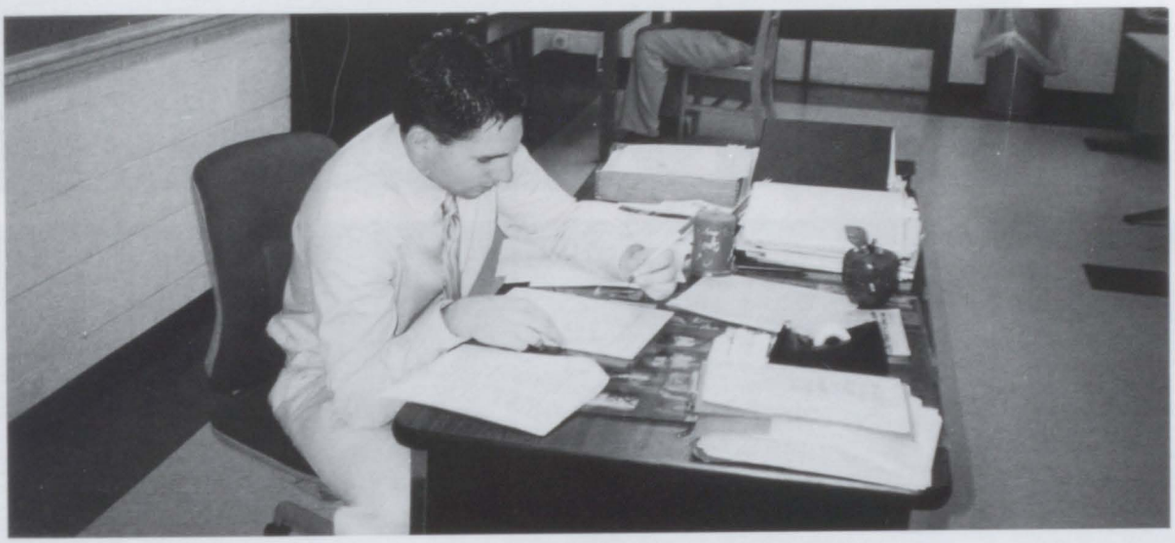
Four new teachers to the building, Mr. Carl Mueller, Mr. Kevin Moran, Mrs. Deborah Palazzolo, and Ms. Linda Maurey agreed that the hardest thing they had to get used to was the early start time. Two of the four came here from middle schools, so they weren't used to the early alarm, and the other two were new and "couldn't even remember the last time they had to wake up that early."

Mr. Derek Burger and Ms. Brandy Wambold said that their favorite experiences at PHHS were "getting to know a very diverse student body and getting to know the staff."

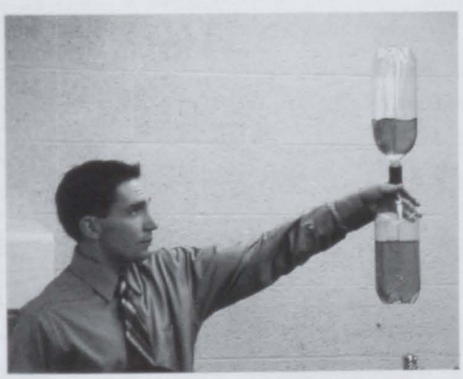
There were a total of seven student teachers in our buildng for first semester, and they said a few of their teacher duties included "lesson planning, grading, managing a classroom, buildng relationships with the students and staff, and of course, teaching."

"There is not a single day to do everything that I want," said Mr. Joseph Gagnon about his duties as a student teacher.

Teachers come here because they have a passion for teaching young people and preparing their lives for their future. Teachers don't come here to deal with teenage drama, but it's often part of their job. What they really come here to do is teach and maybe throw in some fun on the way.

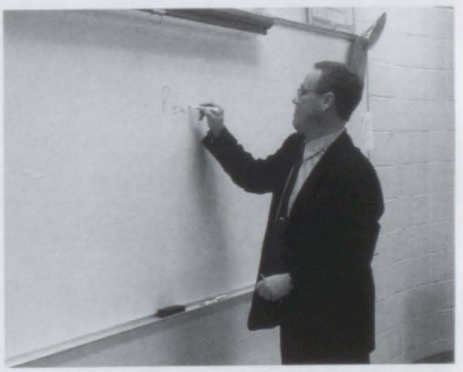


As a student teacher, part of Mr. Derek Burger's job is to grade student's papers.



Student teacher Mr. Derek Burger is teaching one of his classes about liquid pressure.

Ms. Bonnie Kalmar is teaching her 10th grade Language Arts class.



Mr. Carl Mueller is teaching one of his American Literature classes.

MR. KENNETH SEMELSBERGER

Starting his career as a coach and teacher, Mr. Kenneth Semelsberger began a life-long adventure, working for nine years at Servite High School in the Detroit area.

Mr. Kenneth Semelsberger first came to Port Huron High School as a Physical Education and Science teacher in 1978 and continued in that position until 1983.

In the 1983 school year, he moved into the role of Athletic Director where he was in charge of all the sporting events, coaches, students' physicals, referees, and other details to help the athletic seasons run smoothly at PHHS.

During the year of 1985, Mr. Semelsberger was promoted to Assistant Principal, while still keeping the Atheletic Director position. He remained Assistant Principal and Atheltic Director for the next eleven years, earning the Michigan Athletic Director of the Year Award, and was runner up for the national award.

During the summer of 2006, Mr. Semelsberger was named acting principal, to fill in for Mr. Ron Wollen for the 2006-2007 school year.

Mr. Semelsberger's most favorite things about being Port Huron High's principal this year included, the freedom to go into classrooms, meet with students one on one, attend all the activities, concerts, plays, sports games, and such. "It's tough without Mr. Wollen, but I'm just trying to get my feet wet, and do the best that I can, with a lot of support from fellow staff members and faculty."

With Mr. Semelesberger taking a short leave of absence early in the school year, Ms. Janet Barrett stepped up as acting principal. Mr. Eddie Kindle took Ms. Barrett's Assistant Principal position. "While the leave of absence was rough, it was handled well," said Mr. Semelsberger.

With 28 years at PHHS, Mr. Semelsberger truly is a Big Red.

Ms. Marla Philpot

Transfering from Port Huron Northern High School after three years, Ms. Marla Philpot showed Port Huron High some changes. "I may have different philosophies, but PH is learning how I work," she said.

Starting in Ann Arbor, teaching for three years, Ms. Philpot began her career. Then, moving to the Detroit Area School District for eight years, she taught as an English and Social Studies teacher. Port Huron Area School District is the third district Ms. Philpot has worked in.

"My favorite part of this school is the kids, they are wonderful, and they remind me of my teaching years. The students are very pleasant and generally polite, I just really like them," said Ms. Philpot.

To Ms. Philpot, the staff is different than any she has ever worked with before, she said, "Some appreciate me, and some haven't gotten to know me yet, it all takes time."

Ms. Philpot took the position Mr. Dennis held last year where he moved to the Athletic Director position vacated by Mr. Kenneth Semelsberger who moved up to the prinicipal spot.

Floating Through the Sky

"It was hard and challenging but worth the time," said Alex Hammond (10) regarding the Freshmen float building.

The Seniors took first place with their float "Angels in the In-Zone." The football player perched on the base of the float wore a Port Huron High uniform with angel wings. It definitely matched the theme "Heaven on Earth." The float was built at Arctic Glacier Ice on Yager Street.

The Juniors took second place with their float "A Piece of Heaven," a model of Memorial Stadium. Posted on the side was the slogan "Shame the Shamrocks." The float was built at a warehouse in Marysville.

The Freshmen created the third place float. It was built with chicken wire and white plastic. Three angels stood atop the float while the slogan "Spread Your Wings and Fly" was written across the back. "It was hard because we had to cut and make sure everything was the right measurements," said Kellie Taylor (10). Many of the builders spent four or more hours a day working on it. The float was built at Kellie Taylor's house on Jollett Street.

The Sophomores creation took fourth place. They had no place to build their float, then Rachelle Kelly (09) volunteered to have it built on her property. They worked hard to build it by the deadline, since they only had one week to complete it. The model of the school was decorated with red, brown, orange, and yellow bricks and a front yard. Their slogan "Come to the Light" could be seen across the side of their float. Mrs. Laura Mitchell, the advisor, said, "I helped the students figure out how to take their ideas from paper to reality." Later, the sophomore float was disqualified.

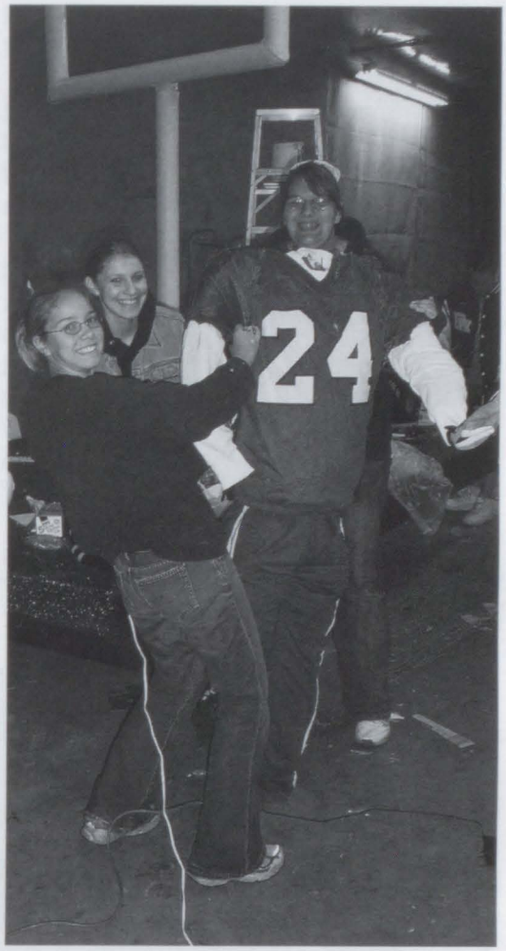
To get the senior float finished, Haley Genaw (07) and Amber Hunter (07) paint cardboard jerseys red.

Concentrating, Jocelyn Ruck (07) and Kayla Jones (07) work on a football jersey for the senior float.

Caleesha Nutt (10) and Alexis Klebba (10) are getting ready to cut plastic strips for the bottom of their float.

With two cardboard pipes on his feet, William Rock (07) and Tyler Osburn (07) take a break from float building.

Natalie Sullivan (10), Ashley Gracy (10), Cheyanne Bowser (10), and Donni Albert (10) apply batting.



Kayla Jones (07), Mallorie Krul (07), and Jocelyn Ruck (07) add the finishing touches to the football player.

The sophomore float, "Come to the Light" moves to the judging line almost complete. The Sophomores add the balloons as a final touch as the judges approached.

The last to arrive, the junior float takes its place for judging.

A Break from the Books

Vacation was a time to kick back and relax, whether they visited relatives, went some place new, or just stayed at home.

Spring break was a chance to get away from the dreary winter and head south for a bit of fun in the sun. "Florida is my favorite place to go; the beaches are beautiful and the weather is great," said Carly Sansone (10).

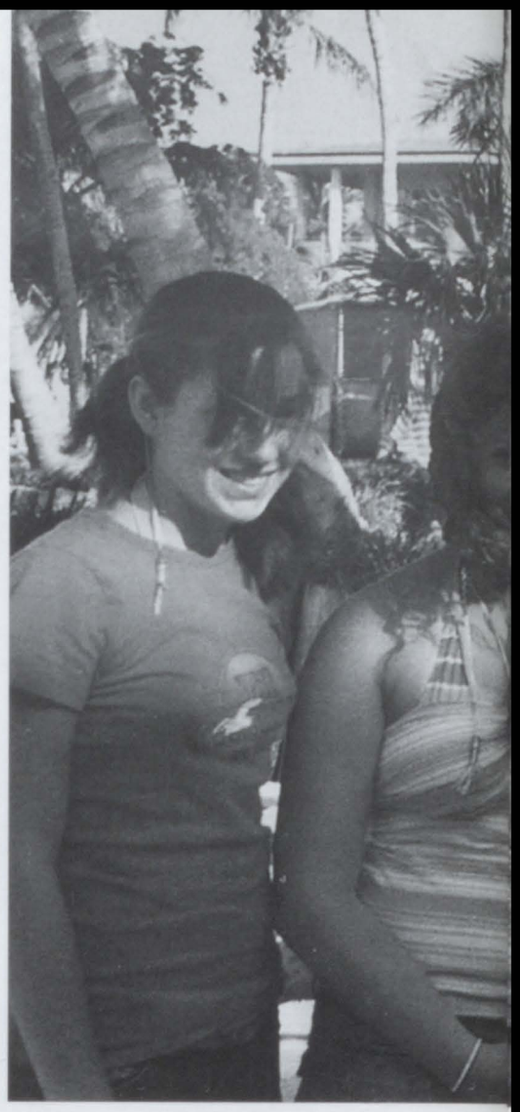
Spring break hot spots included Myrtle Beach, South Carolina and Daytona Beach, Florida; other students headed to state and national capitals, and the west coast to visit California. "Visiting the nation's capital was an amazing experience, actually getting to explore the White House and the monuments was something I'll never forget," said Elizabeth Burgess (08).

The most anticipated break was summer break! This year, summer was extra long because the school year started after Labor Day.

During the summer students stayed up late, went camping with friends, and did not have to worry about the day to day stress of the academic lifestyle.

Big Reds traveled to many different countries, too! Some of the most visited countries were France, Italy, England, Switzerland and Germany. "This past summer I went on an excursion across Europe; I met some really cool people from Oregon and Tennessee and saw things I never thought I would," stated Amber Duncan (08).

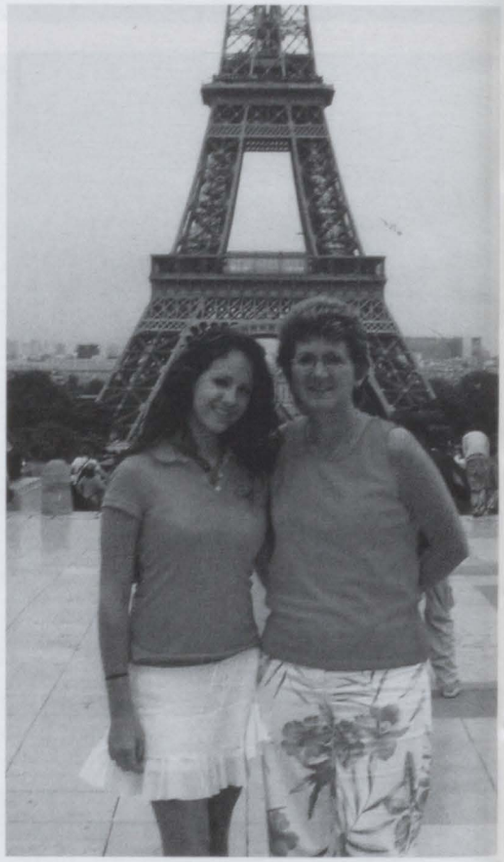
Those who were unable to travel far were mostly likely spotted sun bathing and swimming at the beach, playing sports with friends, or enjoying camp grounds and camp fires with family and friends.



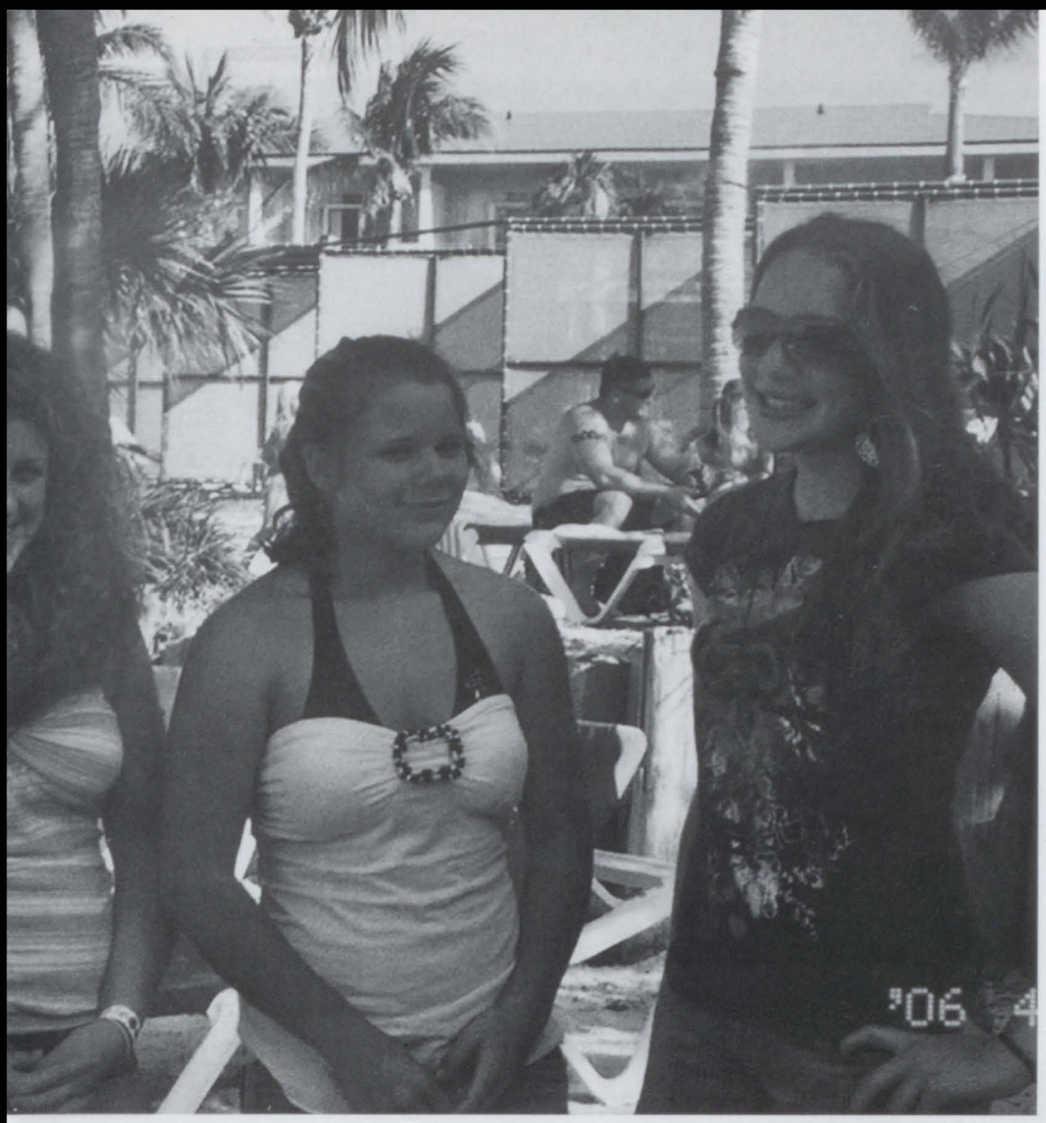
Juniors Sydney Secory, Stacey O'Neill, Kristin Baker, and Samantha Secory check out the night life in Florida.

Alexandra Lindauer (08) and former foreign exchange student Fabienne Meier (06) have fun in Chicago.

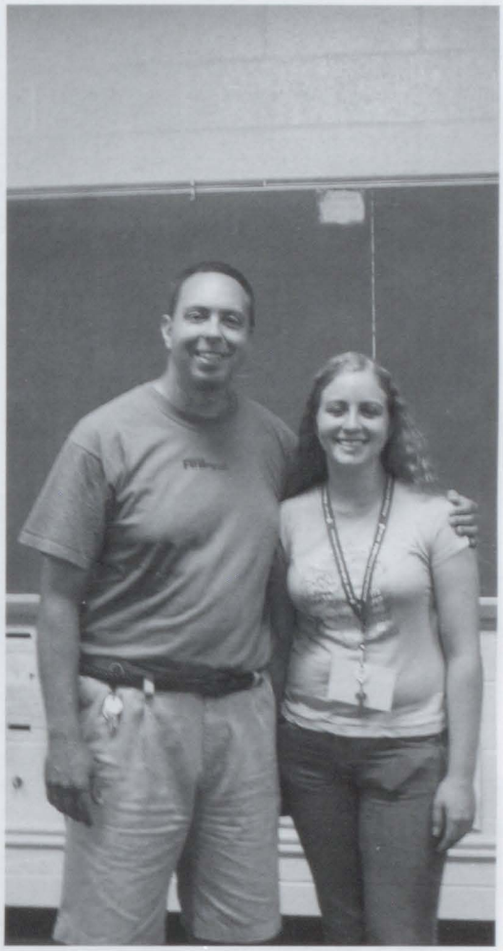
Celebrating Christmas Amber Hunter (07), Tiffany Hunter (07) and Michelle Mallon (07) show off their gifts.



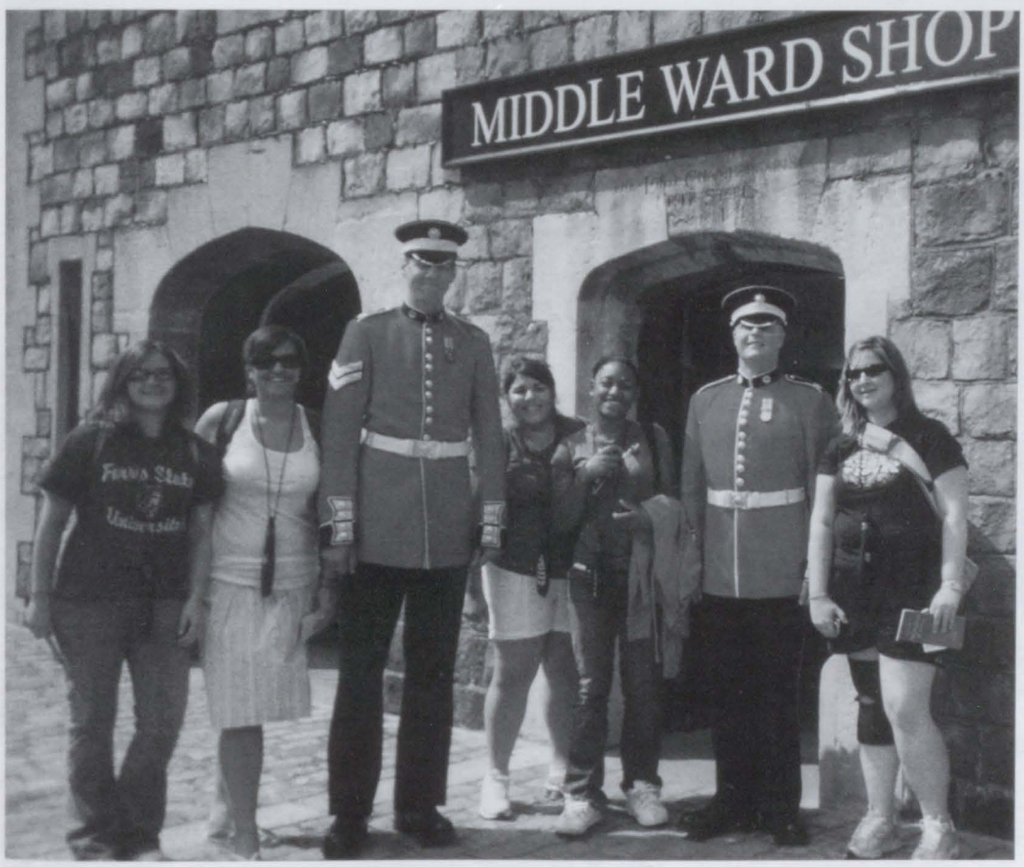
In front of the Eiffle Tower Ashley Clor (08) and her mom enjoy their time in Paris.



Krystal Draveling (10), Courtney Draveling (08), Carly Sansone (10), and Meghan Watson (08) are in Key West.



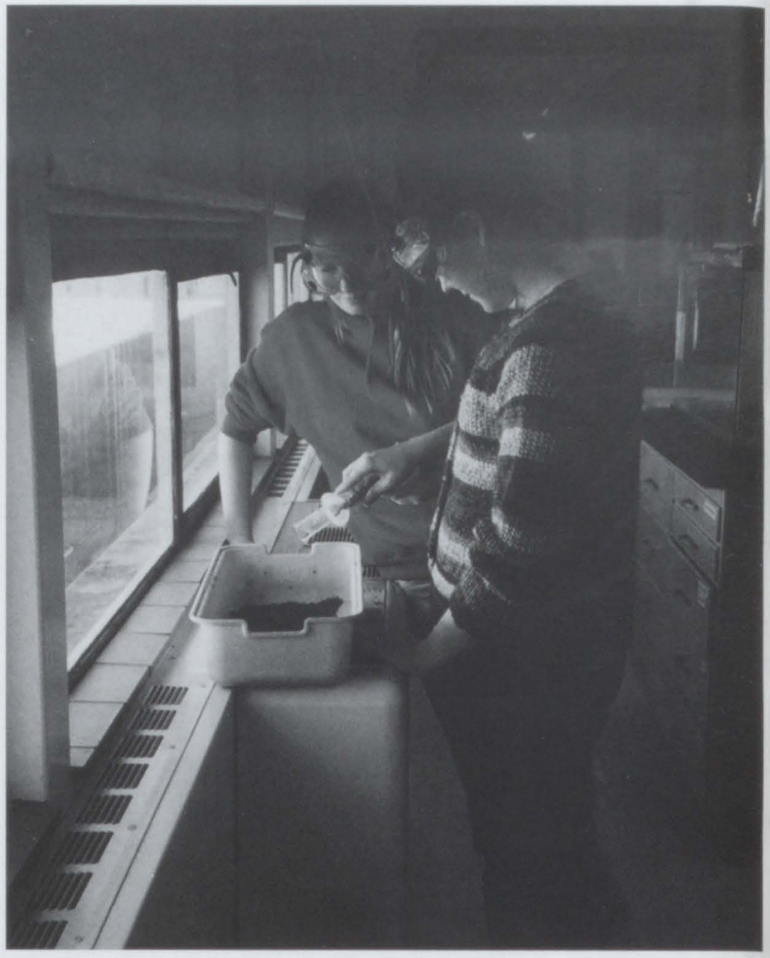
Senior Angelina Taylor learned how to use Adobe InDesign CS2 from Herff Jones Rep. Tony Noto at MSU.



Danielle Bezotte from Sandusky, Katelyn Walker (08), Amber Duncan (08), Staci Hilliard (08), and Tayler Carpenter (07) stand with the guards outside Windsor Castle in England.

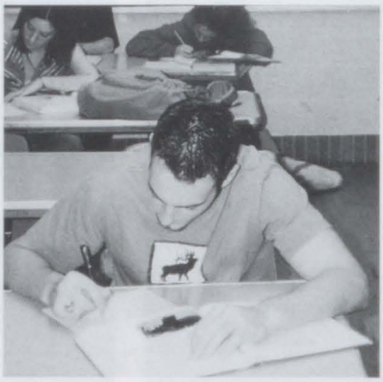
Riding a zip line, Jack Garrettson (08) spends time with his family in Mexico.

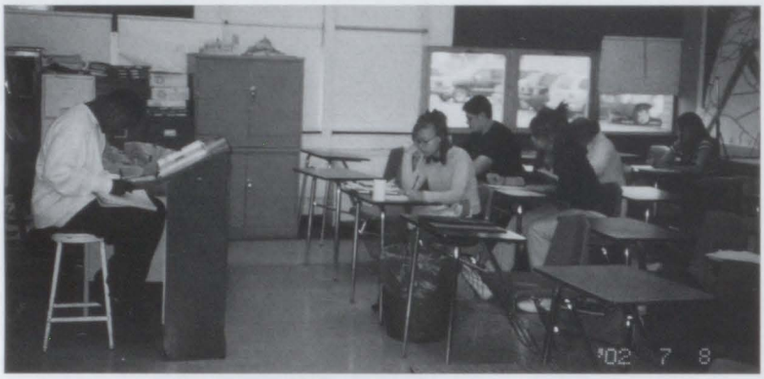
Sara McDaniel (08) and McKenzie Bade (07) empty the graduated cylinder.



Steven Hamilton (08) works on drawing his cell diagrams.

Taking notes, Nolan McIntyre (07) finishes up his study guide.





Dionte Worthem (08) checks his answers on the French worksheet, while the rest of the third hour French class finish up their worksheets.

Along with Socializing
Academic Scope

Within the academic walls, the true business of the day began at the ringing of the bell. Their mission was to learn something new each hour. Their job was to commit knowledge to memory for future use with the help of their own cryptic messages in notebooks and research on various subjects.

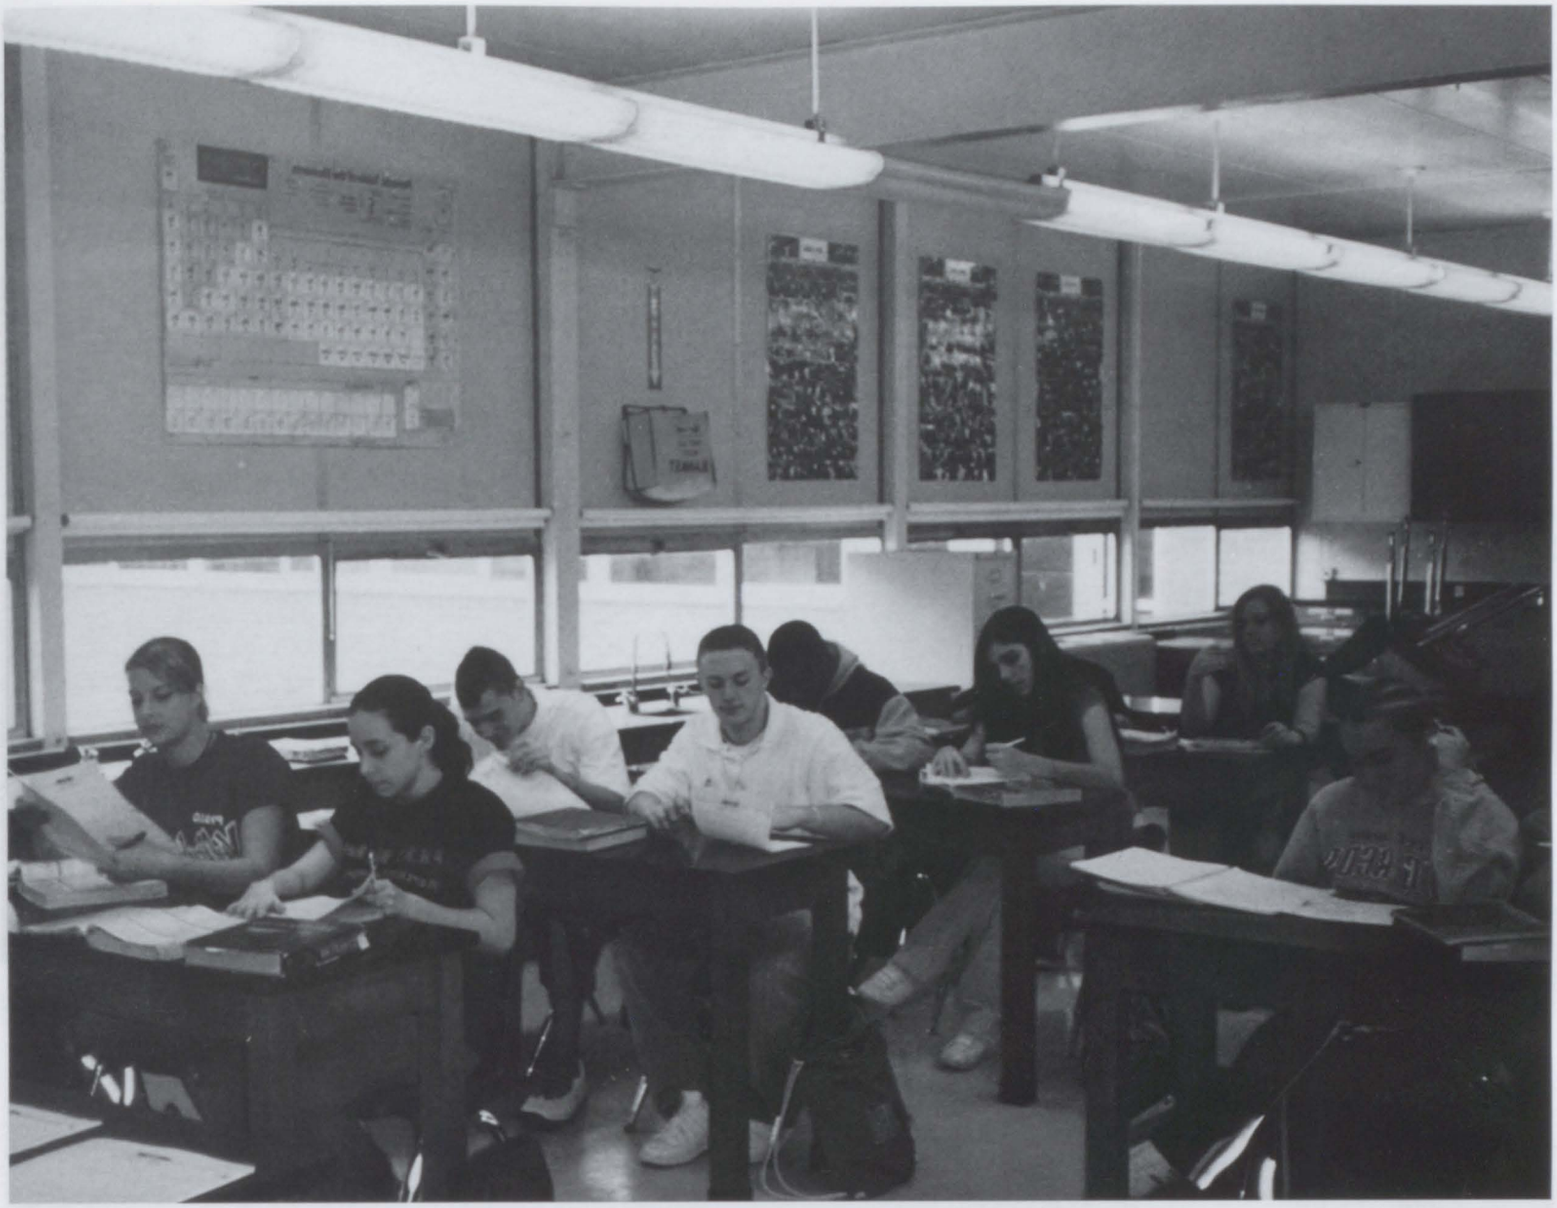
After observing the professionals, student agents working in the field stored top secret information that could be used later to create individual projects or to pass tests successfully.

In the labs, they used the clues from their hypothesis to experience for themselves the outcome of the experiment.

Adding up the latest clues, they geometrically learned that algebraic equations might be of aid in the future. Then, the alarm went off, signaling time to move to the next rendezvous.

While Agent "Q" was on the lookout, he found that students who hung out with others earning acceptable grades, normally kept themselves out of trouble with the administrators. This led him to believe that there must be some sort of a connection. And so the observation stage continued. He noticed that the students who did class work and homework, normally picked up exam clues. On the other hand, the students who did not bother, did not have much to hope for when tests or report cards came around.

After making these observations, Agent "Q's" academic scope proved that work led to learning.



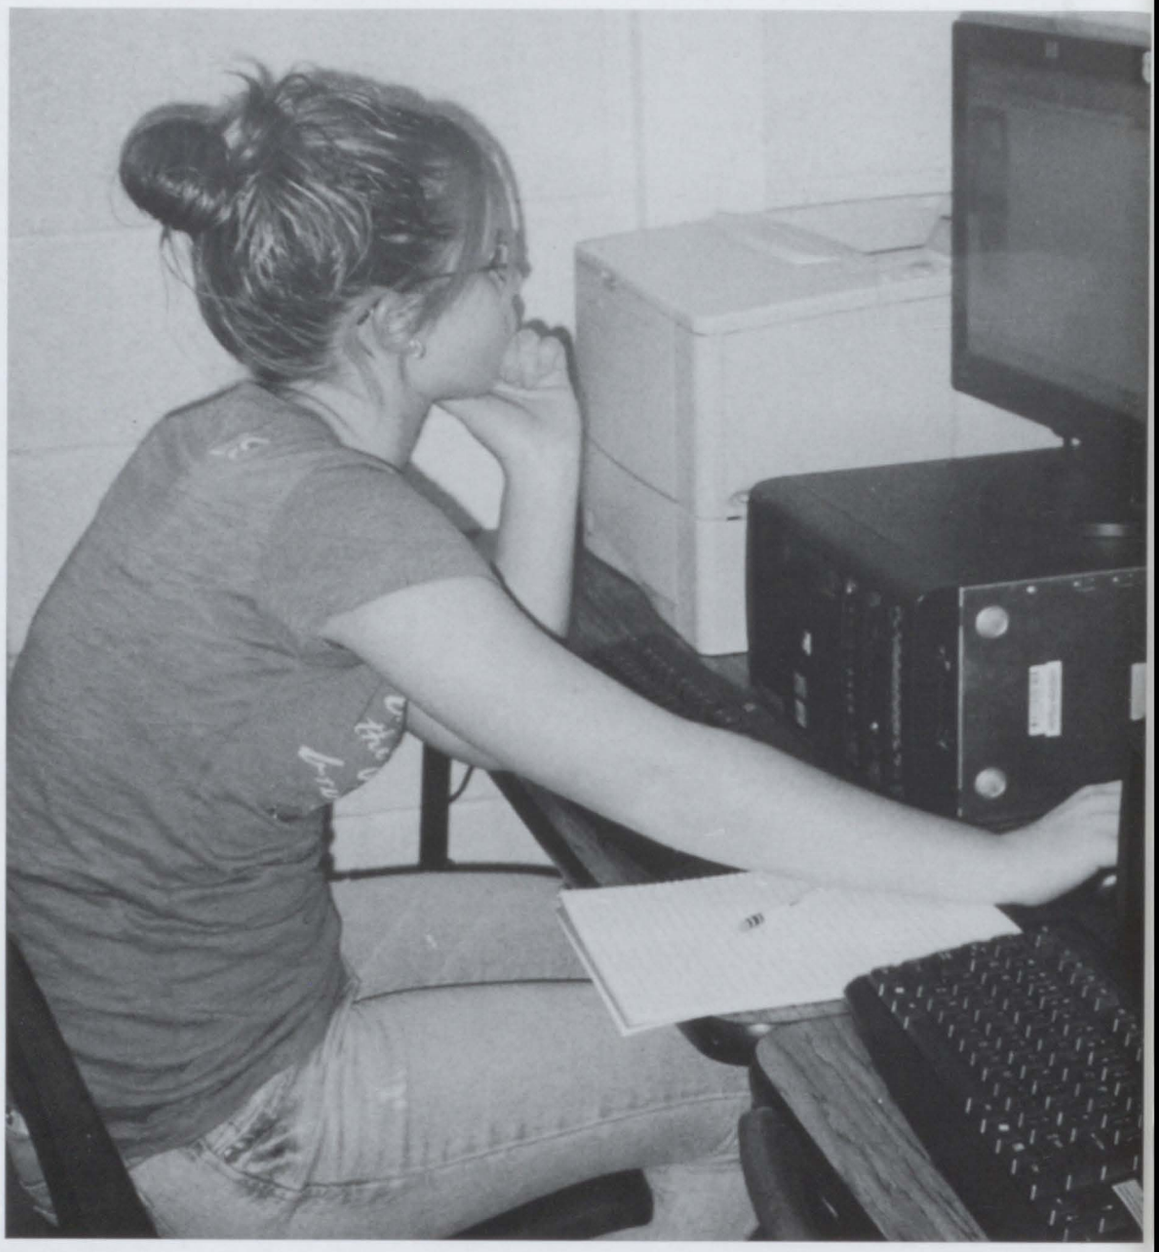
Working on the yearbook theme, Jessica Koehn (09) recalls the game displayed on her screen.

Second hour Chemistry class listens as Mr. Robert Weiss gives instructions on the worksheets.

Students in Ms. Denise McCaffrey's second hour Advance Composition/ Research Techniques work in groups discussing topics for a personal essay.

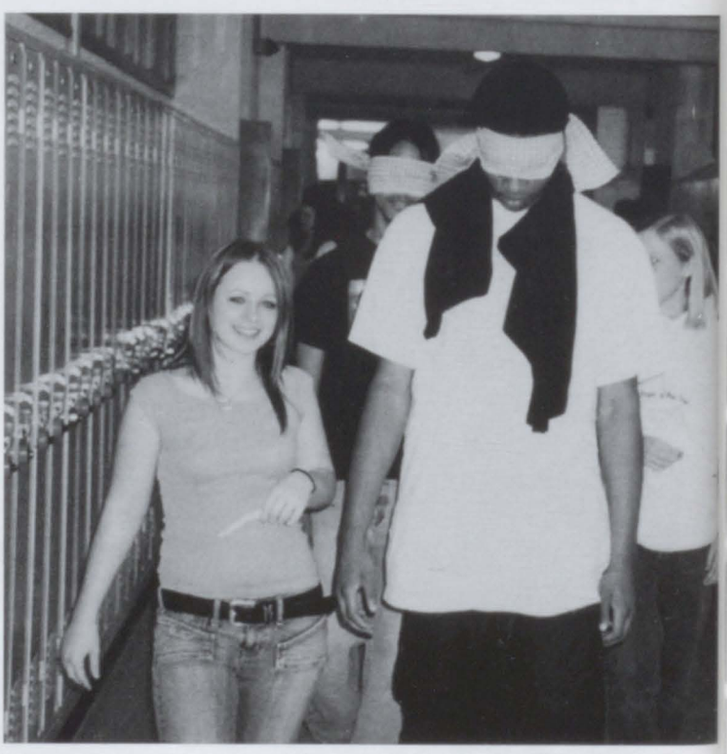
Lisa Kendrick (09) looks closely under the microscope to see what is crawling around in the dirty ditch water in Mrs. Pat Panzer's class.

Desserray Whitcomb (10) shows off her handy work while presenting her Thirteenth labor of Hercules in Mrs. Mary Jane Zauner's literature class.

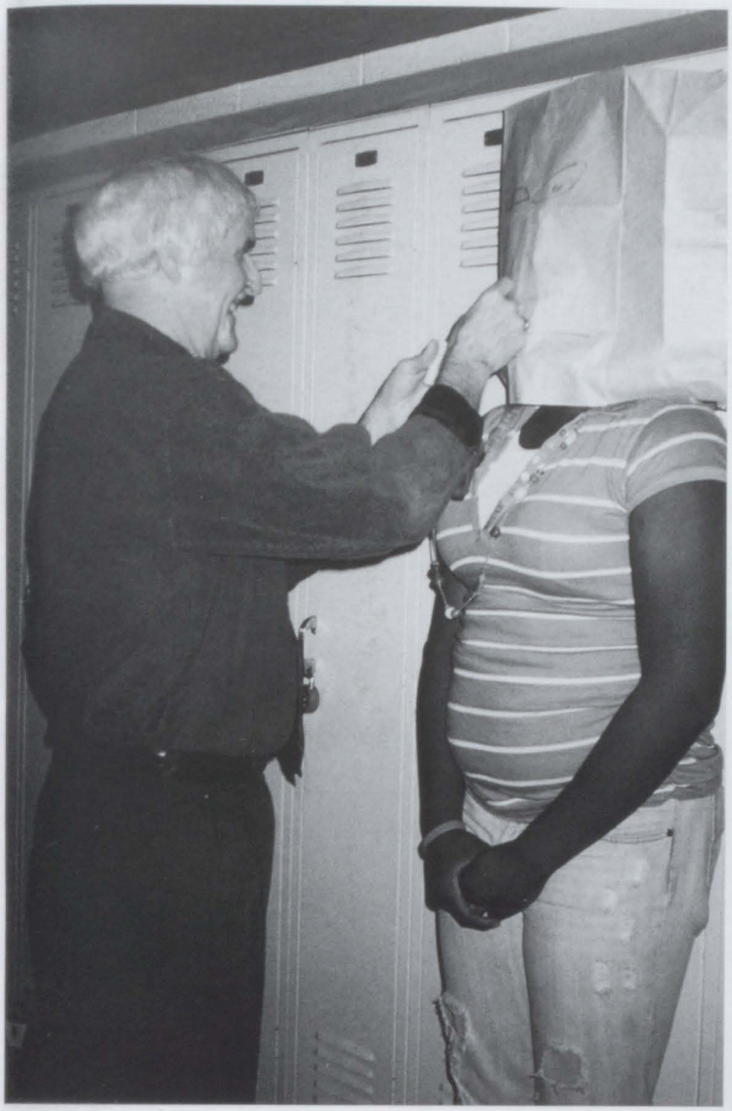


Alexis Klebba (10) looks up information on her favorite president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, the president during the Great Depression.

In psychology Robert Banks (06) tests his trust with Jenna Stuphen (06) as she guides him down the hall blindfolded.



Mr. Rock Stevens puts a blindfold-bag over Norianna Brown (07) so she can participate in the taste test that he does every year with his students.



STUDENTS LEARN

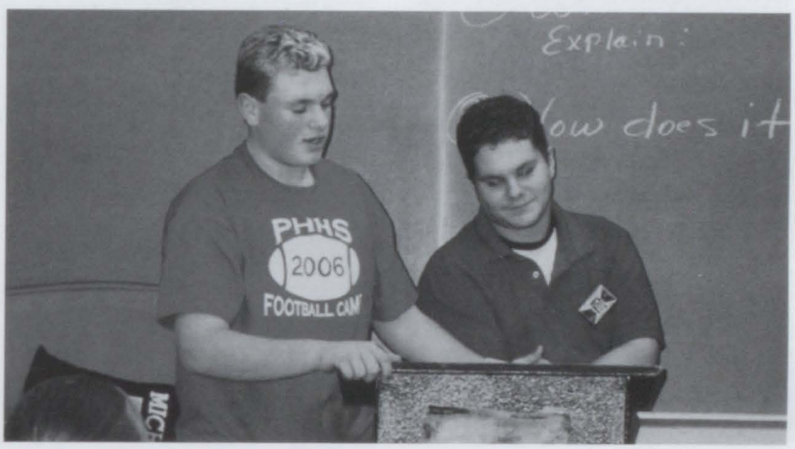
CREATING PROJECTS & PRESENTATIONS

To really remember info, students learned they had to do it themselves. Projects and presentations gave them that chance.

"It's probably the most stressful thing I have to do in class," said Lisa Kendrick (09), echoing the sentiments of students who hated being the center of attention.

Others however, could hardly wait for the opportunity.

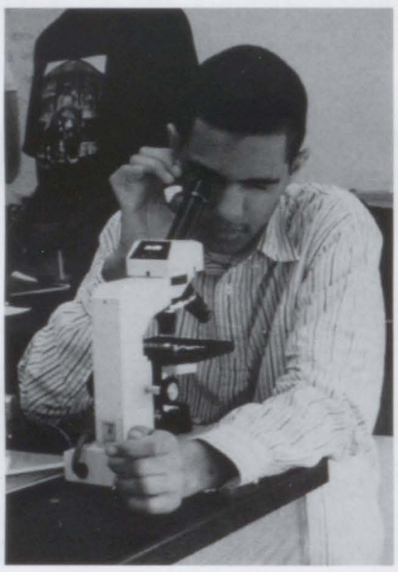
Weekly many Civics students were required to present their current events out loud in class. Other teachers assigned all sorts of projects just to let the students have a little fun. "Projects are a good way to get to know other students and all your teachers," said Megan Gilbert (09).



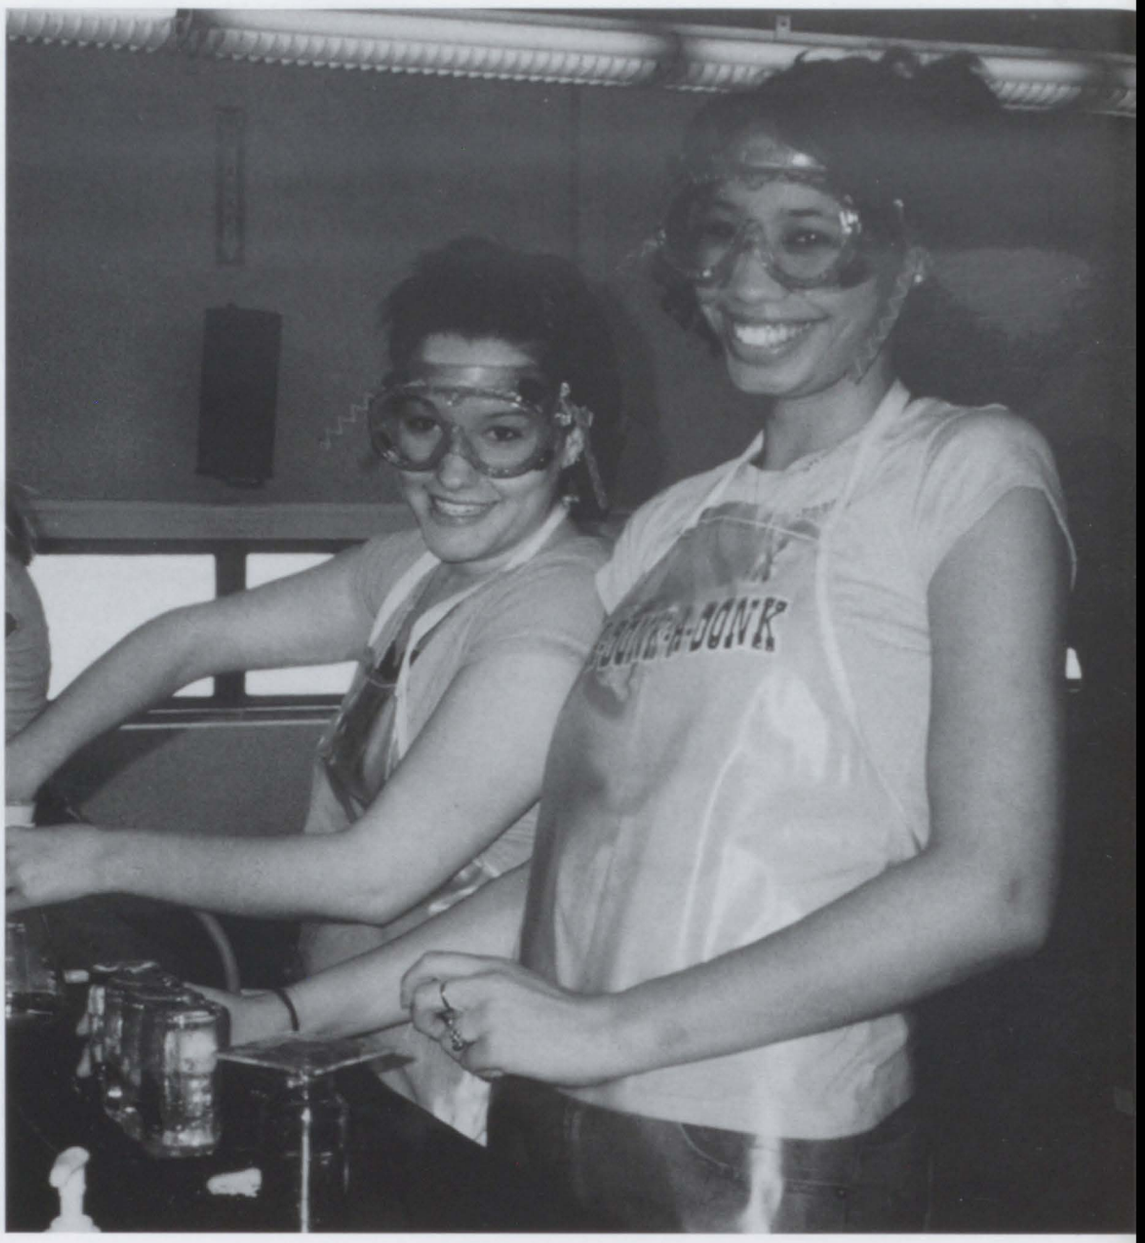
Eric Ganhs (10) and Kristopher Meadows (10) read their current events out loud to the class in Mrs. Andrea Wansedel's Class.

Falon Noble (09), Alissa Toton (09), Jonathan Zweng (09), Kierstin Dewitt (09), Anthony Pelzer (09), and Krystal Pack (09) show their masks done in the Shakespeare Unit for Mrs. Mary Jane Zauner's class.

Mr. Robert Weiss explains to his chemistry class how to do a lab correctly.

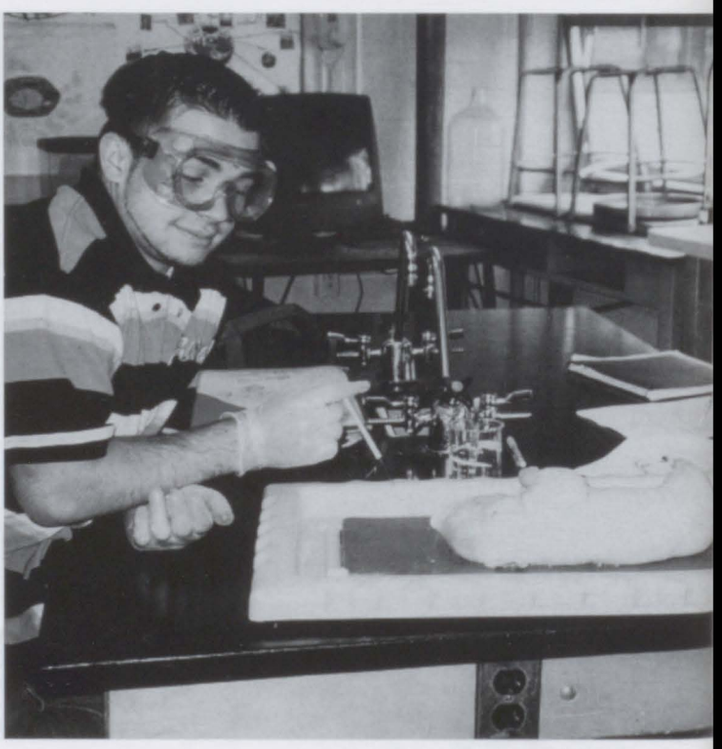


Broderick Crews (07) carefully looks through the microscope to identify a substance.

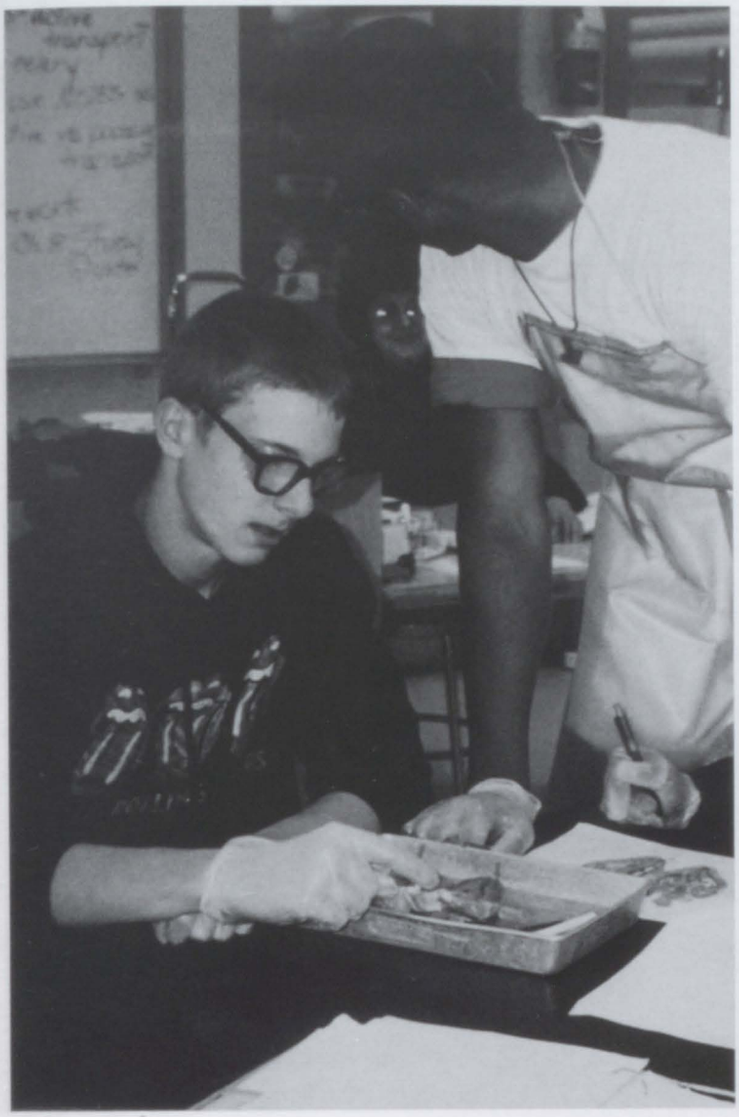


Before beginning a lab, Brittany Gibson (08) and Erin Jones (07) fill their beakers with the right amount of liquids.

In Mrs. Pat Panzer's anatomy class, Jonathan Blake (07) examines a pig before dissection.



Jason Peart (07) and Revon Jones (07) dissect a heart in Mrs. Pat Panzer's anatomy class.



It's Highly Experimental!

"All of the labs that we do are pretty fun because we get to play with fire!" Kylie Anger (09).

Experiments aren't just about playing with fire or dissecting animals; some take trust from a neighbor as students work with lab partners.

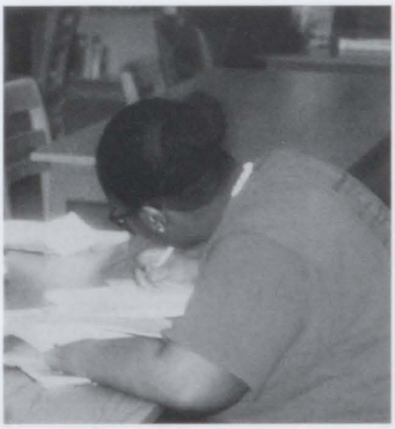
"A great experiment was the acid test, which is based on how much lemon flavor is in pop. The pH ranges from 0-14 with low levels measuring acid and high levels showing base," said Adrian Hayes (09).

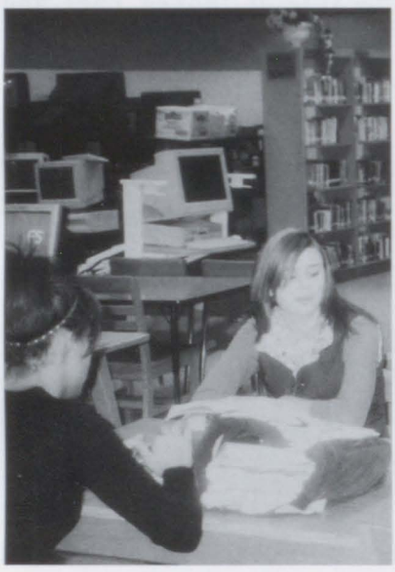
"My favorite experiment was in AP Chemistry when we made our thumbs glow in the dark. We were learning about chemical properties. It was enjoyable because it looked cool and was something we could take home to show to our family," said senior Glenn Richards.

Holly Gross (06) and Elizabeth Perkins (07) are waiting for the okay to start dissecting their pig.

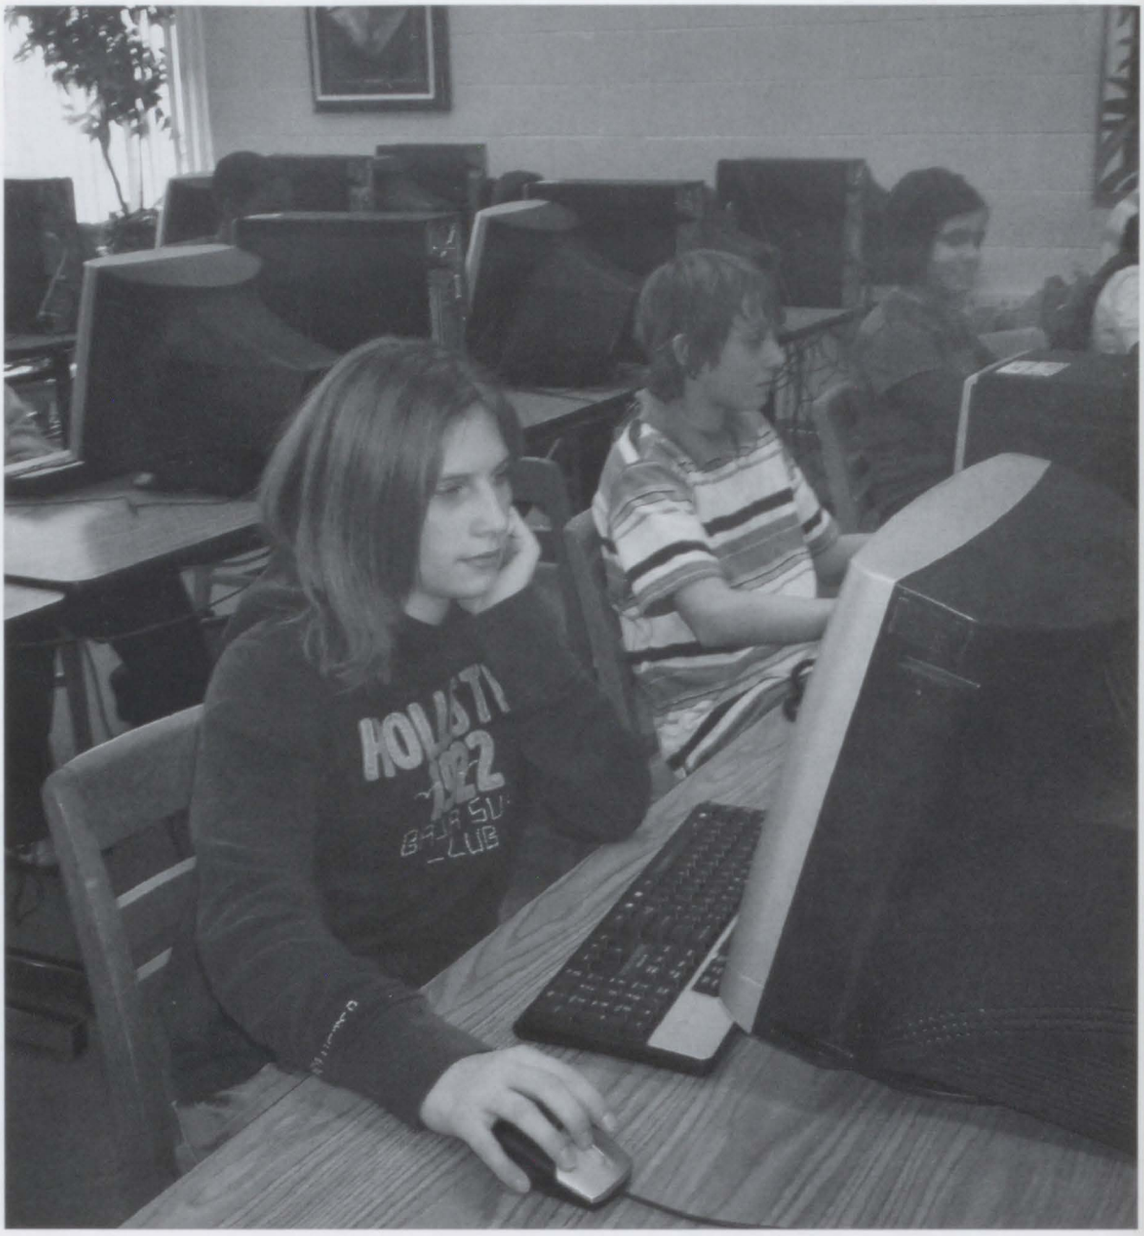
"Washing your hands after a lab is really important because you never know if you have a chemical on your hands," said Bailey Klein (09)

Sadarah Talbert (09) works on her notes for her Introduction to Business class.



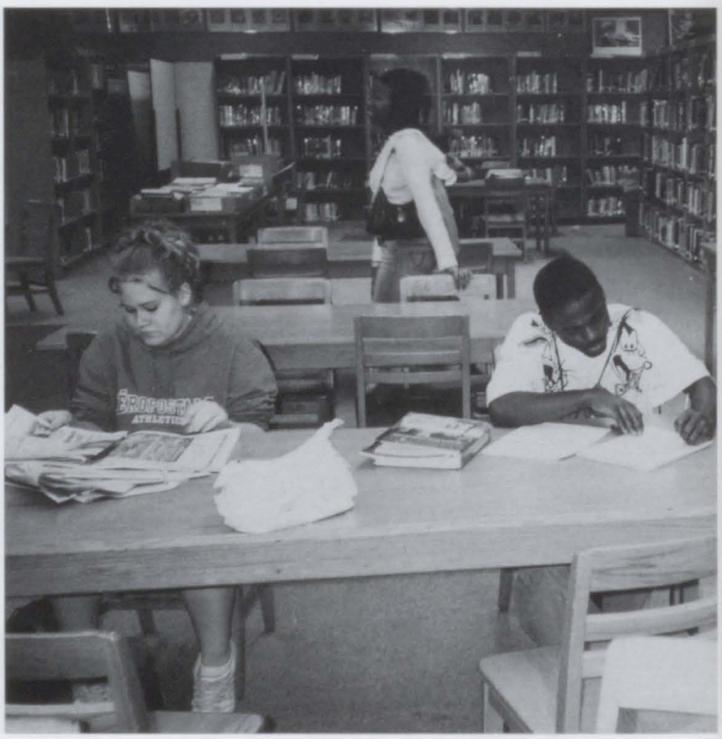


Kandace Thomas (08) and Jordan Stroyan (08) wait for the teacher to give the next assignment.

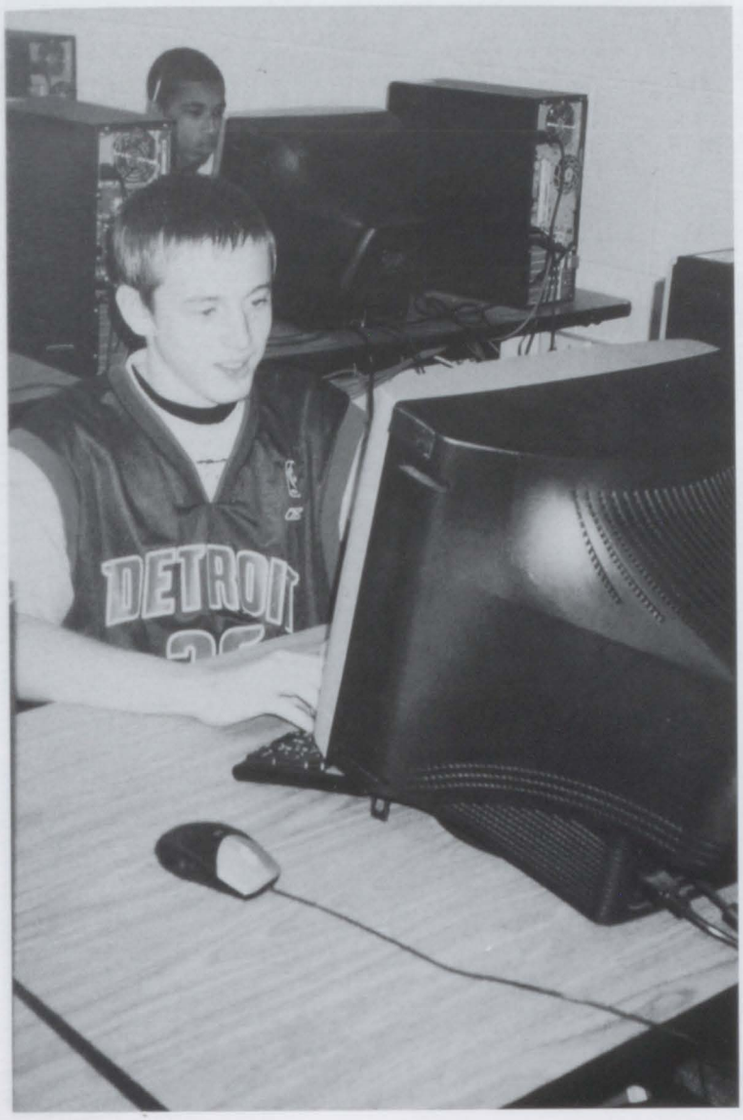


In the Media Center Janae Green (10) does research on the computers for a project.

Working on their assignments, Valerie Louks (08) and Maurice Turner (08) complete their composition papers.



With his class, Nikolay Gadzhaev (07) works on the computer to prepare a presentation.



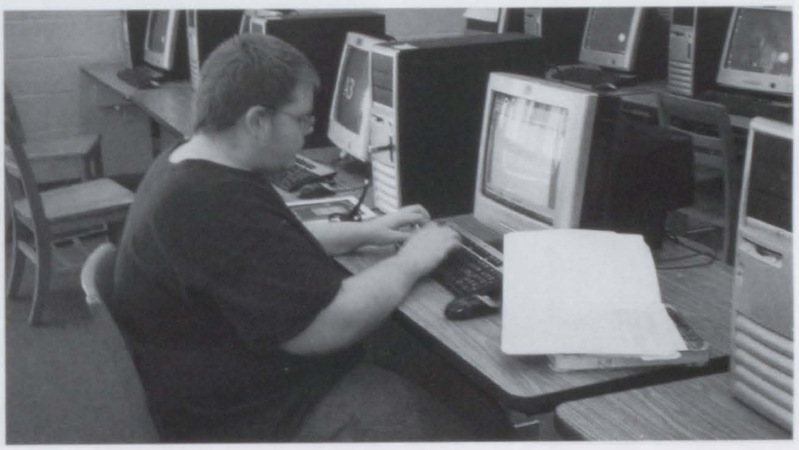
KEEP READING KEEP SEARCHING

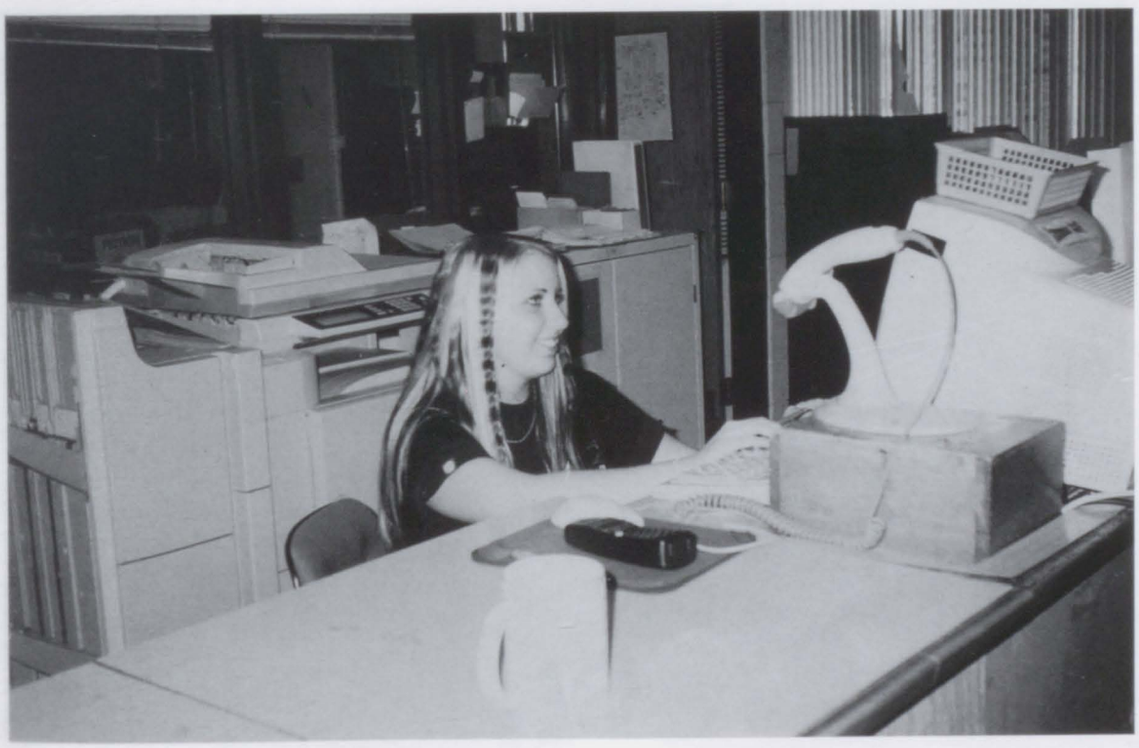
The Media Center, also known as the library, was one of the most used rooms in the building!

Teachers vied for a slot in the sign up book to bring down a whole class, so students could work on projects. Cody Steinhaus (10) said, "Working in the Media Center on the Web Quest was a lot easier than taking regular notes in class."

There was only one Media Center specialist, Mr. Jeff McCabe, who got the latest novels and nonfiction ready for readers and researchers.

Students were obviously able to study and research, but they also checked out career information with the help of Mrs. Debbie Marks in the Career Resource section.



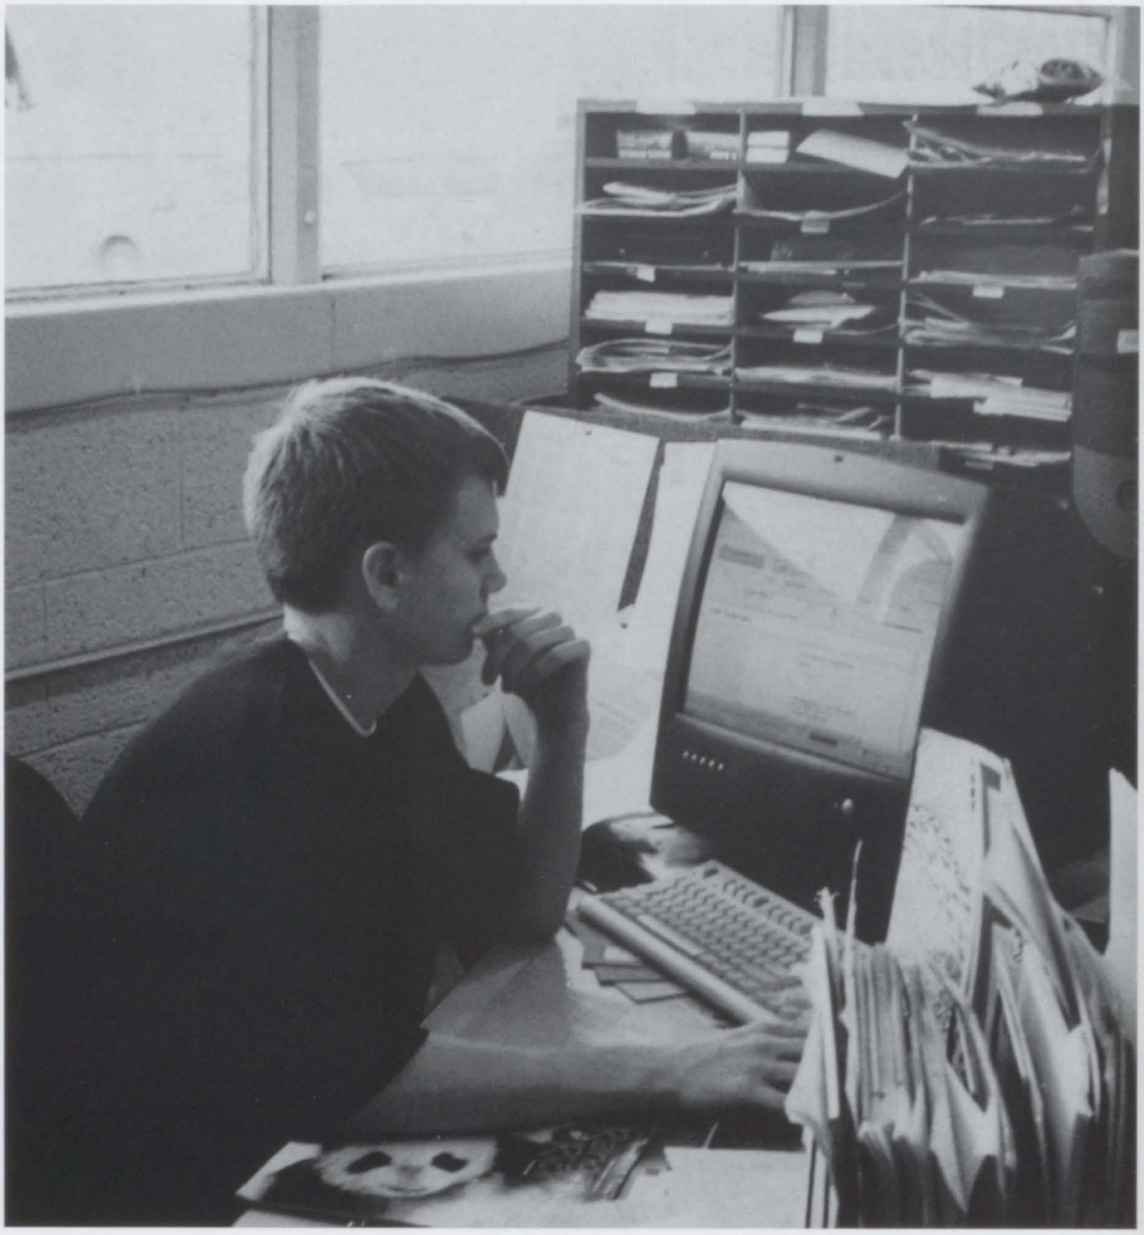


Making changes to a Civics timeline project during Mrs. Karen Jamison's class in the Media Center, William Tenniswood (08) sits in the B row.

As Mr. Jeff McCabe's aide, Lacey Rutherford (07) prints off a identification card for a new student.

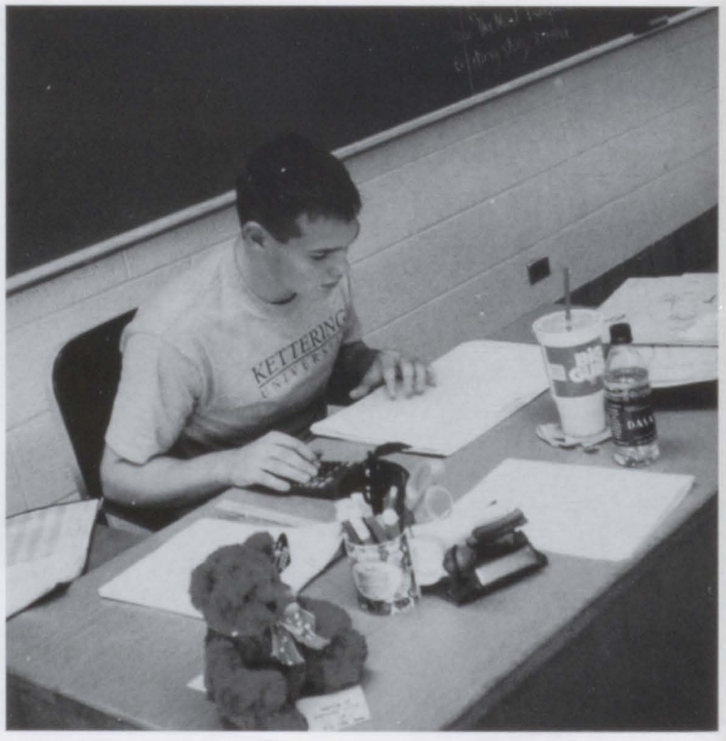
During sixth hour, Justin Edwards (08) works on the computer as Mr. Jeff McCabe's aide.

Demonstrating basketball drills, gym leader Justin Kindle (09) pauses the game to show a play.

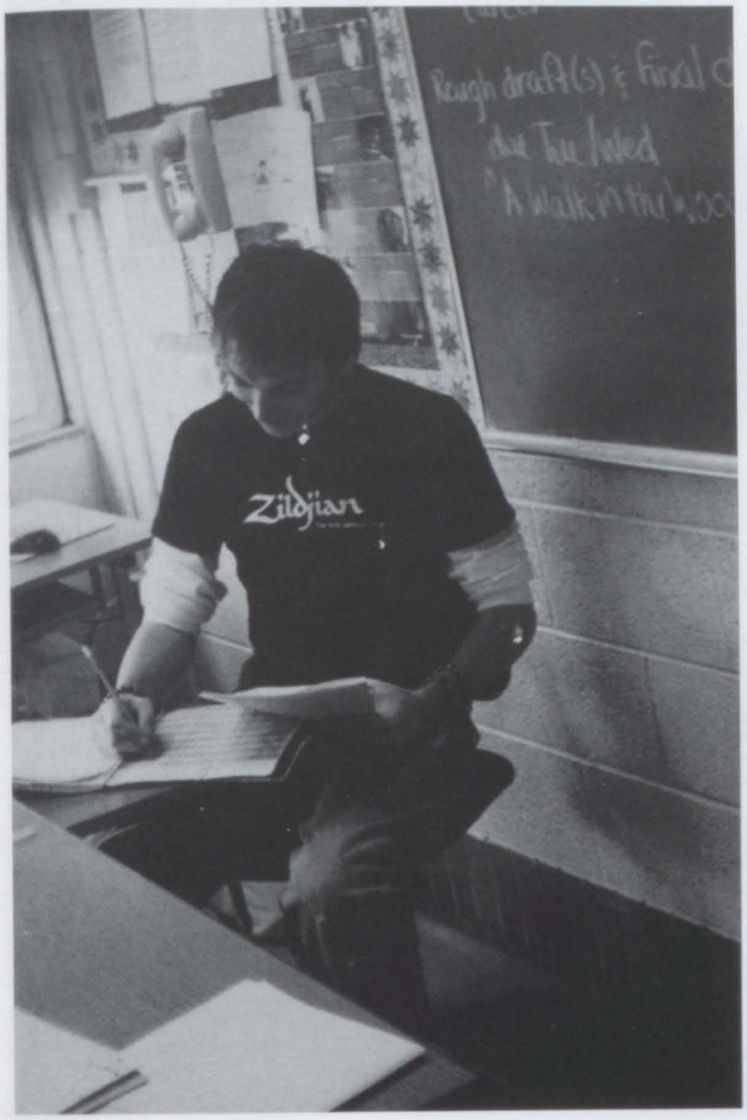


Working on the computer, Shawn Herron (09), helps Mrs. Eugenia Fulton with a presentation.

After finishing correcting papers, Brian Morgan (07) puts them into the return folder.



Sixth hour aide Allen Schott (07) adds points into the grade book for Ms. Darla Miller.



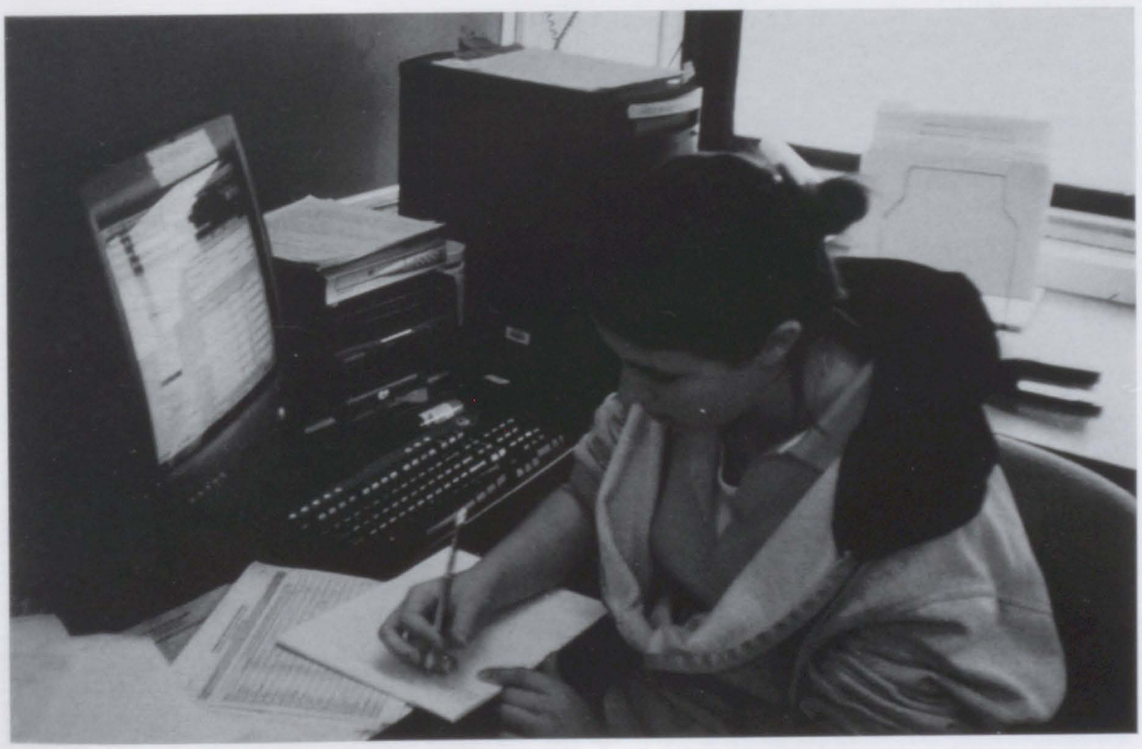
A LITTLE HELP
COMES IN HANDY

Some students chose to be aides to earn a credit. Teacher aides had several options. Typically they worked for an individual teacher, Student Services, gym, or the library.

Teacher aides are appreciated; teachers are grateful to have them take some of the work off of their shoulders. "I correct student's papers, and put in grades, make copies, and when there is a substitute teacher I take attendance, and help organize," said Nicole Loshaw (07).

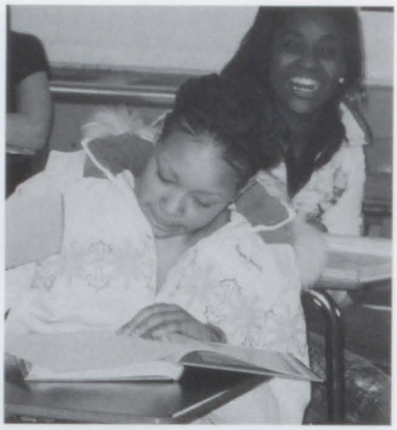
Most of the students who aid wish to be teachers, or want to get experience for the working world. "I wanted to be a teacher aide to get a feel of helping and working on other tasks with a teacher other than required work for a classroom grade," said August Smith (07).

Amber Latoszkiewicz (07) Media Center aide, does computer work, checks out books, and re-shelves returned books.

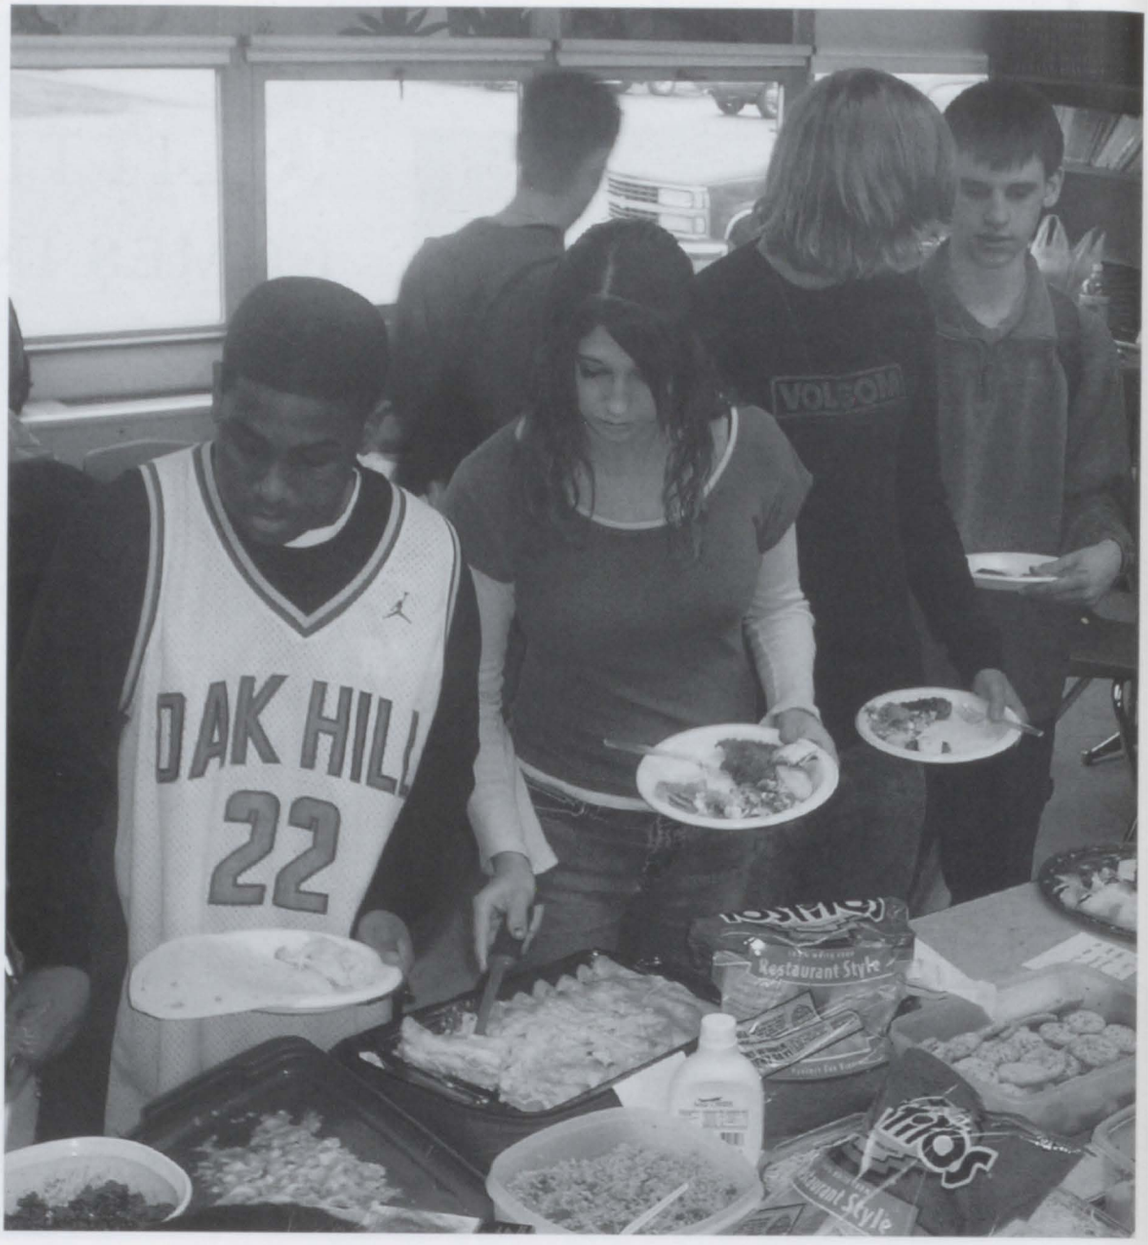


Working for Mr. Juan Hernandez, Sarah Orr (08) helps with the attendance.

Concentrating on her worksheet, TaShena Lewis (09) finishes it up for Mrs. Renee Hinkley's Spanish class.



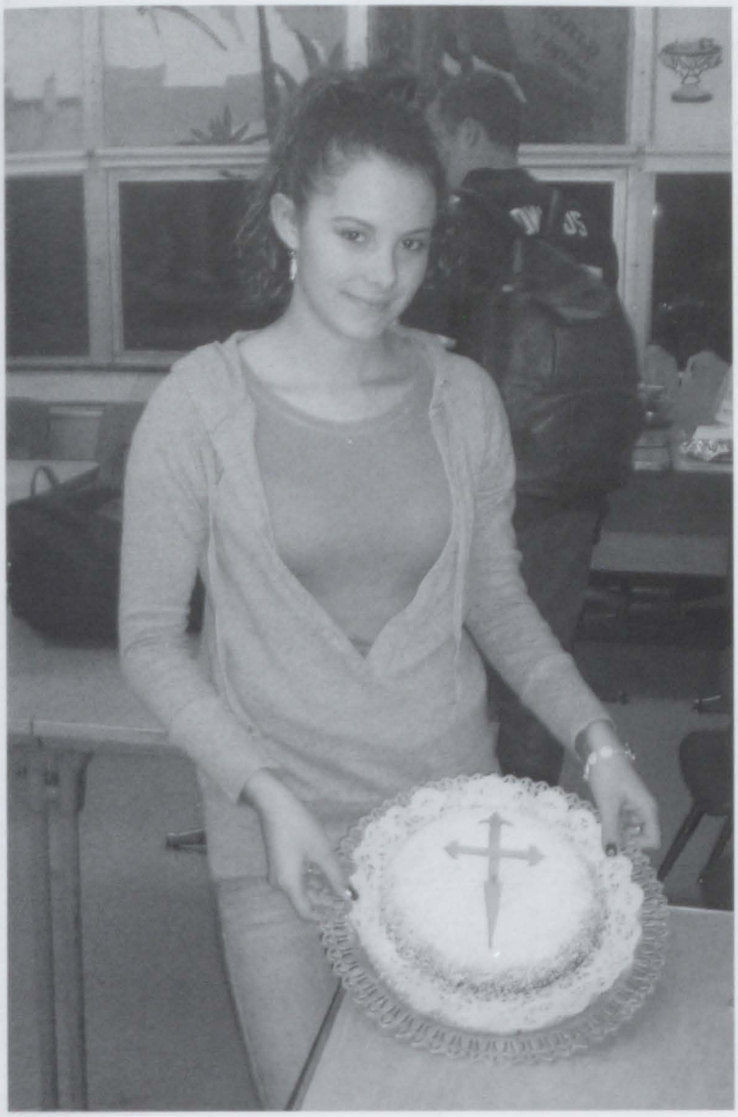
Mrs. Debbie Hesterberg, Lacey Rutherford (07), and Carlos Salaazar (07) work in the Media Center.



Students in Mr. Tim Owens' Spanish class line up for a taste of Spanish food on Fiesta Day.

Looking for help from their German books, Korin Himmel (08) and Kaitlin Davis (09) skim to finish their worksheets.

Callie Oppertshauser (08) baked a Spanish tart for Fiesta Day on December 13th.



GUTEN TAG, HOLA, BONJOUR!

The students at Port Huron High School took Spanish, German, and French to learn about the different cultures and languages for future plans.

Adventuring into Spanish culture and language, students learned not only the basics, but enjoyed Spanish and Mexican cuisine on Fiesta Day.

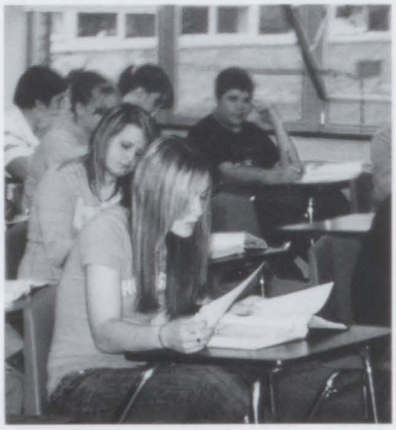
Many students had prior experience with the language. French student Ashley Bailey (08) said, "I think it's fun to learn new things and experience what it's like to be outside your comfort zone." Students learned how to make crepes.

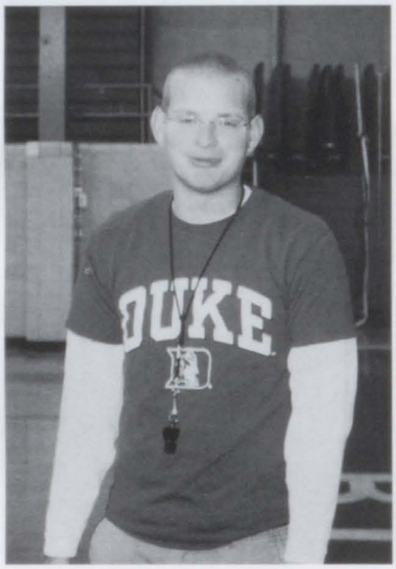
Katie Dusablon (08) said, "Germans like to celebrate with family and food." Their major fundraiser was Advent calendar sales.

While students finish their German worksheets, Jens Wesselmann (07) assists Mrs. Deb Hesterberg as her third hour teacher aide.

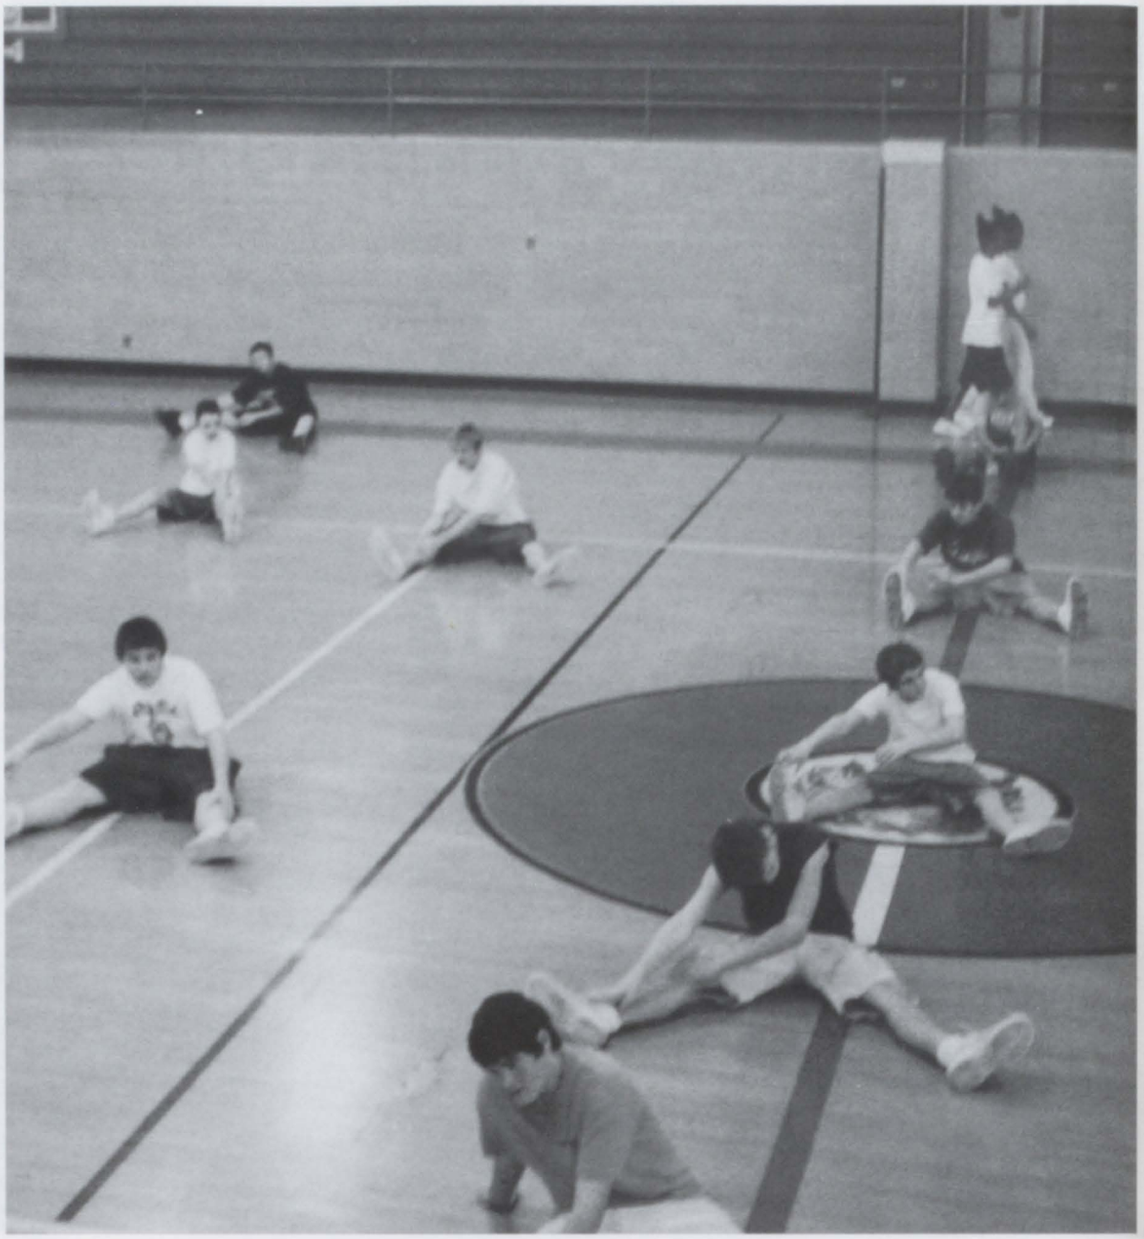
German foreign exchange student Anna Brinkman (07) studies French during her stay.

Caetlan James (10) concentrates as she takes an open book quiz.



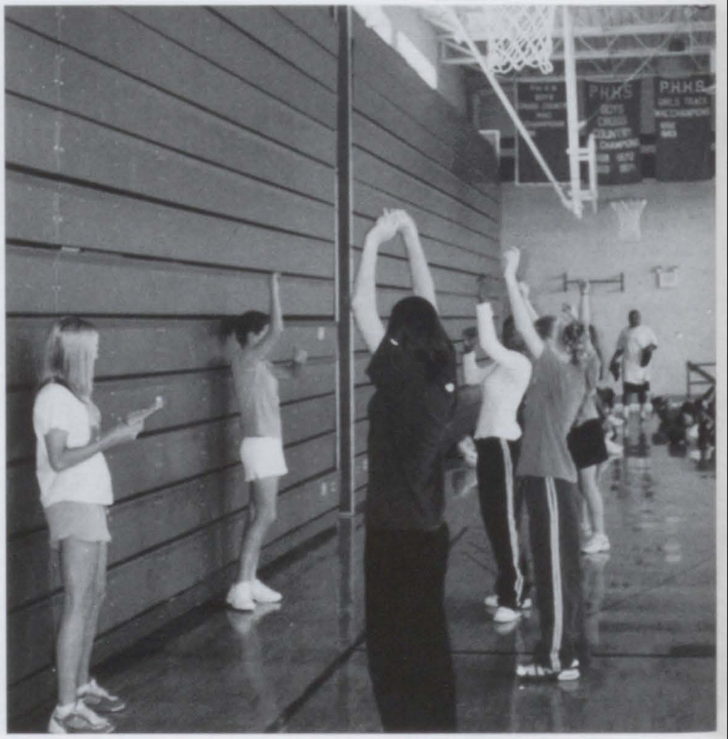


New teacher Mr. Kevin Moran looks over his sixth hour gym class.

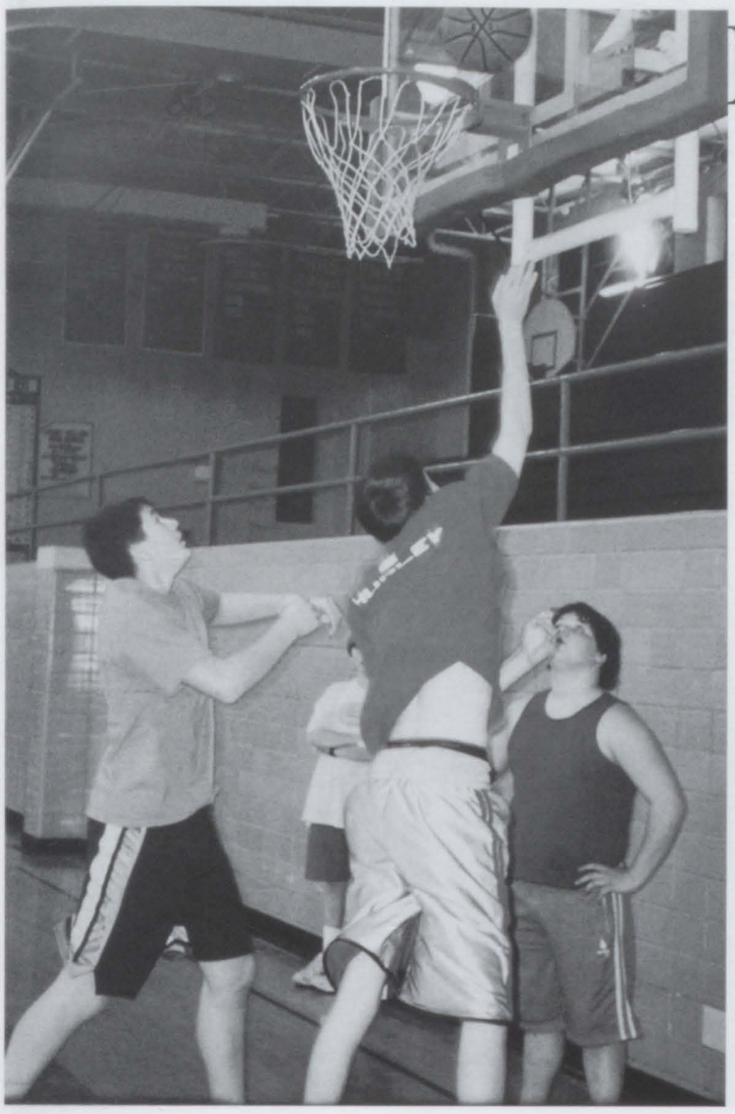


Sixth hour boys gym students stretch as they get ready for the day's sport.

The Girls Weights and Aerobics Class do their warm ups before going into the Weight Room.



Colby Alexis (10) and Joshua Hammond (10) watch as Jordan Stockwell (10) makes a slam dunk.



KEEPING FIT
MIND AND BODY!

Physical Education and Health were two different classes, but they had a very similar goal.

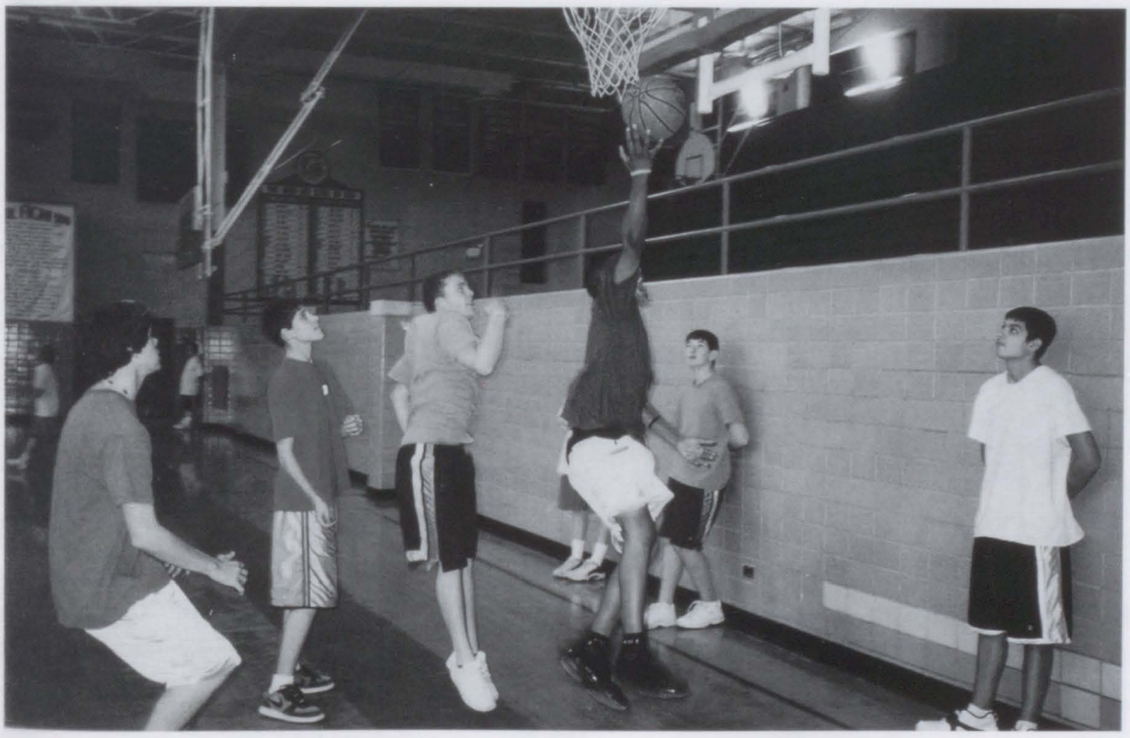
In both classes students learned how to stay healthy. They also learned different health habits that would benefit them physically and mentally.

Physical Education taught different ways to work out and keep bodies in shape. "I really like the warm-ups because they are a good way to stay fit," said Lauren Mann (09). Students played sports like flag football and soccer.

In Health students were taught about physical, mental and sexual abuse. Teachers showed students what and how much to eat to keep their bodies healthy.

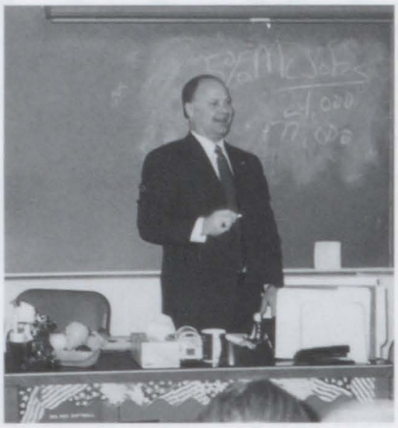
"I enjoyed learning about emotional abuse," said Katie Rodriguez (09).

Elizabeth Santo (09) and Olivia Brown (09) have fun exercising in the Weight Room.

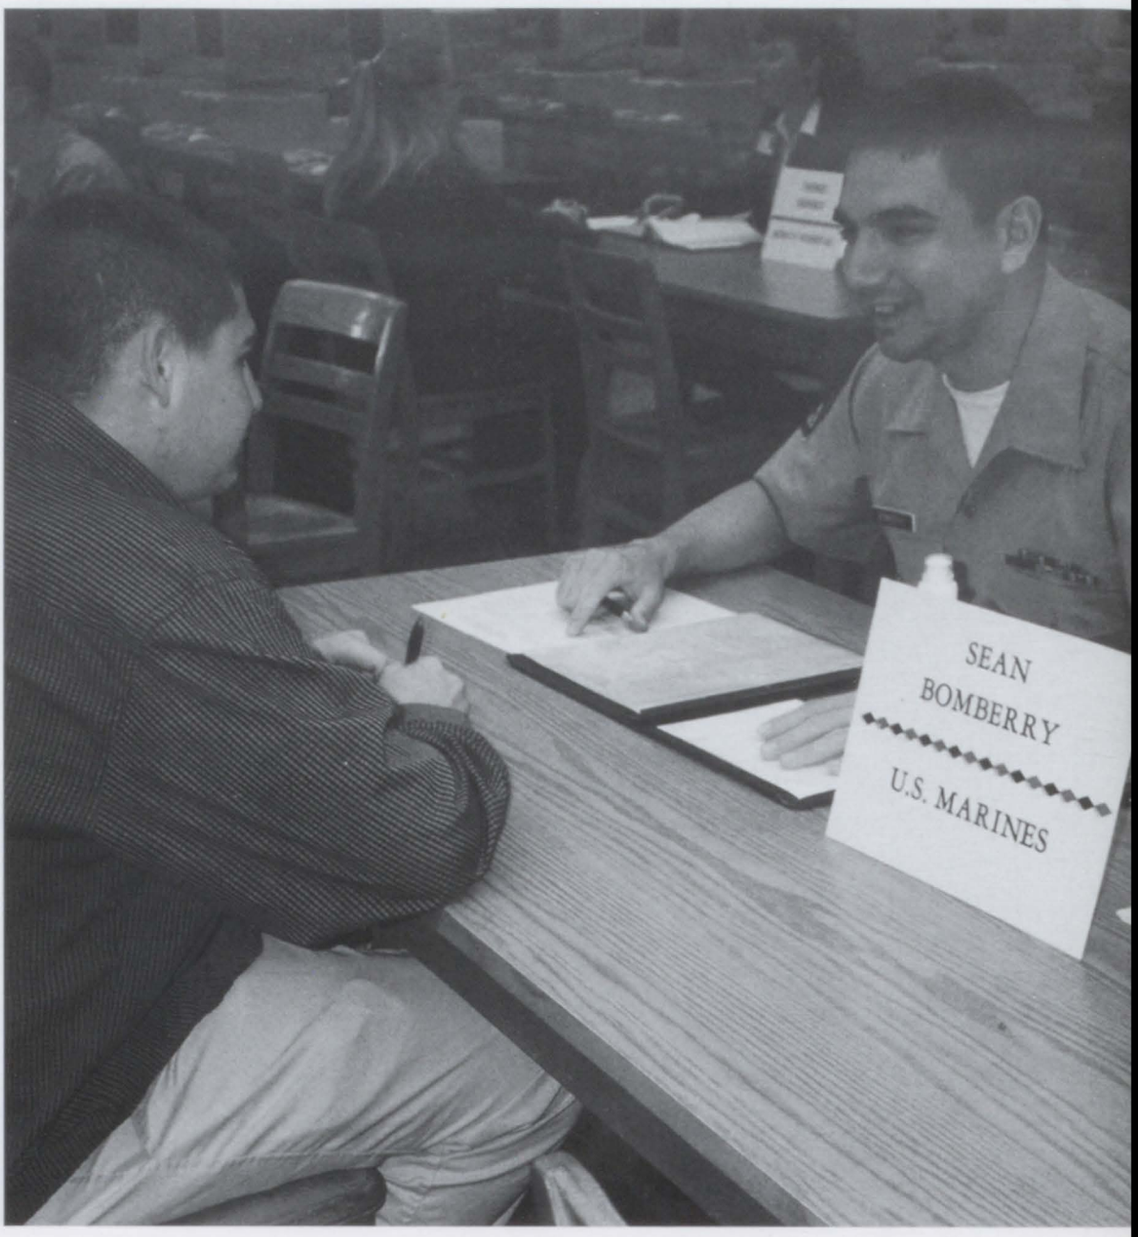


During sixth hour gym, Kenneth Rhadigan (10), Mitchell Petoskey (10), and Joshua Hammond (10) play a game of Three on Three.

A Baker College representative came to Port Huron High School to talk about how to find a job and about what his college has to offer.

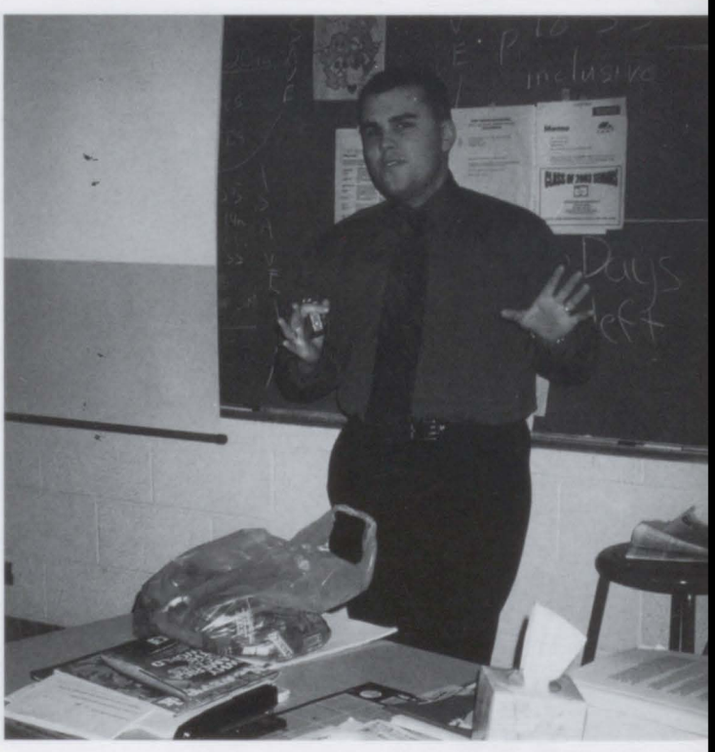


Retired FBI agent Ray Foltz makes a presentation to the Class of 2006 about his former career, during a Job Fair unit.

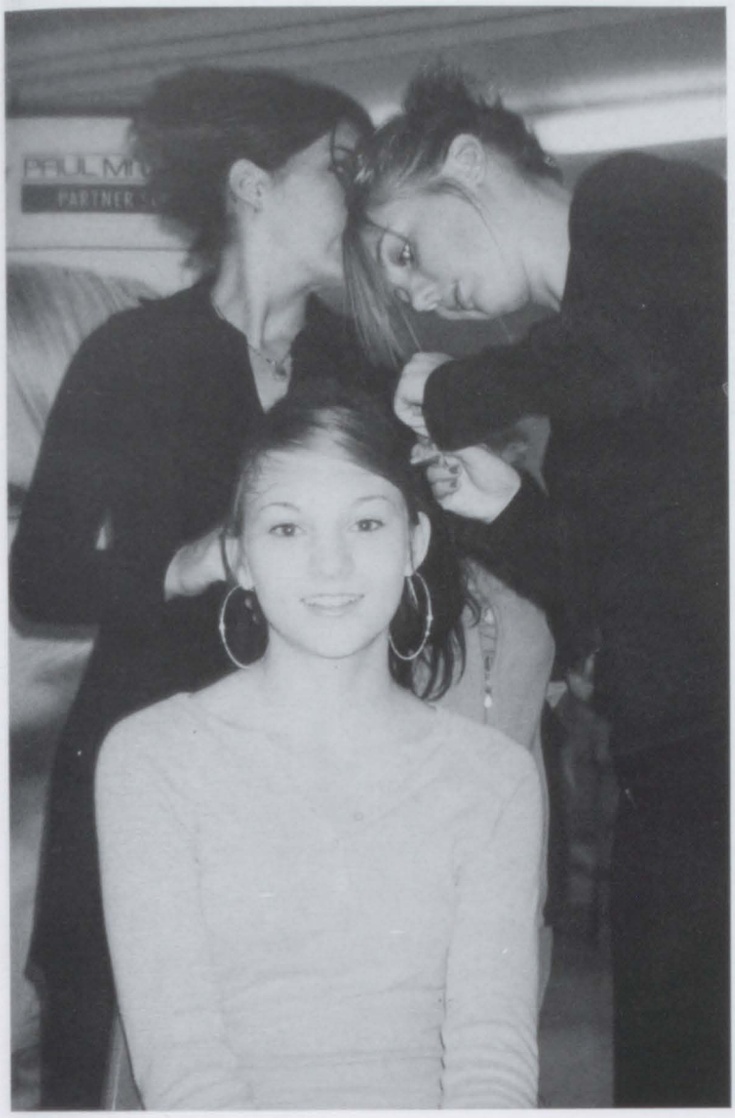


U.S. Marine Sean Bombardy comes to talk about recruitment opportunities for seniors.

Financial advisor, Dave Krestick comes to talk to students about how to manage their finances.



Two students from the Hair Academy style Amber Kinder's (10) hair. While one works on her bangs, the other works on the back of her head.



WELCOME TO PHHS!

Guest speakers have covered a variety of topics from war experiences to leadership skills.

MJ and Jack addressed freshman literature students on September 28, over the Distance Learning Channel about their war experiences.

On September 19, Dr. Tim came to talk to the BRMM about leadership.

On November 6, Mr. Steve McCalmon talked to the juniors about career cruising, a new planning program.

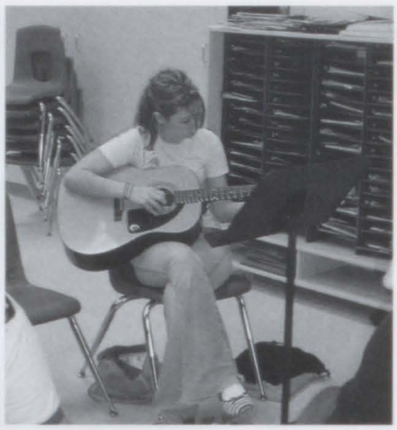
Students from the Hair Academy came in December to do students' hair during lunch.

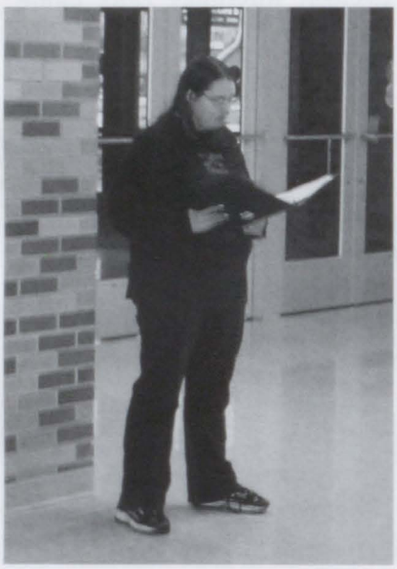
On Portfolio Day several business reps came to conduct interviews. These were just a few!

An employee of the Port Huron Area School District, Mr. Tom Abernathy did a mock interview for Senior Portfolio Day.

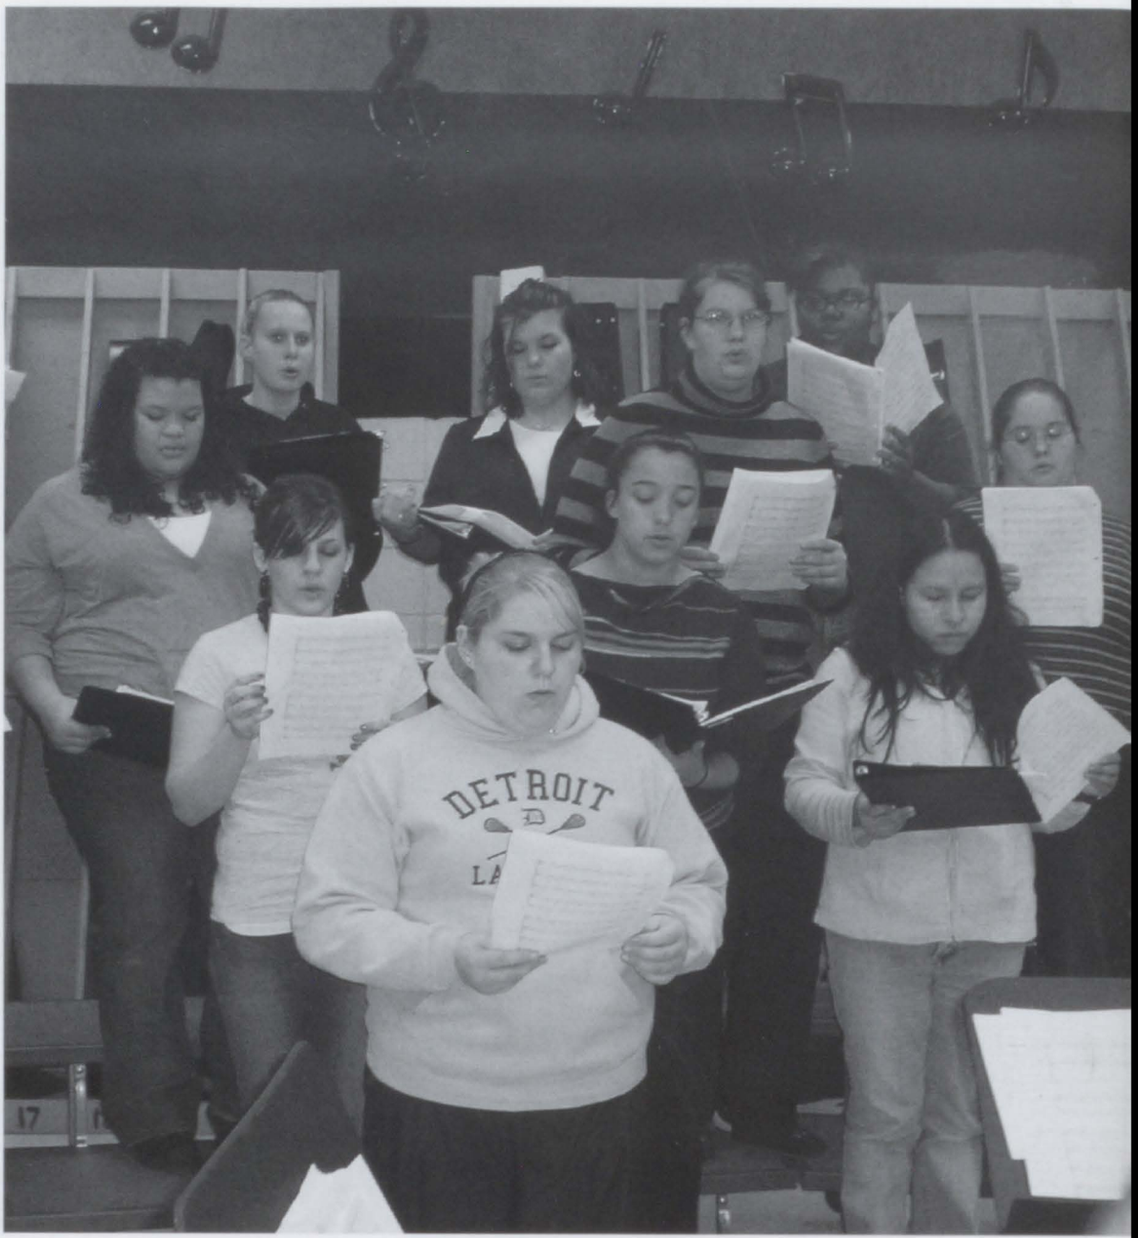
With much concentration, Mia Sutherland works on making Zamil Aiyash's (09) hair perfect, one corn roll at a time.

Brittany Kamicka (08) practices a piece for a musical performance.



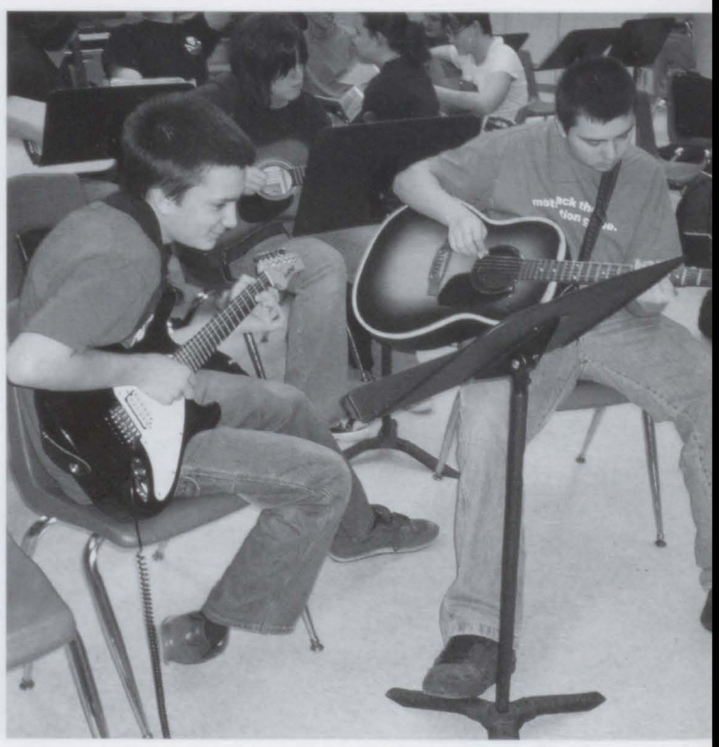


Tonya Crawford (07) rehearses a piece to prepare for the concert.



Many girls in the choir class sing their way through high, low, and in-between notes to make each song pleasant to listen to.

Kyle Dyer (09) and Kenneth Piper (07) enjoy the time they have in their guitar class.



Audrey Visga (07), Cassandra Deanda (09), and Lindsay Brockman (09) play their part and work together to get their music right.

A MUSICAL NOTE
WINTER PERFORMANCES

Practice, practice to get it ready! By winter, musicians wanted an audience.

Choir classes, Concert Choir, and Vocal Theory kicked off the year on a great note. The Womens Ensemble caroled to entertain the customers at Art Van.

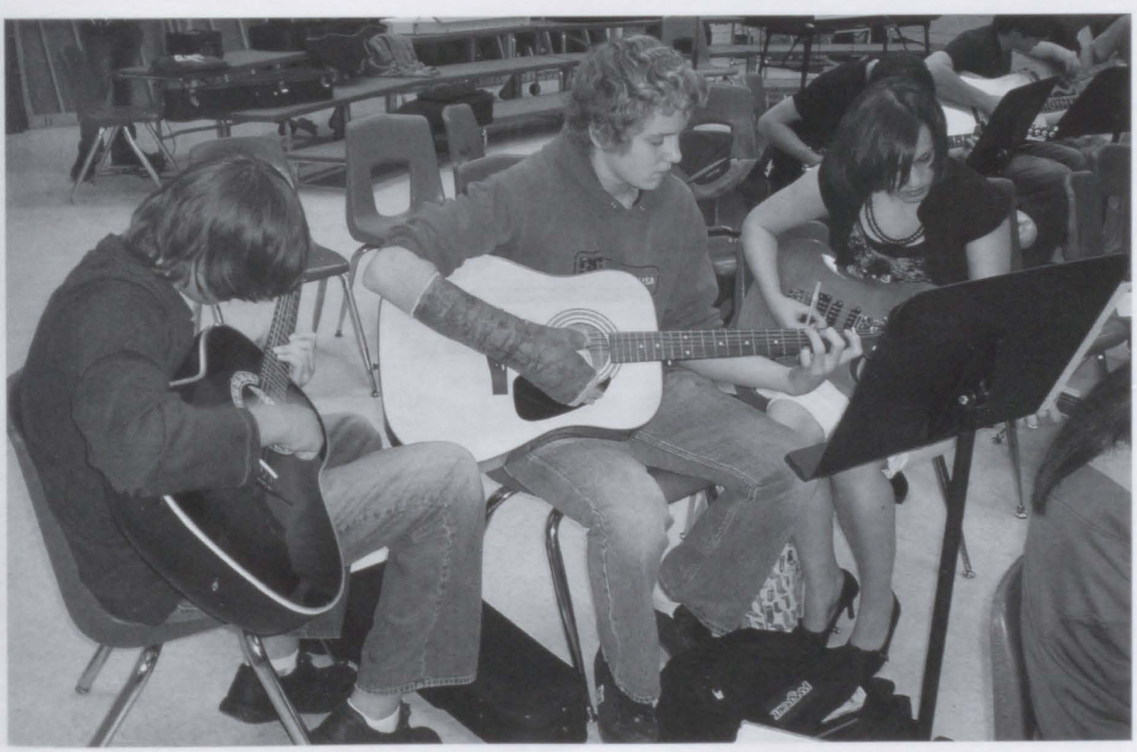
The Concert, Symphonic, and Wind Ensemble band classes entertained their guests at the Christmas Band Concert on December 7, 2006.

Guitar classes combined with the Womens Ensemble on December 15 for the Christmas Concert.

All of the musical groups helped end the year on a good note with live entertainment at the Christmas Assembly.

Being in a music class gave students a great opportunity to do something they love.

Kirsten Blake (08), Emily Day (09), Rebecca Jackson (09), and Rachel Gieche (07) make up a part of the french horn section in the band.



Holland Padgham (09), Zachary Carroll (09) and Stephanie Woods (07) work as a group to get their song and timing down.

MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Keyboards were hot as students typed their fastest to finish reports.

"In keyboarding class you learn how to type a good report, memos, essays and even making tables," said Kaitlyn Harnden (09).

"I believe everyone should know where their money goes and how to manage it," said Nicholle Ingles (07) about Accounting, where she learned how to keep a general journal, a payroll, and collect tax information.

"I liked working at the school store," said Courtney Jonseck (08) of her Marketing class; there she learned about the business world, preparing for job interviews, and starting a business.

With all the concerns about finding jobs, it's great for students to be sure they're taking care of business.

Away from the Classroom

Students Find Activities

Rushing though the day almost as quickly as Jack Bauer races from one terrorist threat to another, students finished their school hours and headed to sports, clubs, jobs, and chores.

Just like on 24, in real time students searched for the activities that made the best use of their free moments; so many were busy 24/7. Each year PH has offered a variety of intriguing organizations that teach or entertain. If you are suspicious, check these out!

In the lead, Student Council members organized a plan of attack to raise funds for the club and local charities. They also managed community service and the Homecoming activities.

If the threat of not using enough brain cells caused distress, the cure was a spot on the Business Professionals, National Honor Society, Quiz Bowl, or Mock Trial Team.

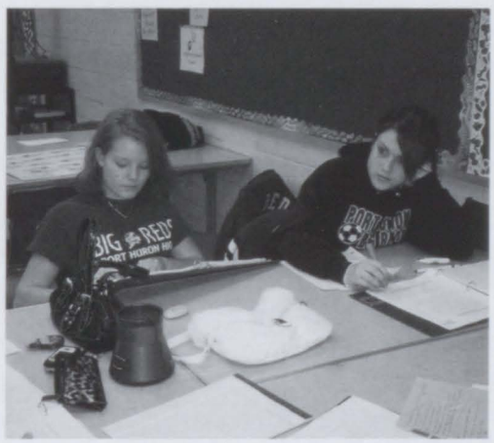
For those on the lookout to use their musical or performance talents, they signed up for Marching, Concert, and Jazz Bands, Women's Ensemble, Vocal Theory, Concert Choir, Guitar, Drama Club or Thunderbirds Dance and Drill Team.

Preserving the evidence of an eventful year, the yearbook staff kept track of all the details, storing the information in locked file cabinets and on computer disks.

Despite the demands on their after-school time, on their own, students located activities without the help of CTU or any other government agency; Jack started to understand what it meant to be part of the pride, tradition, and excellence.

Hitting straight lines, the BRMM plays the hit "Brown Eyed Girl" for the crowd just before they band breaks out into a dance.

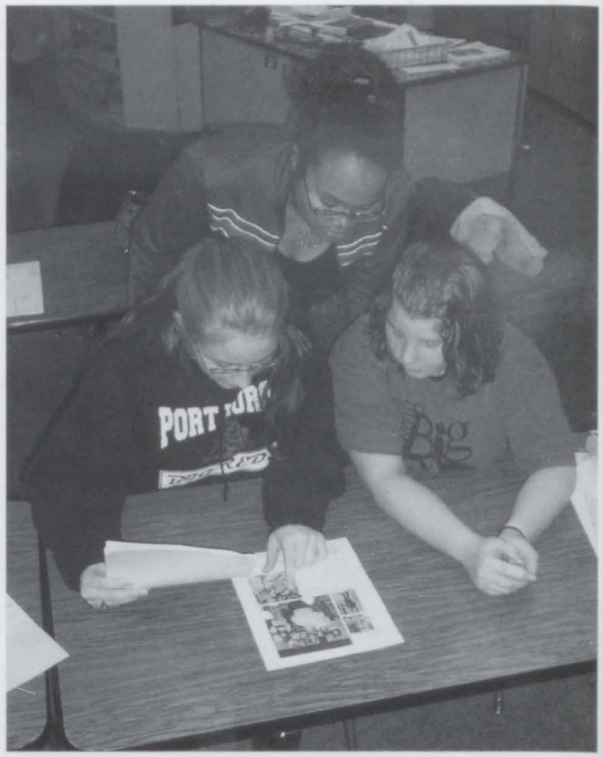
Amber Hunter (07) peaks around the corner of the classroom to gather some evidence for the yearbook.



Listening to their coach, Anna Brinkmann (07) and Courtney Draveling (08) prepare their practice trial.

In order to publish the yearbook, the staff must do fundraisers. Kathy Weller (07) and Stephanie Mierendorff (08) sort the Maredy fundraiser.

Editor-in-Chief Angelina Taylor (07) discusses the cropping with first year staff members Jazmyn Thomas (10) and Samantha Kesner (10).



Spying PHHS

Going beyond the halls

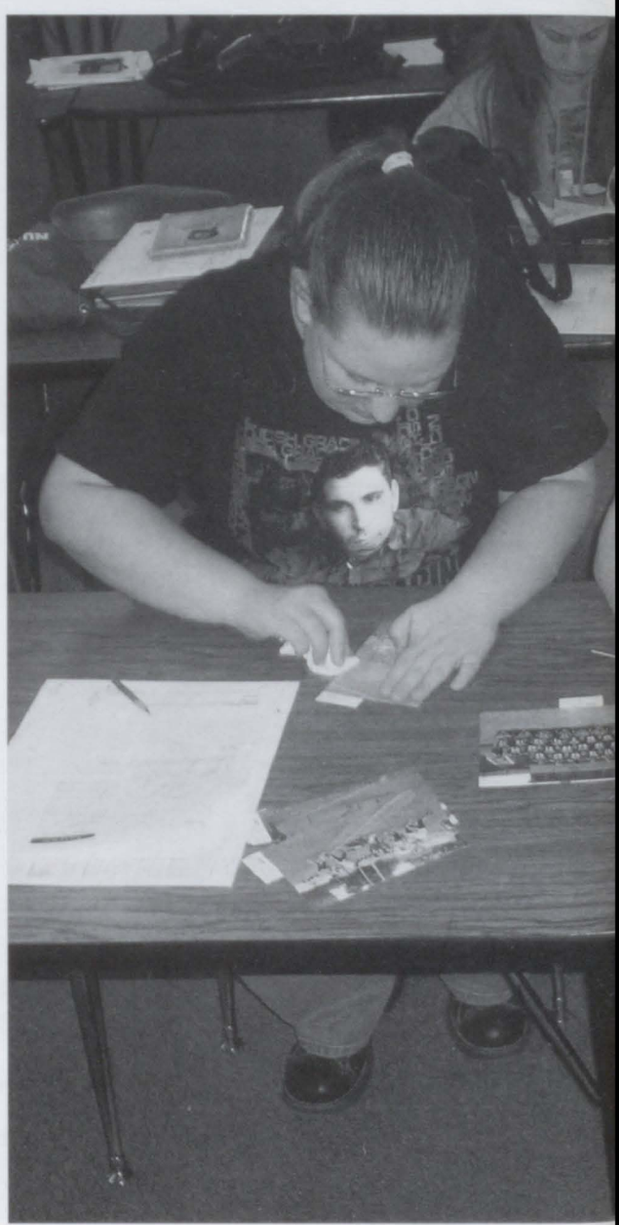
Spending their time almost like spies, they searched the halls and beyond for details and photos.

"Beyond the Halls" and "'007" were the combined themes of the yearbook. "This year's theme of 'Beyond the Halls' represents the lives of students both in the classroom and out of school," said Organizations Editor Kristi Radatz (09). With the start of school the senior class influenced the second theme. "With this school year being 2007 it only fit to do something with agents and spies, since this theme couldn't be used for another thousand years," said Business Manager Kathy Weller (07). Besides, the senior photo took the shape of '007.

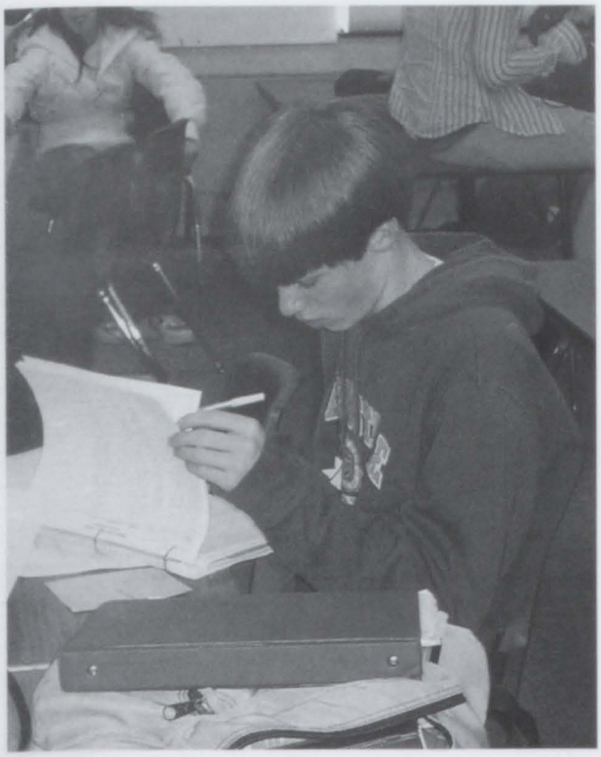
When it came time for publishing, there was a problem. Over the summer, the yearbook room was rewired, but the job was not complete. At the beginning of the school year, the yearbook staff was stranded without any working computers for a month. The staff worked diligently to learn the new computer program, InDesign CS2 and worked for the first time with digital photography.

With all the technological advances, the staff, once again dreaded 'Deadline Days.' "When you lose a few weeks of computers everything else is pushed back, but when things were all mailed it was time for a happy dance," said Editor-in-Chief Angelina Taylor (07).

Beyond all the stress they faced during the year, the staff celebrated the book's completion and their First Place National Press Award from the American Scholastic Press Association for the 2006 yearbook, Chalk Dust, at the end of the year Awards Banquet.



All the pictures in the yearbook must be cropped down to size in order to fit in the picture slots. Working together to finish the Freshman/JV Football spread, Jessica Koehn (09) and Amanda Gerren (08) crop the final pictures.



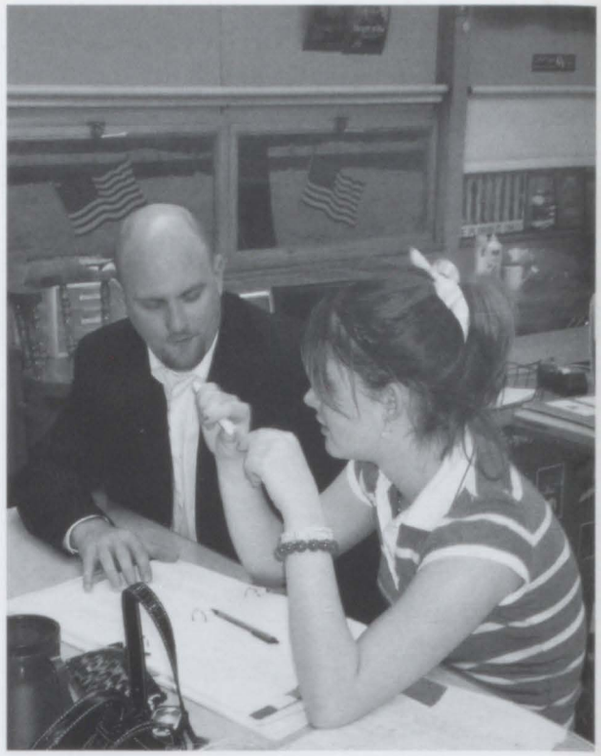
First year staff member Travis McBride (10) searches the whole school index for the correct spellings of names for the Business Professionals of America competitors.

Three of the staff members attended the Herff Jones Summer Workshop held at Michigan State University. Kourtney Pelkey (08) and Kristi Radatz (09) learn the computer program InDesign CS2.

An important part of yearbook is photos; members of the photography staff Kristin Baker (08) and Kassandra Russell (08) check camera batteries and film.

The members and coaches of the 06-07 Mock Trial team pose with their trophy won at the county competition in 2006.

Mr. Ron Kaski helps McKenzie Bade (07), the plaintiff's attorney, with writing questions to ask the witnesses during the mock trial.



Guilty or Not

Mock Trial Teams Compete

After only two years as a club activity, Mock Trial has become popular.

"I was chosen to be on the team last year and decided to stay to be a part of an extra curricular activity. This year I came back because I liked speaking publicly and defending the case," said Brittany Gilbert (07). Some students joined Mock Trial so that they could have fun and experience what it's like being a lawyer. It was a great learning activity.

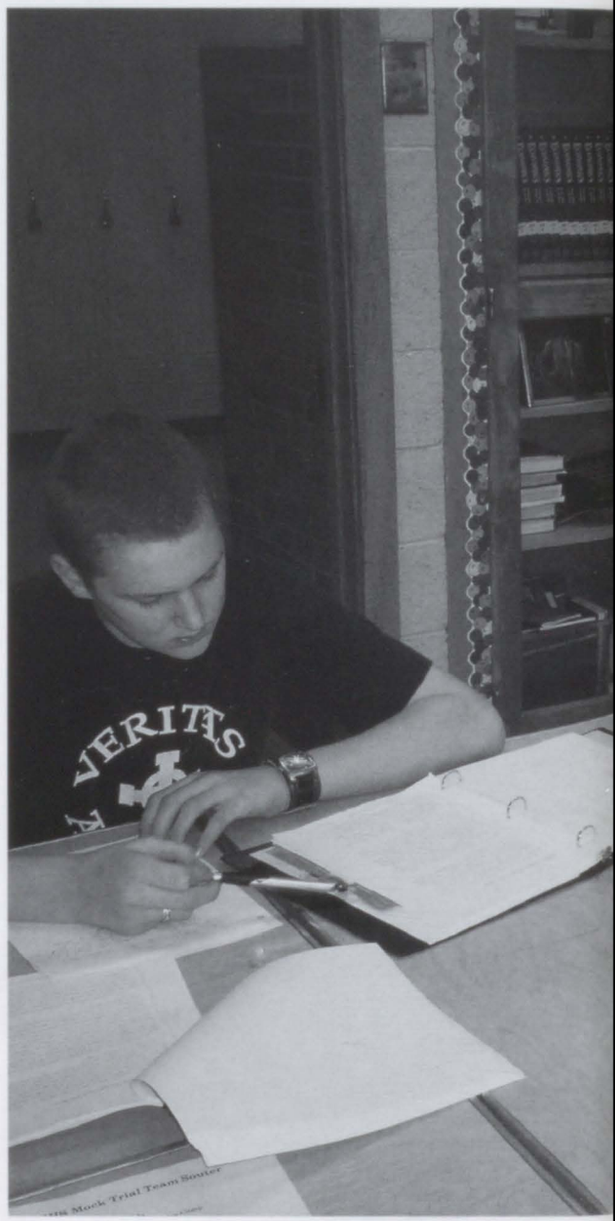
"To me the most challenging part of Mock Trial is being able to think on the spot, and come up with a response in seconds," said Heather Krestik (07).

There were three coaches for Mock Trial; Ms. Shelly Jex, PHHS Civics teacher, and attorneys Mr. Ron Kaski and Mr. Frank Partipilo, who taught the members of Mock Trial when to say "objection" and why. They also helped with opening and closing statements, and how to question witnesses.

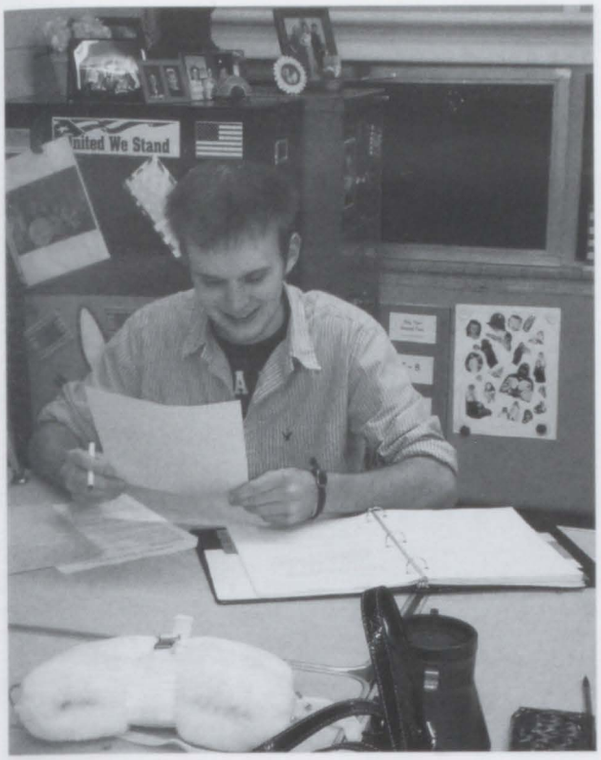
During the school year, members attended two competitions; a county competition that was held in the St. Clair County courtrooms in February, and the other was a state regional competition that took place in March and was held in Pontiac.

Last year at the county competition the PHHS Mock Trial team won a trophy for being the best Mock Trial team out of eight.

When going into a competition Ms. Shelly Jex said, "I look forward to seeing how well prepared other teams are compared to my teams." At a competition they conduct an entire trial in ninety minutes. All competitive teams tried the same case, Brooks verses Lawrence and the Clear Water Police Department.

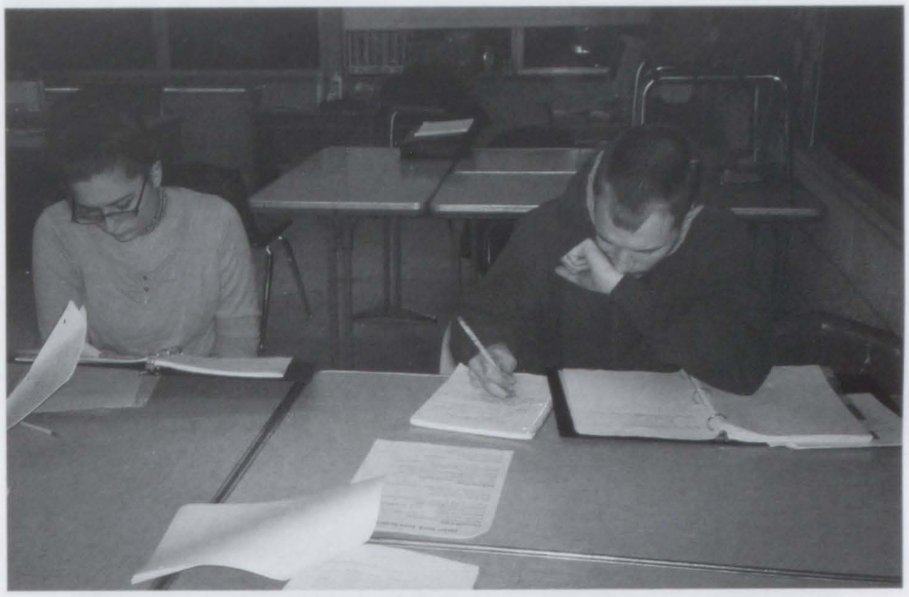


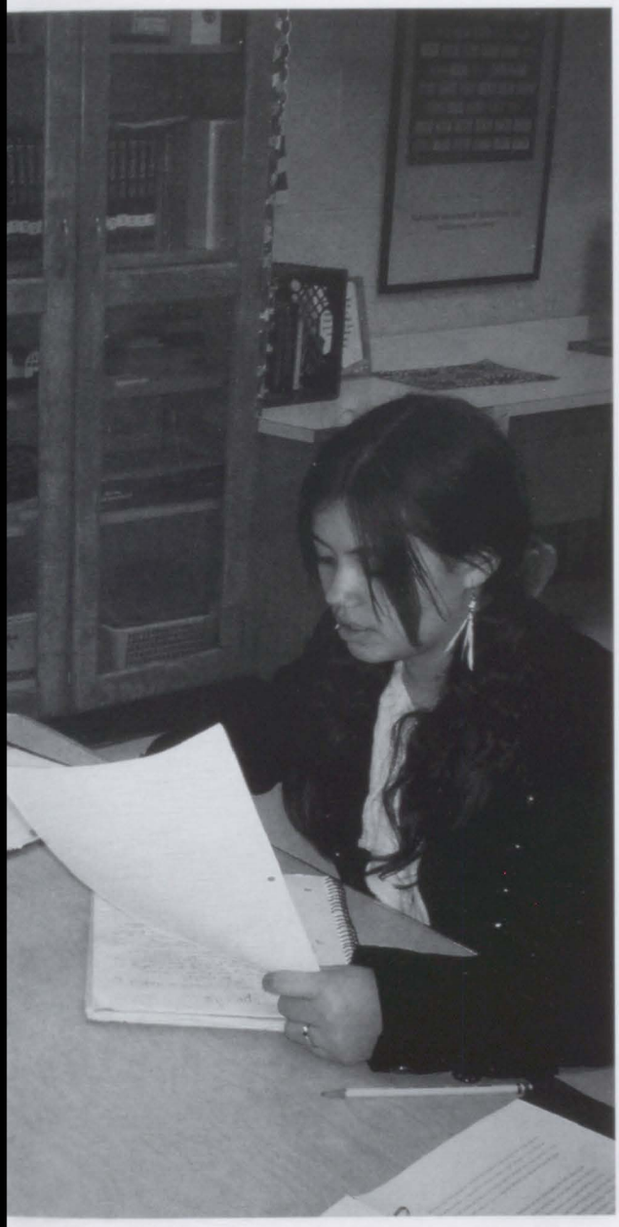
Working together to figure out their questioning and how to make their case plausible, Zachary Carroll (09) and Cassandra Deanda (09) question each other during one of the Thursday night meetings.



Reviewing the case, Jeremy Barnum (08) studies the facts to get ready for a competitive match against his fellow Mock Trial teammates.

Examining the evidence material given to them, Amanda Thornton (09) and Joshua Wilson (08) take notes on what they could use against the other teams regarding the clues.





Looking over the witness lists and connecting clues, Kaitlin Davis (09) and Christina Bantle (07) try to solve the mock case.

Kendra Jansen (07), Brianne Donaldson (07), Jordan Gutierrez (07), Brittany Gilbert (07), and Melissa Bailey (08) enjoy the Christmas party.

Going Above

and Beyond

"Heaven on Earth" started the year off for the Student Council members, and their duties continued with many charity events throughout the year.

A big part of the work for the association was to raise money for Matthew Frey's (07) medical expenses. During Homecoming week, the student body held a raffle ticket sale, collected bottles and cans for donation, sold supportive bracelets, and used money cans during lunch to collect any money that was donated by his fellow classmates.

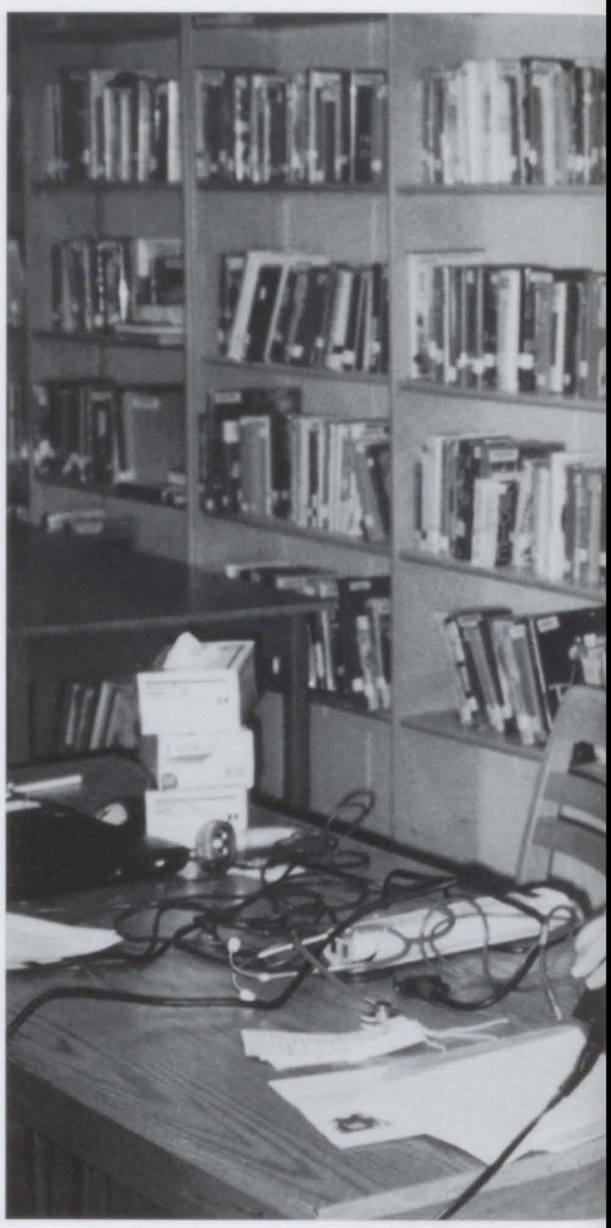
President, Heather Krestik (07), led the organization and its meetings with Vice President Tiffany Makowski (07). Secretary Tayler Carpenter and Treasurer Kendra Jansen helped.

Still in charge, behind closed doors inside his "corner office", for the eighth year was Mr. Keith Hodge. "We have good leaders with excellent leadership, and a wonderful group of students who are willing to work, which is what you would expect from Student Council members," said Mr. Keith Hodge about his members.

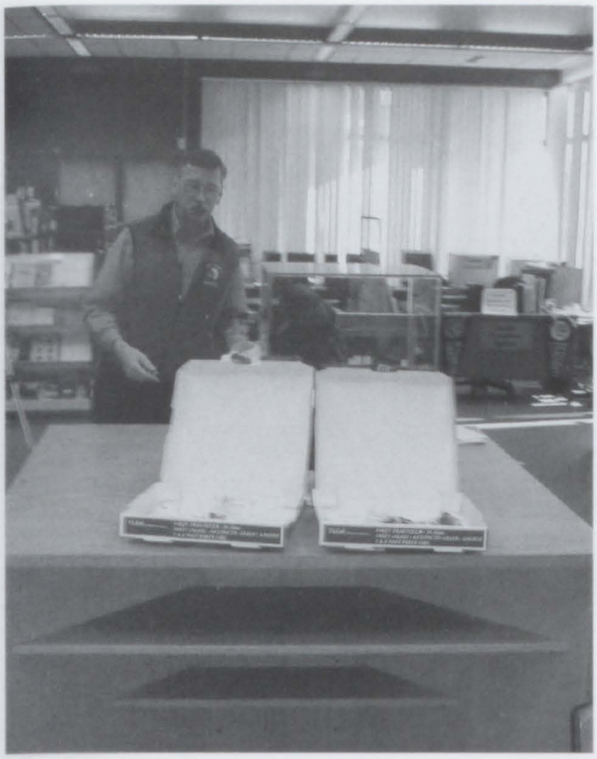
The Salvation Army held the annual Canned Food Drive, and Student Council helped collect 4,056 pounds of food for the holiday season. During lunches and third hours, cans were collected and counted in the Student Council office.

Blue Cross nurses came for the annual Blood Drives in the Media Center on September 29 and December 11. "There were more students than any of my three years in Student Council," said Hannah Kostanecki (08), who helped the club organize the events.

The major spring function was Jail and Bail to help raise money for the March of Dimes.

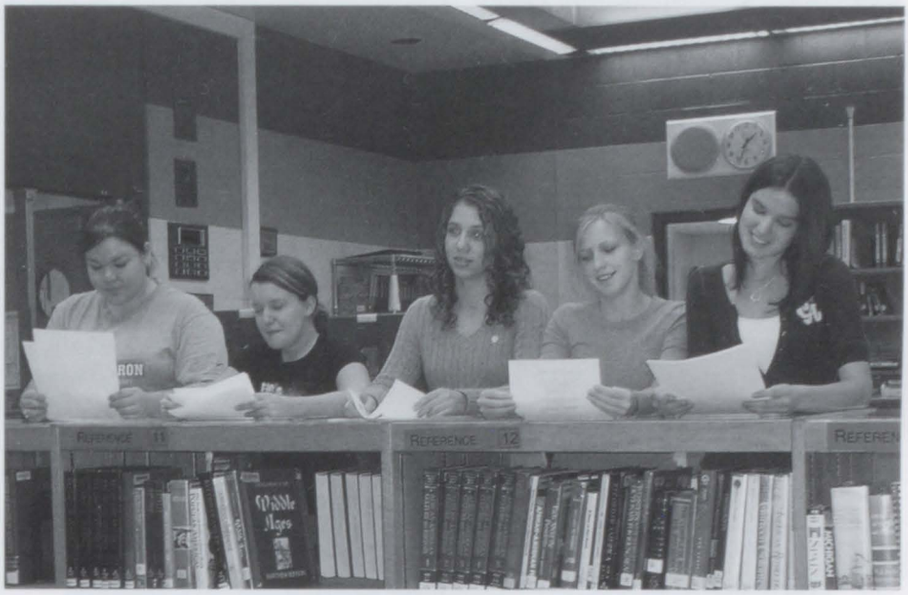


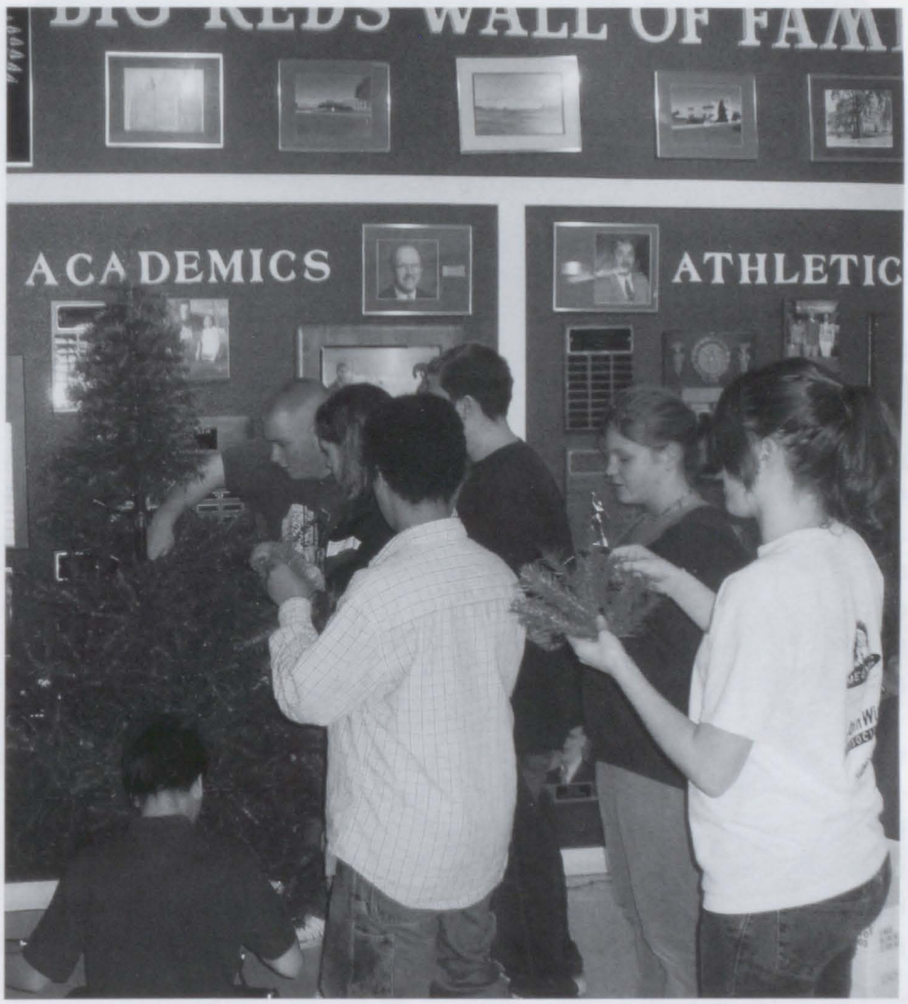
During the September Blood Drive, a Red Cross certified nurse prepares for the next donators in line to fill out tests to show identification, so their iron levels can be checked to see if they are able to donate blood.



Rewarding the students who make the organization work, Mr. Keith Hodge sets up the pizza during the Christmas party.

During meetings, the senior cabinet, Nicole Bartlett, Kendra Jansen, Heather Krestik, Danielle Condino, and Brittany Falk discuss important information that is on the agenda.





"O' Christmas Tree, O' Christmas Tree." Student Council members volunteer their time after school to decorate the school's tree by the Wall of Fame.

Senior member Samantha Whedbee prepares the coffee for the reception after the NHS Induction Ceremony.

NHS

A New Generation

"Being in NHS has been an inspiration to be a better person and to be more in touch with my community," said Christina Bantle (07).

National Honor Society members included the top twenty-five percent of the upperclassmen at PHHS. It consisted of dedicated members who not only had a 3.3 or higher grade point average but also participated in school and community services.

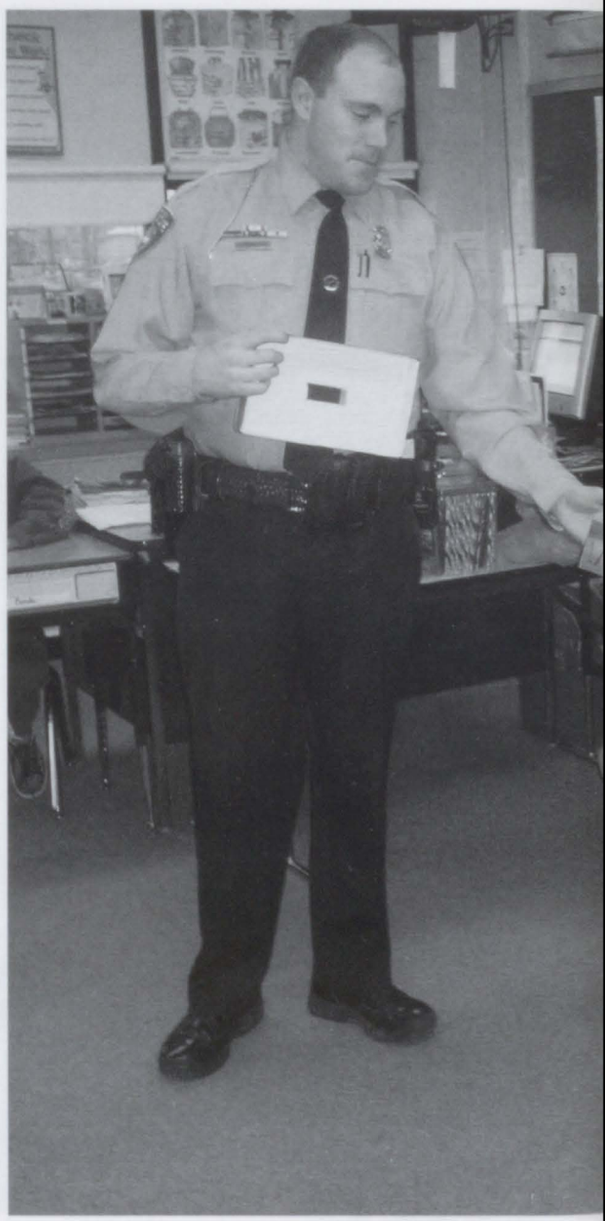
Each year the NHS inducts the new members in a candle-lit ceremony, which was held in the Performing Arts Center for the inductees. The sixty-five inductees recited the National Honor Society pledge to confirm their induction.

Before the ceremony the members were "tapped" out by the officers for an informational meeting concerning the requirements for NHS membership.

Under the four pillars of NHS--scholarship, leadership, character, and service; members had to fulfill a minimum of twenty service hours, working charity events and soup kitchens. These service activities made them eligible for scholarship programs such as the NHS Scholarship and the PHHS Chapter Scholarship.

NHS participated in the Save the Village, Sister City, Chiquimula, Guatemala. In doing so NHS advisors, Mr. Tim Owens, Mrs. Deb Hesterberg, and students in their foreign language classes donated hygiene items to the cause. The NHS members collected, counted and mailed the items.

"Co-chairing the Scholarship Committee was interesting; the theme "Under the Sea" was selected for the decorations and some food," said Angelina Taylor (07).



While at Woodrow Wilson Elementary School explaining the dangers of drugs and alcohol, Glenn Richards (07) and Travis Washington (08) draw the raffle winners for the week, and choose the student who will take home "Daren," the Dare Lion.

After their march in the MSBOA Band Festival was complete, all the members of the band marched to the softball field, and sat up on the bleachers for a group picture. All the members in the band were psyched to have earned a Division One rating during the festival. All of this couldn't have ever been accomplished without their band director Mr. Daniel Griffith and this year's Drum Majors Tyler Osburn (07), Colleen Lum (08), and William Rock (07).

"Encore"

The Band at their best

"Sha La La" sang each musician of the Big Red Marching Machine while performing "The Hustle" at their halftime show.

This year's show paid tribute to the great American composer Van Morrison by playing his songs "Domino," "Moon Dance," and "Brown Eyed Girl." The accompanying march was produced by director Tim Hurlburt.

Before all the new members of the Big Red Marching Machine could start marching, they all had to go to a Rookie Camp to learn how to step properly. After learning the basic fundamentals of movement, all members of the band were then sent to Band Camp from August 7 to August 11 to learn how to play and move at the same time.

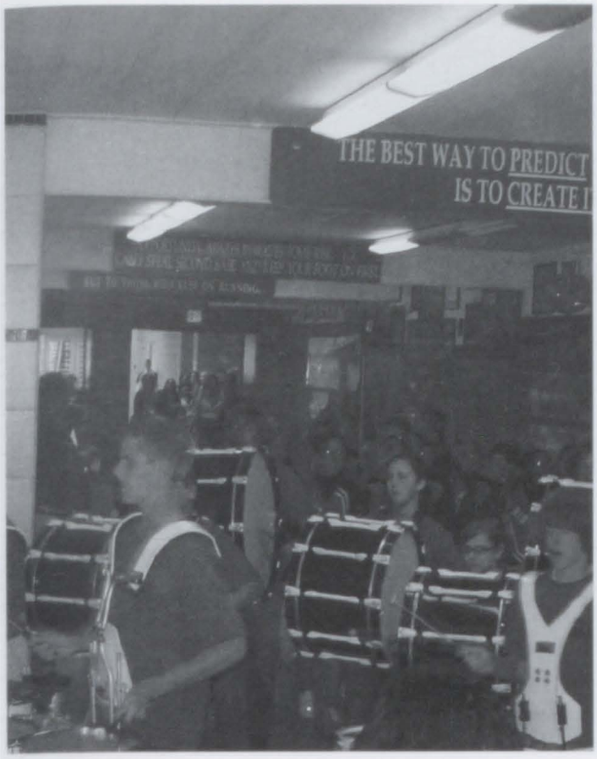
After all their work and practices were over, the day of judgement approached. On Tuesday October 3 the MSBOA Band Festival was hosted at Memorial Stadium. At the end they received a Division One rating.

The band led the way on Friday October 6 during the Homecoming Parade. They visited Central and Chippewa Middle Schools. During the Homecoming football game when the Queen's name was announced, everyone in the band got up and cheered for Erin Jones (07), a BRMM member.

During the annual Bandtastic Concert, the Marching Band played their marching and pep band songs, accompanied by the freshman Concert Band players. The pep band songs included "All Star," "Rocky," "Chicken Dance," "Hey Song," and the school "Fight Song."

Continuing into his second year as the voice of the band, Mr. Geoff Hering announced the BRMM's halftime show.

During the beginning of every football game the Big Red Marching Machine members marched into the P and the H while playing the school's "Fight Song" and ending it with the "Star Spangled Banner."



Before the Pep Assembly the Big Red Marching Machine marches through the hallways, playing the Fight Song, around the school to support the football team on their game against Northern.

Performing the wave, Drum Majors Tyler Osburn (07), Colleen Lum (08), and William Rock (07) starts off the Bantastic Concert with both the Concert Band and Big Red Marching Machine members.

Dancin' to a New Beat

Thunderbirds Take the Floor

After a well earned trip to Nationals last April, the Thunderbirds spent this year rebuilding.

The dance team had five returning members, and only had one freshman on the team.

"Being a Thunderbird was an experience I will never forget. Dancing is more work than people think, but it was fun," said Assistant Captain Kristi Radatz (09).

The Thunderbirds began their year at Band Camp where they learned their flag routine and to march in time with the BRMM. The officers choreographed two of the flag routines for their field show.

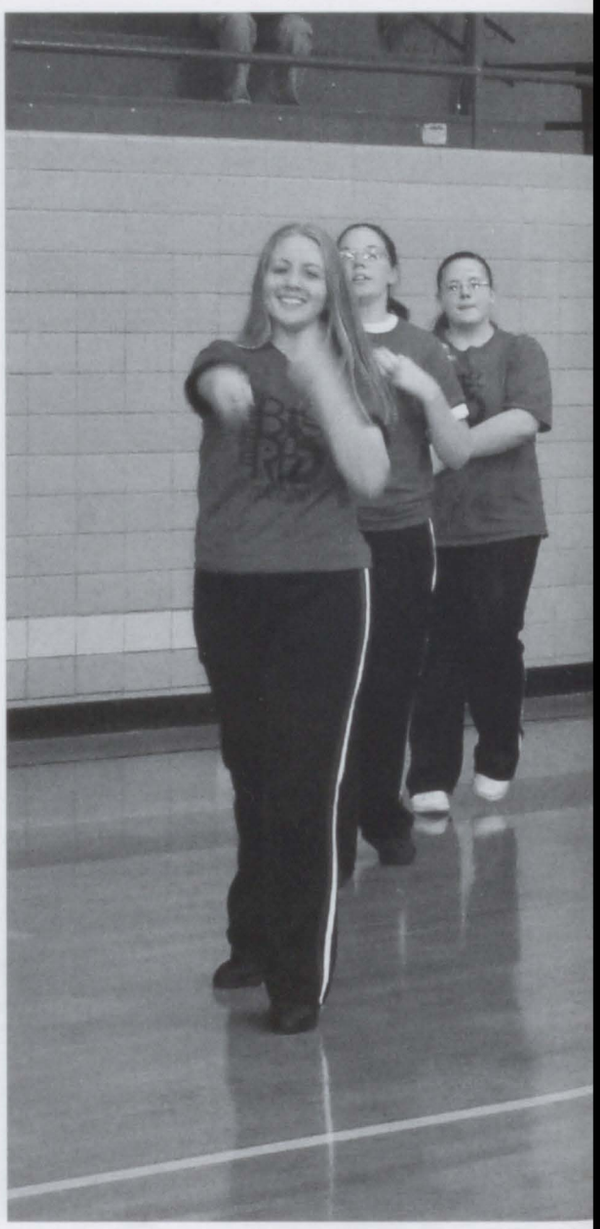
"We bonded with the band and formed everlasting memories, like 'ditditie, ditditie," said Secretary Jessica Long (08).

At the end of the football season the dance team lost their seven-year coaches. But new hope arose with the new head coach Kariann Radatz, a former Thunderbird.

The team's focus moved to their dance competition season, which kicked off at Hazel Park on November 19th, 2006. The girls later hosted two competitions, one in December and another in February. They also competed at HPAC's competition and at the State competition. Then the team took the opportunity to perform for their peers at three home basketball games.

During the competition season the girls performed in three categories: pom, lyrical, and officer. All these routines had a little bit of choreography from each dancer.

"The team choreographed the lyrical routine together and every girl had a little solo; it was an experience to learn a new aspect of dance," said Captain Angelina Taylor (07).



As part of the Big Red Marching Machine the Thunderbirds march on the field, in parades, and through the halls dancing to the music. They performed with the BRMM at a Fall Pep Assembly.

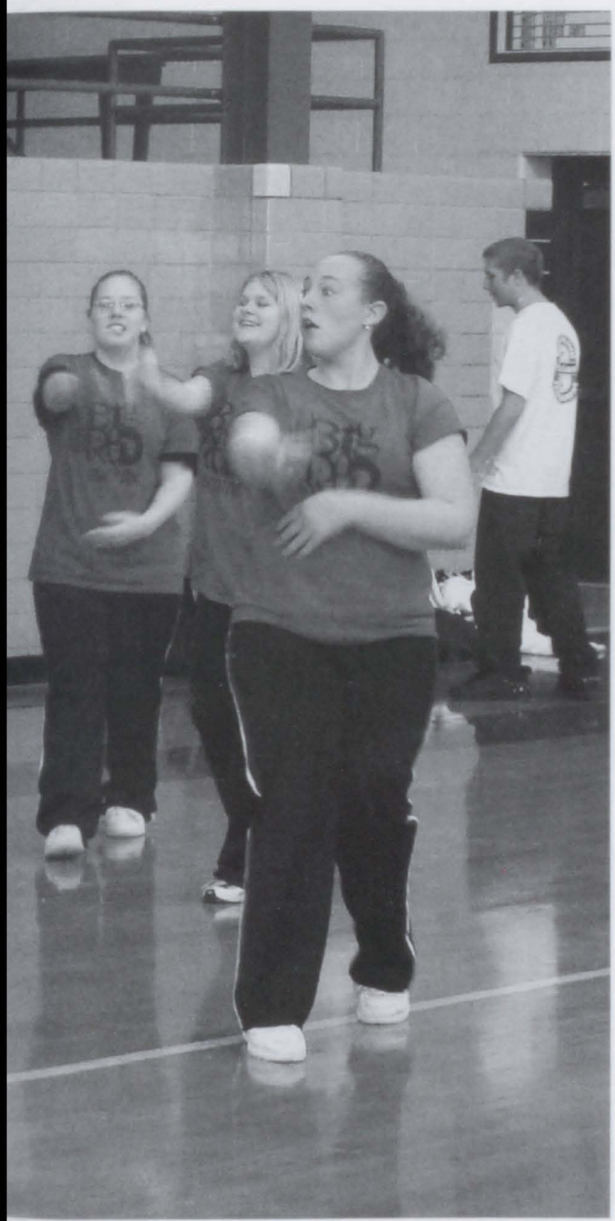
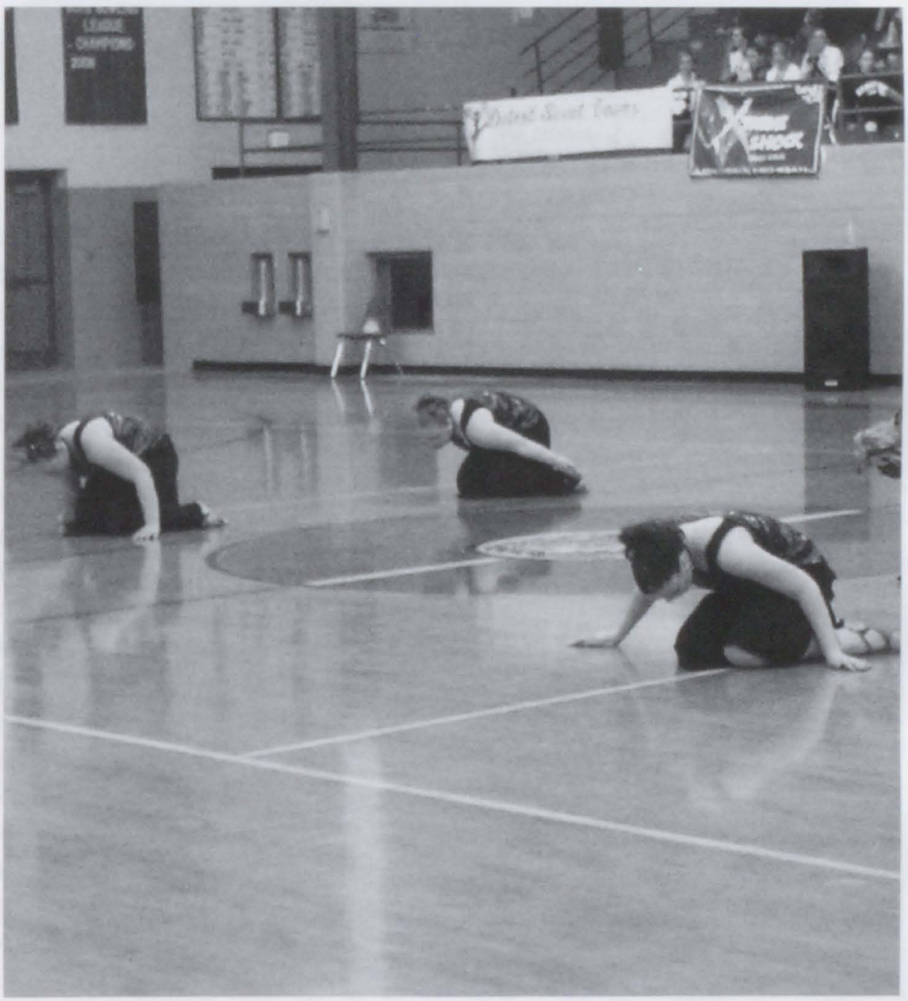
The girls hit their end position to their pom routine during the close of their performance at the PH vs. St. Clair basketball game.





In the lyrical routine "Savin' Me" by Nickleback, Kristi Radatz (09), Jessica Long (08), and Breigh Edmondson (08) fall to their end positions.

The cast of "The Supers" included many characters like Batman and Robin, Cat Woman, The Laundry Monster, Superman, Super Girl, The Green Lantern, and Lex Luther.

Action!

On with the show

"Welcome Thespians!" Drama this year started with ...Drama. Many of the students were concerned about the Pay-to-Play, because to be in one play actors and techs had to pay the fifty dollar fee. But surprisingly, that did not stop students from joining Drama.

At the start of the season it was the Night of One Acts which consisted of four plays that were directed by interested seniors. The play performed first was "Never Cry Book," directed by Aubrey Dixson (07); the second was "Beauty is a Beast," directed by Ashley Finch (07); the third was "The Supers," directed by Jared Jarvis (07), and the final play was "Drop Dead, Juliet," co-directed by Luke Sheldon (07) and Halley Bolt (07).

Along with the One Acts, this club put on two other plays; the straight play in January called "Anatomy of Grey" and the musical in April was "Beauty and the Beast."

Along with the actors, the drama productions also included a Tech Club of students working with lights and sound, and giving instruction to the actors. This sub club met when needed or when a show was going on. The Tech-Club helped with things that were needed of them; they worked with the flying machine and equipment used in the flying productions. When working the lights, the tech members also used the gel-colored lens to change light color during the productions through out the year.

One of the main things that they did was film for CPS-6, the school channel. Many productions were placed on this channel and the Tech-Club does most of the recording for this.

And What Else?

More Possibilities

Ever wondered what club or organization is right for you? Besides the largest organizations there were more possibilities. Business Professionals of America (BPA), Figure Skating, the Wednesday Morning Prayer Group and The Sons Outreach Program were just a few others to choose from.

BPA was one way that some students prepared themselves for the business world. Jocelyn Ruck (07) who participated in the BPA Regional Leadership Conference at Baker College in January, won the award for Advanced Office System and Procedures. There were 43 categories for awards, including computerized accounting, financial concepts, and office skills.

For the physically active there was the Figure Skating Team. "My favorite part about skating is competing and also the Annual Ice Show where we get to have fun and skate with our friends," stated freshman Brianna Black who has been skating for 10 years. The Figure Skating Team competed with other high school teams throughout the state.

"The 'Remnant' Prayer and Bible study groups give students a chance to express their faith and come together with other Christian students to study the Bible, pray, and to get to know other students," stated Ms. LaNeisha Murphy, the group's adviser. The majority of the students who attended were Christians, but students of other religions were welcome.

The SONS Outreach had basketball programs, dance teams, and dramas for individuals who loved to be involved.

These community organizations added choices for students.

At a Quiz Bowl practice Jessica Barno (10), Molly Robison (10), Christina Cutler (08), and Sarah Gliniecki (08) await a question.

Thomas Fielitz (08), Benjamin Jones (09), and Zachary Crumb (10) attempt to figure out the problem before buzzing in to answer.

"Buzz"

The Sounds of Quiz Bowl

A single voice speaks, all ears listen intently. One pair of eyes lights up; then, the quick flash of a hand and a buzzer sounds. Well that pretty much guarantees it was the Quiz Bowl team practicing or competing in a game.

"I love Quiz Bowl! Everyone has their own thing that they are best at and it really is a team effort," said Christina Cutler (08).

Even though Quiz Bowl is a game of knowledge, not everyone who joins has to know everything because the team is made up of people who specialize in one or more categories. With over 25 players, everyone can't answer. Each round is made up of 3 periods and in those 3 periods only 4 players can be up to answer in each period, but can be switched with one of the players sitting out.

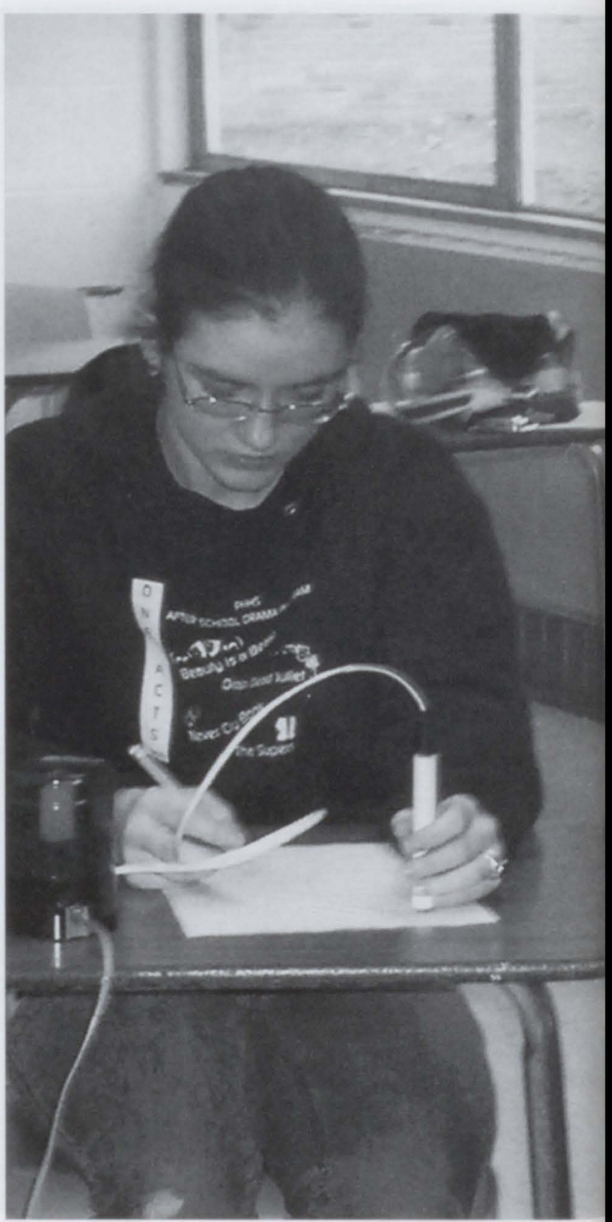
"It was an odd coincidence that I had just studied for my lit exam and a word from it, "exposition," was a question in Quiz Bowl," said Zachary Crumb (10).

The Quiz Bowl team was managed by advisor Mr. William Doyle, who came back after winning second place with last year's team The senior players dominated the team last year, but this year the freshman players outnumbered the veterans 3 to 1.

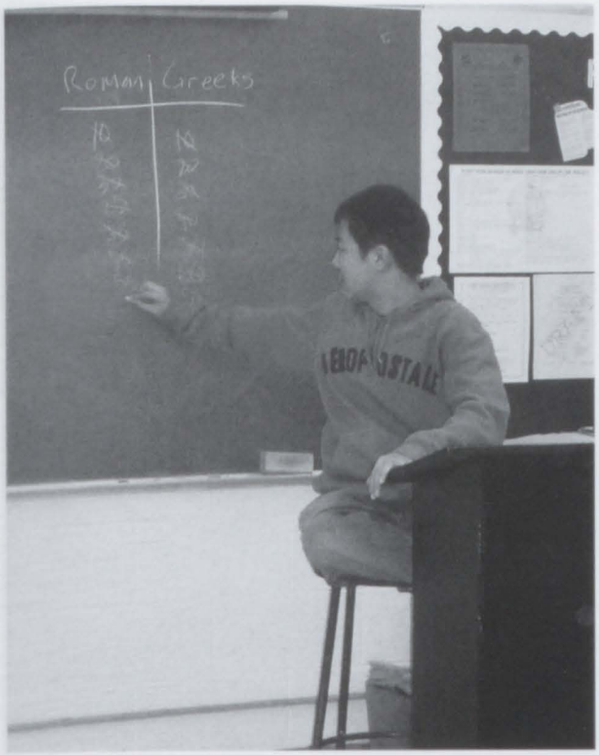
"I joined Quiz Bowl because I liked being part of it last year and was recommended by my last advisor to join again in high school," said Jonathan Cook (10).

Then at their first game they won 3 games and lost 3. The Varsity team had 2 wins and the Junior Varsity had 1 win. On their second game they had 3 wins 3 losses same as last time.

Thomas Fielitz (08) said, "It's as much fun as it has been the past two years, and it looks like we're going to have a great season."



After hearing the question, Christina Cutler (08) and Sarah Gliniecki (08) work out the question.



Henry Chen (10) keeps score at practices, which were Wednesday after school.

Down the Lanes

Rolling... Rolling... Hit... STRIKE!

What exactly is it that the members of the Bowling Club have in common? The answer to this question is the absolute love of fun through bowling.

Britany Whitenight (09) said she joined Bowling Club "to have fun and hang out with friends."

Students did not have to be great bowlers to join the club, as average scores ranged from sixty, all the way to two hundred and sixty-five; so there was plenty of room for any rank, from rookie to pro.

Many students said they entered the club to hang out with their friends, or just for the fun of the game. Amber DuDock (09) said, "Bowling helps me with my anger management. It's sweetness like that." Ten new people joined the Bowling Club this year, making a total of thirty-five members.

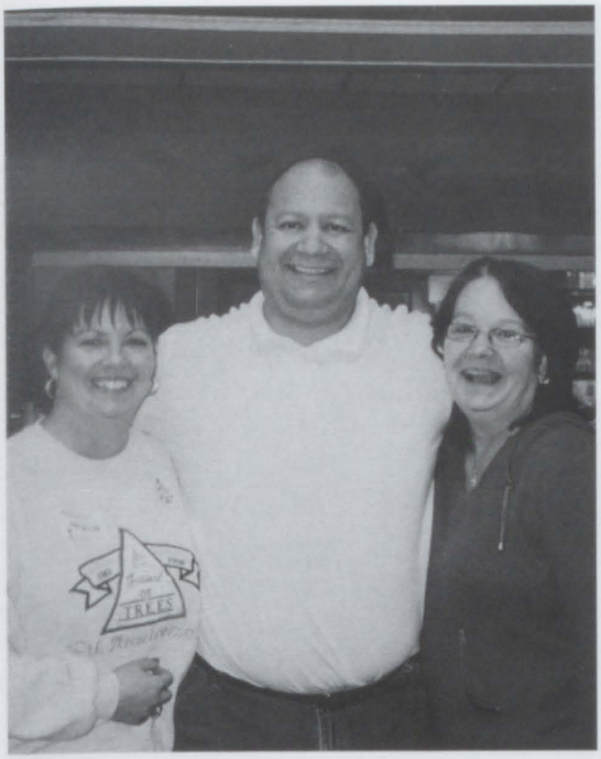
Mr. Juan Hernandez has enjoyed being the advisor of the club for the past six years. He said the Bowling Club existed before he took it over, but it was inactive for a while, until he got it going again. Mr. Hernandez said he chose to be the advisor of the club because "for the most part it's fun, and I get to know many students I would not have met."

The club members delighted themselves with snacks, candy, pizza, and music, as they rolled their balls down the lanes.

The Bowling Club met from 2:45 until 5:00 once a week. Blue Water Bowl was the hot spot for some light competition.

The fee was $4.00 per week, which paid for shoe rental, three games, and the club's end of the season parties.

Having tons of fun, Joseph Cole (08), Shirley Thomas (08), Megan Tallmadge (08), and Britany Whitenight (09) step off of the floor and chill for a couple minutes as they wait for their next turn to step up to bowl.



Mrs. Sue Horan, Mr. Juan Hernandez, and Ms. Karen Campbell, the manager of the bowling alley, supervise and advise of the Bowling Club.

"Bowling Club is fun. Mr. Hernandez does a great job supervising. It's a great after-school activity (to be a part of)," explained David Horan (09).

Teams Gear Up

Mission: Possible

Call it Mission: Possible! Coaches dropped clues to players and kept top secret playbooks. Spies scouted the opposing teams for insight that would lead to victory. Private huddles, coded gestures and cryptic messages sent player agents onto the courts or fields after completed training sessions.

Regardless of the sport, whether played by male or female, new or experienced, athletes sacrificed countless hours for the good of the whole as they represented PHHS at home and away.

Despite the pay-to-play decision, the school was able to keep all of last year's sports active, and they even added a Lacrosse Team.

When they squared off with foes, face to face, practically shooting laser beams of challenge from their eyes, the Big Reds made their antagonists and supporters alike take heed. Together with all members, each team was a force to reckon with. Examples included the Rebels who started their season in first place; girls and boys Cross Country which sent players to States; the Bowling Team which led the league and boys Soccer which captured first place.

"I really like playing sports in school; it keeps me busy and active. I always learn something new," stated Hannah Kostanecki (08).

The multiple days of training paid off as they faced their adversaries with confidence; they knew each game or match was mission: possible.

Off the Tee

Onto the Green

What makes a good golfer? Coach Mr. Keith Hodge replied, "Good judgement and determintation." It also takes hard work.

With only two returning golfers and five new players, Coach Hodge and Assistant Coach Ms. Kris Pettengil knew the season would be a challenge, and was given the name of the "rebuilding" season. "Practices were long and hard, but all around I know I became a better golfer with their help," said first year golfer Kaitlin Addley (08). Practices included shooting at the driving ranges and playing three or five holes.

"I have been playing golf for a while now and I decided to join the team to meet some new friends and play golf at the same time," said Ashley Peterson (09), also a first year golf team member.

There were good things that came out of this season including a record broken by Kaitlin Addley (08). Kaitlin set the record by making only twelve putts in nine holes. Seasoned player Ashley Janderwski (07), improved her stokes from the pervious year by 10 and received Fore Lake's Top Player Award.

The season had its ups and downs; the team finshed in 4th place at the divison match and finished with a tie for 11th place out of 16 at Regionals, with an all around season score of 2 wins and 6 losses.

At practice, Danielle Schram (07) makes an attempt to reach the green on a par 4 hole after teeing off.

With one final serve, the Boys Varsity Tennis season came to a close with scores of seven wins, four losses and one draw.

During practice, the boys played challenge matches, volleying back and forth, working on ground strokes and most important, perfecting their serve. "The boys worked really hard this year and pulled off some reallly close matches," said Coach Mr. Greg Berra. Practices were long and tiring but reallly helped the boys in their game.

"I know that because of practices and the help from my coaches that I became a better player," said Andrew Hart (08). "This was was a good season for me."

The boys also worked hard with the extra motivation from Coach Mrs. Lori Shymko, who offered to buy a milkshake for winning a match 8-0.

The Junior Varsity Boys Tennis Team had an interesting season of 4 wins, 8 losses and 1 tie. "We had a tough time this season, but we made the best of it, and I'm really proud of my team," commented Coach Mr. Steven Gostinger.

First year tennis player Matthew Tippie (09) stated, "I'm really excited that I learned how to play tennis this year. It was fun and challenging. The coaches were a big help in improving my game."

Number one varsity singles player Brett Lynch (07), sets up for an ace.

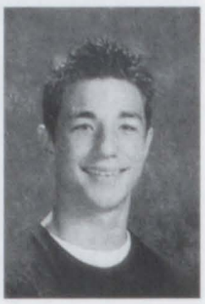
Sam Seppo's favorite--the first man in the world to win the 400m twice--Michael Johnson. In 1999 he broke the world record for the 200m with 19.32 seconds and the 400m with 43.18 seconds.



Breaking the freshman one mile time record, Garrett Gardner (09) comes around the curve on his third of four laps.

Running with his personal techinique, Deandre Bankston (08) leaps for the long jump event during the last track meet at Utica High School.

Captain James Senyk (06) runs as the guys' anchor, the fourth leg, during the 3,200 Meter Relay.

Andrew Davis (07) pulls himself into the air to pole vault over the bar during practice and warm ups before the meet began.

From the Start

"5, 4, 3, 2, 1, and.....jump." Trevor Baker (09) starts off his track career as one of the top boys pole vaulters. His personal record for the year was 13 feet and 3 inches during the meet at Warren Mott.

The boys were not ahead in the MAC league but, "We were a work in progress," said Assistant Coach Mr. William Prout.

"Practice and team spirit is what it was all about this year," said Garrett Gardner (09). During the meet at Warren Mott, Brockton Feltman (09) broke the freshman record for the one mile run after all the team spirit, energy, and practice.

During meets, there was cheering from teammates, coaches and fans that seemed to pump the runners up. In the 400 meters, or longer runs, cheering was heard all around the track.

At practice, there were consecutive hand-off repetitions. Field events were practiced over and over. Starts from the blocks for sprinters were rehearsed and long distance "city runs" were held.

"We never left it up to the last event or race to try and win the meet, we pushed through the whole way and tried our best," said freshman Justin Kindle.

"The guys continued to work hard, and we can expect to have more success in the near future," said the Head Coach Mr. Michael Pionk.

Out of the starting block and over the first hurdle, Andrew Ellery (08) leads with his right leg and wins the race.

Winning second place at the Lowell Speiss Relays held at Port Huron High's track, the team took a moment to get together to celebrate their victory.

Leading with her left leg, Anginene Riser (08) warms up jumping hurdles before her race.

Taking first place, Ashley Bowden (06), jumps for the long jump event for the Varsity Lady Big Reds.

Coming out of her starting block, Ashley Ahles (08), starts the 4 x 200 meter relay team off with a head start against Warren Mott.

From the Track

To the Field

We're number one! At the meets, the girls stayed in the lead. Losing against only one team, Eisenhower, they proved themselves to be the best team in the area.

"Not only the running events on the track helped to make these wins possible; it also involved, hard work and dedication from field events, as well," said Coach Mr. Eddie Kindle at a pep talk during practice.

First Division State Champion Chelsey Bonney (08) was the long distance runner who showed success throughout the whole season. During the Northern Husky Relays as the anchor, or the fourth leg, she caught up to her apponents after being behind by about 200 meters.

With a new Head Coach, Port Huron Big Red girls had some adjustments to make. Coach Mr. Eddie Kindle worked with the girls at practice and supported them during the meets. Their Assistant Coach was again, Mrs. Brandie Kindle.

Captain Ashley Bowden (06) broke her personal record and the school record with nine feet in the long jump. Latisha Mitchell (06) broke her personal record in discus of a 114 feet and two inch throw during the Lowell Speiss Relays. Caitlyn Bonney (08) and Chelsey Bonney (08) were the "long distance beasts." "It's all a matter of practice and the team cheering us on," said Caitlyn Bonney. "All we need is to know we have our teammates behind us," she added.

Head and shoulders first, Jessica Cogwell (08) high jumps for the Girls' Varsity.

"The Detroit Tigers are my favorite baseball team. They encourage me to try my best because of all the hard work they do to get their game at their best. Even if they lose a game or two they never quit or give up until the game is over, even if it seem hopeless," said Andrew Page (09).

The Tigers made it to the playoffs for the first time in 19 years. Carlos Guillen was named the Tiger of the Year, and Justin Verlander was named AL Rookie of Year. Pitcher Kenny Rogers and Catcher Ivan "Pudge" Rodriguez were given Golden Glove Awards. General Manager Jim Leyland was also named American League Manager of the Year. He is only the third manager to win the title in both the American League and the National League.

According to a student survey, Jennifer Finch was the favorite professional player. Jennifer was born on September 30, 1980, and raised in La Mirada, California. She has been an Olympic Gold Medalist pitcher with team USA since 1998, with the exception of 1999, where the team earned a silver medal. In 2001, Jennifer posted a 2-0 record, with a perfect game against Guatemala. She currently holds the NCAA record for consecutive wins at 60 in the course of three seasons. Finch is also a two-time recipient of the Honda Award, presented to the nation's best softball player. On Friday, May 9, 2003, the University of Arizona retired her jersey at Hillenbrand Stadium in a pre-game ceremony. Jennifer Finch is Natalie Allen's (08) favorite softball player.

Break the Record

Beyond the Score

The final score of a winning game or a MAC championship is not the only thing that made up a winning season. Without memories and passion for the sport, any soccer season would be lost.

The deep passion for soccer earned the girls many wins and moments they will always remember. The team agreed that one of the best memories was beating a team one division higher. "I will never forget the game against Anchor Bay. They are in a higher MAC than us and they thought it would be an easy win, but we played hard and won!" Jessica Fiedler (07) recalled. The other top memory was crushing Northern six to zero after they tied during their first competition.

The Varsity team welcomed three freshmen, Samantha Warsalla, Katrina Oberski, and Kierstin Dewitt, to their squad. They fit right in with the all juniors and seniors on the team. About half way through the season, Coach Mr. Dennis Shannon pulled up Rebecca Jackson (09) to play at the varsity level.

The 2006 varsity captains were Renee Privette (06), Andrea Edgerton (06) and Kelly Reina (06). The 2006 junior varsity captains were Melissa Bailey (08) and Emily Miller (08).

For the first time, the junior varsity team was limited to only freshmen and sophomores. No juniors played on the JV team unless the coaches felt they would benefit the varsity team next season.

After the ball goes out of play, Jessica Fiedler (07) throws it back in to her teammates.

The Long Run

Miles and miles of Port Huron roads led the Girls Cross Country team to wins mid-season.

They didn't have to try out to participate in Cross Country, but they did have to work hard. Cross Country was a tough way to stay physically fit. The girls ran a half mile for warm up every day, six days a week, followed by running up to six miles. It wasn't easy, but they got the job done.

"Coach Moger tells us that 90% of our pain is mental, and 10% is actually muscle pain," said Katie Dusablon (08).

Amber Hunter (07) said she made a trip to Jimmy's for a reward after beating her personal best time. Cross Country was an individual sport, but the girls still had to work together as a team.

Coach Mr. George Moger inspired each of the girls; he didn't just sit and watch them at practice, he got up and ran right with them. He rewarded them by hosting dinners at his own house for the girls.

Juniors, Chelsey and Caitlyn Bonney who are sisters, made it to States.

Hannah Kostanecki (08) stated, "Everyone is friends, it's like one big family."

Rewarded with a dinner at Coach Moger's the girls celebrate after winning a second place trophy at the Cros-Lex Invitational.

From Start

To Finish

"We have made a good improvement over last year! We have a very young team, and I am excited about Big Red Cross Country future!" said Coach Mr. William Prout. The Big Red Boys Cross Country Team finished the season with 8 wins and 9 losses. The boys pushed themselves hard to win.

Luke Privette (08) did a fantastic job and made it all the way to States where he placed 108th with the time of 16:42.

"It was mainly my eighth grade track coach, Mr. Carl Mueller, and my dad who encouraged me to try Cross Country," said Luke Privette (08).

Cross Country runners often found another competitive running opportunity during track season. Tyler Jackson (10) said, "Cross country is better than track because running in circles is so boring."

At a practice the boys would go on city runs, and also they would go on bridge runs. "The bridge run is my favorite because it's about 8 miles long; it's a slow and easy run; but it's great for stretching muscles; it helps me loosen up," said Robert Oliver (09).

The boys took first place at the Mike Jackson Memorial Invitational at Croswell-Lexington High.

Noah Prout (09) pushes himself to try and win the race. This was Noah's second year on the team.

MAC GOLD CHAMPS

Going for Gold!

Continuing from last year's season of firsts with the Varsity's victory over cross-town rivals Port Huron Northern, this year Varsity Soccer added MAC Gold division champions to their list of accomplishments.

It was a trying and intense game but the Big Reds prevailed to a six to one victory over Warren Woods Tower. " Winning the division game was great, we worked real hard as a team and it couldn't have felt better," stated Frank Hudson (09).

Varsity went on to compete in two district games. It was a wet and rainy victory for Varsity that didn't come without team work. Goalie Miles Keller (09) saved all attempted goals but one, Samuel Seppo (08), Jens Wesselmann (07), and Colton Perugia (07) all helped score for the first district game against L'Anse Creuse. The game ended with a score of the Big Reds three and L'Anse Creuse one.

Varsity ended the season with a league record of 8-2-2, and overall record of 14-3-2.

The Junior Varsity team had a very eventful season with first time players to the game and new players to the team. "... I scored the first goal and this was my first year playing soccer, the team mentioned it seemed like I'd played before," said Jeremy Barnum (08). J.V. ended with a league record of 7-1-4 and overall of 10-2-5.

Aces, volleys, winners, and rallies are all important aspects when playing the game of tennis. The matches can be extremely intense and grueling, but with the right amount of practice and the desire to win anyone can succeed.

With two new coaches Ms. Sarah Robinson and Ms. Katelyn Morris, the Junior Varsity Tennis Team had a great season with 5 wins, 2 losses and 2 ties. "It was exciting getting to coach; the girls worked really hard and I'm so proud of how the season turned out," stated Coach Ms. Katelyn Morris. The JV practices were really tough. They consisted of a mixture of line drills, running the track, challenge matches and practice sets.

Varsity practices were quite different. They included working on angling and practicing placement. They also used the ball machine. The Varsity team also had a good season with 5 wins, 4 losses and 2 ties. "Practices are so much fun. We always have a good time playing in matches and playing Beat the Champ," commented Elizabeth Burgess (08).

The Varsity team also traveled to Traverse City where they had a chance to bond and compete in a Door Decorating Contest.

At regionals the number three singles players Heather Hillman (09) and number four singles Allison May (09) made it to the finals and both took second place in their heat.

Bring It to the Field

Game-Faces On

"To get pumped up for big games I like to listen to a little music and say a quick little prayer in my head," said Durrand Ashford (09).

Both junior varsity and freshmen gained bragging rights with wins over Port Huron Northern. "The best game played this year was the game against Northern because I got the chance to play, and I tackled the running back," commented Michael Hayosh (10).

"The best part of being on the JV football team was being able to hit other people and other schools. It also helped me to get rid of some stress," said Phillip Gouin (09).

"The best game we had this season to me was Roseville because we were physically and mentally ready to play the game, and we won the game," said Kyle Watson (08).

Practice consisted of passing and receiving the ball, kicking and running down the field with the ball.

"The most important thing I learned from the coach was it really takes a team to get things done; in practice and in games, play as a team, win as a team," said Matthew Wilcox (09).

"The best part of being on the Freshmen football team was meeting new people and trying new things," said Joshua Kilbourne (10).

Freshmen player Mitchell Petoskey is tackled at the 20 yard line, but still holds on to the ball with no chance of dropping it.

The Big Reds, red and white rivals Chippewa Valley and PHHS go head-on tackling to keep the opponents from scoring any touchdowns.

After the tackle, the Shamrocks cannot pull ahead as the Big Reds defeat them 63 to 15.

A Season of Possibilities

"Our offense was clicking on all the cylinders and our defense was good," said Coach Mr. Joe Gilbert about the game against East Detroit. The scores proved to L'Anse Creuse, Roseville, and East Detroit that our the team especially showed team work.

In a heartbreaker, the Big Reds lost to cross-town rivals, Northern by a single touchdown.

Captains, Cody Allen (07), Jonathan Blake (07), Aaron Robinson (07), and Mark Ross (07) played in every game, except for the East Detroit game which Mark Ross missed after pulling a leg muscle during an earlier practice. Even though he was on crutches, he showed up to support his team.

The game against Chippewa Valley, the Big Reds had to win to advance into States. Unfortunately the game ended the season for Port Huron with a score of 36 to 26. "I played hard, and we were too good of a team to be losing the way we did," said senior, Mark Ross.

The head kicker, sophomore, Christopher Tatti, scored all the field goals, never missing a kick. Daniel Stroyan, a freshman, was another PH kicker.

"I played my heart out and gave it my all. It's a shame we had to lose like that," said Nicholas McCoy (07). Coming so close to Districts, the Big Reds showed improvement as a team, ending the season 5 to 4.

Down for the hike, the Big Reds prepare themselves for the play ahead of them.

Moving Up

Bring it Home

"Layups, jumpshots, and good defense are all the key things they needed to move up," said Kierstin Dewitt (09). The great game of basketball is what all the girls love and wanted to continue playing. "Many players worked to gain the respect and appreciation of their teammates and coaches," said Melissa Delano (09), a guard for the JV team. Everyone had input to everything the team accomplished.

The season started kind of rocky for both the JV and Freshman teams. They struggled in the beginning of the season to understand the basic fundamentals of team work. Also, they had to learn to believe in themselves and their teammates. Everyone displayed the true Big Red spirit when they started winning their games and showing both fans and opponents how it's done at Big Red country.

The Freshmen ended their season with 6 wins and 14 losses. "We were very determined and willing to work together after coming from different schools," said Kristen Morris (10).

The JV team finished their season with 7 wins and 13 losses. "We worked hard to better our defense and offense, but in the end it wasn't enough," said Lindsay Henderson (09). The Freshman and JV teams both enjoyed their season.

Unpredictable

Foul Them Out

The Big Reds Varsity took down the Anchor Bay Ashorians-- twice in their season. The Varsity girls learned how to work as a team and how to develop individual skills. The lessons helped with late season games.

"Practice makes perfect and practice is what the girls did everyday to build a healthy and strong team," said Jessica Kindle (08). "Teamwork is the key, you shall not win without it." The Varsity girls had to conquer their fears of playing against bigger teams.

They started off rocky, everything they were taught needed to fall into place and fast. Talking on the court and understanding how everyone plays were two of the major things they needed to understand if they wanted to win.

According to Meghan Curtiss (08), Coach Mr. George Popa told his team not to make any kind of predictions on how they were going to play. "It's not going to help us win, it's only going to help us lose."

By the end of the season they understood what their coach was trying to say, plus Katrina Oberski (09) earned her spot as a guard and spark plug to help them. After twenty-nine years of coaching Mr. George Popa tearfully announced his retirement at the 2006 Girls Sports Banquet.

Fast Break

Hustling down the court pushing the ball, they make it for the beautiful fast break layup; was it the Freshman or the JV team?

The Junior Varsity boys having bascially the same team as last year, came in knowing what to do and expect at the high school level. Coach Mr. Jeremy Rosenau knew that the boys needed dedication, and trust in themselves, and he believes "the whole team brings just that."

"I was excited to find out that I was on the team, and I had the opportunity to step my game up and show the improvements I had made after my freshman year," said Michael Johnson (09).

The JV boys knew how to keep the crowd pumped by showing them some of their freestyle skills and the special no look passes. The boys definately played as a team when they knew it was crunch time.

The freshman coach, Mr. Ken Parlardg stated, "This is the best group of of boys I've had as far as using teammates." Many players believed that it was going to be tough to work with everyone from different schools.

"I didn't know what to expect when we first started off dealing with a new coach," said Marcus Bankston (10). "It wasn't that bad after we got use to and comfortable with the work."

Starting off the season was hectic, but the team dedicated themselves everyday. The team had a rough start in the beginning which came with losing some games. However, after they started applying themselves, they turned it around.

"I give these guys a lot of credit," said Coach Moger. "They made a comeback!"

The boys really knew how to play as a team this year. They were always keeping a look out for the ball and used their passing skills to the maximum.

The Big Reds gave their all for every game. "We played every game to the fullest and if we lost, then we knew that our best wasn't enough and we had to work harder," said Chase McFarlane (07).

"Practice was really tough but it paid off," said Samuel Seppo (08). From dribbling to passing and shooting, teamwork was the main ingredient. The practice included scrimmages, running drills and shooting skills.

"Coach Moger knew exactly what to expect of us (since) how most of us were on the team last year," said Nicholas Oberski (07).

With every good practice, comes a great game. The team finally learned how to make a perfect practice.

After a slow start to the season, the Big Reds were able to capture their first victory against Madison Heights Lamphere. Adam Hutchinson (08), Trevor Baker (09), Ronald Lowe (07), and Oramel Burnham (07) each notched in a goal. Nicholas Jowett (07), Cody Allen (07), and Jonathan Blake (07) all earned assists.

The team participated in the Holiday Tournament held at McMorran Arena over the Thanksgiving weekend. They faced off against Port Huron Northern, but unfortunately came up short, but it took double overtime to do it. Two of the goals came from Nicholas Jowett (07), with the third from Oramel Burnham (07).

The ball is up, and the serve completed with an ace. That was one of the goals for both the JV and Freshman Volleyball teams. Getting psyched up before a match was one step toward achieving that goal and other goals.

Preparation for the games included the inevitable practice sessions after school and mental readiness, too. Several of the girls, including Lauren Glombowski (10), Kristen Warsinske (10), and Stephine Reid (10), listened to music with their friends to get pumped before a big game. Their coach, Ms. Lindsay Redlawsk inspired them to cheer for each other and work together to win a game.

"In the huddle she (Ms. Lindsey Redlawsk) tells us what to do and usually tells us to relax and do our best," said Kristen Langolf (10).

The JV team also had help from their coach when getting ready.

"Our coach (Ms. Cheryl Lay) inspired me by motivating us to do well, and told us to give everything we have, and if we do that, the outcome doesn't matter," said Samantha Warsalla (09).

Weigh In Time

Take 'Em Down

"I say two" and "Pin, pin,..." were chanted from the sidelines as the Big Reds cheered for their teammates on the mat.

This year's team was not a group of individuals but a team. They cheered for each other from the sidelines during the team matches and the stands during the individual meets. "It feels more like a family and it's like a brotherhood! We wrestle good together," said Kyle Hill (07).

The beginning of the winter sports brought some changes in the school. The wrestlers had to say good-bye to their beloved wrestling room, which became an art classroom. They moved their practices into the cafeteria. They moved all the mats into the storage room next to the kitchen. The switch to the cafeteria was not that bad. The cafeteria allowed the wrestlers more room to move and no worries about running into stairs or a pole. "The cafeteria gives us more room to go free," said four-year wrestler Mark Thompson.

The team had an excellent season with a team finish of third at the Richmond Team Invitational. "We fought through injuries and wrestled hard all the way," Aaron Robinson (07).

Goals & Birdies

From an older sport like golf to the new sport Lacrosse, PH had it all.

"Out of all of the years that I have been on the golf team, this year has been by far the best for me because I really improved in every area and became more confident," said Eric Bradbury (08).

The team won nine out of the twelve matches played. During the first match against Fraser, they won by a total of twenty-three points. The Big Red of the Year Award went to Garrett Benner (07) with an average of 44.8. The best tournament score of the season was also given to him with a score of 83 at the League Meet.

The best match score of the season was awarded to John Cavis (08) with a score of 39 at a tournament vs. Cousino, Frasier, and Lakeview. "This season turned out to be one of the best ones that I have ever had," said Steven Curtiss (07).

A new addition to the variety of sports at Port Huron High School was Lacrosse, which is the fastest growing sport in The United States. The Lacrosse Team was new to PHHS last year and is continuing to grow.

"Being on the Lacrosse team gave me the opportunity to learn a new sport," said Matthew Bachler (07). Because the sport was unsponsored, athletes had to pay for everything.

While at practice, Justin Peltz (07) putts the ball and waits to see how it will turn out.

The University of Kentucky cheerleading team has won UCA's National College Cheerleading Championship fifteen times, which is more than any other Division 1A school. This is the only team to win back-to-back championships.

Having finished in the top ten every year since the existence of the UCA National College Championships, each year the squad is seen on the ESPN televised Championships. They compete in several competitions against the toughest teams.

This team has been through tumbling, stunting and perfecting every little thing they do in order to make it to the championships.

Pausing from the game, the Junior Varsity cheerleaders strike a pose.

This is Cheer-A-Tivity

Using a dash of creativity, the cheerleaders spiced things up a bit. They designed signs for the crowd to respond to. "The crowd loved the signs, which made it more fun for us to do the cheers," said Megan Slowinski (08).

The teams added more school spirit in the last two weeks of the season by spelling PHHS with their poms. They also made red and black wooden boxes to stand on. "The boxes were fun because we got to be eye-to-eye with the crowd! It was great," stated Nicole Warren (07).

The Freshman and Junior Varsity girls were limited to home football games, so they added home boys' soccer games to their agenda. "It was a different experience to cheer at soccer games because nobody has ever done it before," said Bailey Klein (09).

As a fun aspect, the team stunted with their coach for the last game. They also made switched up stunt groups for the last game. The flyers made a stunt group, the backspots made one, and the bases made up two stunt groups. They had a stunting competition with the other team's cheerleaders with their new fun stunt groups. "I got to base in a competition. I give my bases a lot of credit for doing that. It's harder than it looks," said Janelle Klaas (08).

During the pep assembly, bases pop Nicole Warren (07) into the air for a double twist.

"I really love our Big Red cheerleaders! They may not be the professional cheerleaders you see on ESPN doing their routines to music, but our girls have taken cheering to a new level. I've always wanted to be a Big Red cheerleader and seeing how much they've improved, it only makes me want to join the team even more.

I love seeing the varsity girls stunt. When they stunt it is so graceful, and it seems so effortless. The Big Red cheerleaders show school pride all the time and even more on game days. I love seeing them supporting our teams and representing the school with their upbeat personalities and their joyful smiles. That's probably the main reason why I would want to be a Big Red cheerleader!" said Junior Ashley Ahles.

Jumping Jamboree

It has been long awaited, but the Varsity cheerleaders finally hosted their very own Competitive Cheer contest.

The PHHS Jamboree was held after school on Thursday, January 11. Teams from Chippewa Valley, Eisenhower, Romeo, Stevenson, and neighboring rival Port Huron Northern attended.

The "Jamboree" was an addition to the season, somewhat similar to a MAC Championship or a regular competition. It split the teams into two different divisons: the Blue and Gold Crossover Division and the Red and White Crossover Division. The Big Red cheerleaders competed in the Red and White Crossover Division.

"The Jamboree was our first competition of the year and third place was a good start for the season," said Samantha Secory (08).

Changes to the cheerleading coaching staff included alumni varsity cheerleaders Amanda Baker and Erica Bouldrey who returned home to Big Red Country to coach the Junior Varsity and the Freshman cheerleading teams, respectively. Ms. Robyn Stevens stayed on for another year as the Varsity coach.

Another highlight of the season was the performance at the Pirates, Port Huron Indoor Football Team game. "We were very excited to cheer at the Pirates game. It was a fun experience," said Junior Kristin Baker.

Carlee Bennett (07), Elizabeth Hartman (08), and Kristin Baker (08) pump up the crowd.

With a six to five year, nothing much could stop the Red Dawgs. They placed second out of five in the League Championship with 273 points, coming in right behind South Lake with 304 points.

The 2006-2007 All-Mac Gold Team consisted of Morgan Jacobs (08), Sarah Johnson (08), Kim Thomas (07), Julia Shenkar (08) and Gabi Basha (10).

The YMCA showed their hospitality to the Red Dawgs Swim Team who held their practices there after school. When they weren't at the local YMCA, they were at the local Sanborn city pool.

It's all about trying to shave off as many seconds as possible, even if it is only by one or two seconds. So practice in all events was important.

Once again the Red Dawgs Swim Team proved that no matter which school they came from they could always put aside their differences for the good of the team.

"Being a senior, I'm sad to leave my RED DAWGS. We made team bonding look so easy even though we are from different schools," said Jessica Fiedler (07).

The former Mac Gold Champs almost reached their goal again, for the second year in a row, but fell just short after being defeated by South Lake in points.

Saddle Up

From Fitting and Showing to Gymkhana speed events, the Equestrian members had to practice not only riding, but also handling their horses.

At the start of the season, the Equestrian Team scored well. In fact, those winning scores continued and took them all the way to Regionals, where they had a disappointing finish.

Every member had a preferred riding style. "I ride saddle seat; it's a form of English riding that uses a double bridle. Meaning there are two bits in the horses mouth, and two reins in the rider's hands instead of one," said Lorraine Shepley (07).

The members of the team were so dedicated that they gave up most of their weekends and sometimes even their afternoons of weekdays to practice, but in the end it paid off. They didn't just get better at riding they also created strong bonds between the members on their team and their horses. Also, extra care of the horses required members to include time for grooming.

Even though the team had regular practices, they also had trainers who helped. Another effective way for them to understand the style classes was to watch and learn from an experienced horse and rider team.

Getting Loud

Bowling Team Scores Big

"When we are at a match we like to be loud. We have sayings, more like little catch words, that we say when someone gets a mark like strike or spare. We will say bulldozer, OPA, baby-baby, nintendo, or bowlin', depending on the person," said Katherine Hatfield (07).

The pizazz of the team's cheers paid off. As the season began the boys team won six out of the nine matches. The girls team had a great start with eight wins and one loss. By February the girls were in first place in the Macomb Area Conference White Division.

The girls and the guys competed on two separate teams, but they played on the same day, and at the same time, but they used different lanes. The Bowling TEam consisted of 14 people, guys and girls combined. The team practices at Port Huron lanes, for them it was like their home court.

During a singles tournament at Warren Mott, Katherine Hatfield (07) came out on top in first place. Following close behind, Staci Hilliard (08) who took second place.

Joshua Bailey's goal for the season was to "get a three hundred baker game, go to States and win!"

Beginner bowler and newcommer to the team, Kaitlyn Meikle (07), had a bit of advice for those learning to bowl, "It's all in your head. Stay focused, have fun, and take it one frame at a time."

At home the girls were golden, beating every team that dared to step foot into the arena. The girls opened their home season with an amazing 6-0 shutout against Mercy. Both at home and away, they were able to do this twice more to Bloomfield Hills, with the final scores of 8-0 and 7-0. This was the third shutout of the year earned by goalie Keri Schmidt (Northern).

To add to the gold, Sarah Bachman (08) scored a hat trick during a game against University Liggett.

The Rebels, the all-female hockey team from PHHS and Northern included four PHHS students: Ashley Janderwski (07), Shawna DeRosia (08), Sarah Bachman (08), and Kirsten Jex (09).

"I think it's a good idea, you get to meet people from your rival school and get to hang out with them a couple days a week," commented Shawna DeRosia (08).

Tryouts were held at McMorran Main Arena and McMorran Pavilion. They consisted mainly of scrimmaging and a little skating. In order to make the team, the girls were expected to show up at every practice, and skate hard.

Each girl had her own reason for wanting to join the team. Kirsten Jex's (09) reason: "I've loved hockey forever and it gave me a chance to advance my game."

A BRAND NEW FACEOFF

The Port Huron Flags professional hockey team returned to town for their second season. They came with a new coach, Stan Drulia; a new assistant coach, Jeff Blum; and only five returning players: Trevor Edwards, Ryan Gillis, Ryan Markham, Jeff Cameron, and Shayne Tomlinson.

The Flags competed in the Eastern Conference along with the Muskegon Fury, the Flint Generals, the Kalamazoo K-Wings, and the Elmira Jackals. The Bloomington Prairiethunder, the Chicago Hounds, the Rockford Icehogs, the Fort Wayne Komets, and the Quad City Mallards made up the Western division.

During the month of December, the Flags went on the longest winning streak in franchise history, winning eight games, and losing the next one in a shootout. One victory was earned at Wings Stadium in Kalamazoo, which ended a 34 month drought in Wings Stadium. This was the first Port Huron victory in Kalamozoo since 2004.

Port Huron also saw a new professional football team roll into town--the Port Huron Pirates. In their inaugural season, the Pirates went undefeated, clinching the Great Lakes Bowl Championship. They competed against the Rochester Raiders, Marion Mayhem, Lehigh Valley Outlawz, New York-New Jersey Revolution, and the Battle Creek Crunch.

Throughout the summer, the Battle Creek Crunch suspended operations, and nine teams were added: the Miami Valley Silverbacks, Springfield Stallions, Muskegon Thunder, Wayne County Rumble, Kalamazoo Xplosion, Steubenville Stampede, New England Surge, Chesapeake Tide, and Chicago. Also, the league changed from the Great Lakes Indoor Football League (GLIFL) to the Continental Indoor Football League (CIFL).

Both teams shared McMorran Arena as the site of all home games. From October through mid-April, the ice was used by the Flags. In mid-April, the ice was taken down and revamped into an indoor football field.

SILVER STICK

Members of the Blue Water Phantoms take part in warm-ups prior to the start of the third period.

The Syracuse Stars defeated the LA Hockey Club by a score of 3-0.

There was no stopping the Blue Water Phantoms as they raced into the offensive zone straight for a goal.

Port Huron is the origin place, and home of the oldest tournament in North America, Silver Stick. It's the only youth hockey tournament enshrined in the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto.

Thirty-two teams in both the Pee Wee (ages 11-12) and Bantam (ages 13-14) divisions, along with 16 teams in Bantam AA. The 80 teams competed in a total of 173 games throughout the three-weekend event. McMorran Main Arena, McMorran Pavilion, and both arenas at Glacier Pointe Ice Complex were used during Port Huron's hosting of the event. The middle weekend games, which were held in Sarnia, Canada, was played at Sarnia's Clearwater Arena and the Sarnia Sports and Entertainment Center. Eight games also took place at Ice Mountain Arena, near Flint.

The first area team to compete was the Blue Water Phantoms in the Bantam A. After falling short in their first game, they were able to come back and make it to the quarter-finals, but were unable to capitalize. The Port Huron Flags of the Atom A division competed during the second weekend of competition in Sarnia. They were only able to advance to the semi-finals.

For the second year in a row, the Toronto Marlboros were crowned the Pee-Wee AAA champions. Toronto was also home to the Bantam AAA champions, the Toronto Junior Canadians. After beating out the local Blue Water Phantoms, the Mississauga Jets also went on to clinch their division championship.

Spectators were also treated to the special appearance by former Red Wing Steve Yzerman, who was there to support a friend's team. Many fans got the chance to get pictures and also received autographs.

The director of Silver Stick, Pat Hills, was inducted into the Port Huron Sports Hall of Fame, at the fortieth annual Hall of Fame Enshrinement Banquet in the Thomas Edison Inn. He has been on the board of the Port Huron International Silver Stick Hockey Tournament for the past eighteen years.

On the first Friday of competition, all teams participated in opening ceremonies at McMorran Main Arena. They kicked off with a laser light show put on by the music man, Jim McPhee. After, the teams paraded around the arena, and were announced as they walked out onto the ice. The teams then gathered for a group picture as the American and Canadien national anthems were sung. Mayor Alan Kutcher spoke at the gathering and lead the crowd in a verse of Happy Birthday to the city of Port Huron. Pete Norenger, Shane Franzer, Charlie Barrett, and Chris Bogas also came to represent their respected professional sports teams.

BACK TO THE BEGINNING

The Feast of the Ste. Claire is a living history re-enactment that over one hundred Big Red students worked on and over 600 living history re-enactors attended. Not only did Big Reds help out, but students attended from Port Huron Northern, Port Huron South, and Fraser High School. The Big Reds did everything from setting up tents and sun shades, to laying out and creating campsites and even dressing up and playing the roles of people in the 1700's to show spectators the former daily life styles.

The visitors who came to see the Feast of the Ste. Claire in Pine Grove Park on Memorial Day weekend could listen to the sounds of the fifes and drums., the folk singers, and dulcimers. They could smell the food of the time period cooking over a campfire. They learned just how day to day life happened in the time before school and TV.

"I got to participate in the mock battle and show visitors just what a battle in the 18th century looked like," said Matthew Mintz (06). Joining the school run drill team, Big Reds had a chance to learn the French marching commands. Students did not just have to re-enact the military life of the 18th century they could participate in the drama programs.

"The shows the students put on depict actual shows that would have been understood by the common people of the time," said Mrs. Denise McCaffrey, advisor of the shows. The kids enjoyed pulling people out of the audience giving them a first hand look at just what it is like to participate in a living history event. If students preferred not to be on stage, they could be behind the scenes to participate in the puppet show.

Throughout the day spectators could catch a load of different events including festive dancing, sword fighting displays, mock battles, traditional church ceremonies, and even sample the food of the time period. Seeing this is not all; there are many vendors selling everything from clothes to toy horses to fine furs.

"This event is fantastic," said Founder Mr. Harry Burgess, " It is able to show the people of the 21st Century what life was like in the 18th." Port Huron has been the home for this event for twenty-six years.

The most exciting event of the Feast of the Ste. Claire is the re-enactment of the battle. Visitors can see and hear what it was like to be at a battle first hand.

At colonial taverns you could enjoy a famous turkey leg, a common food of the people in the 1700's.

ARTISTS WIN

This year's 12th Fine Arts Festival brought something new to the table. Two hundred seventy-six people participated, giving the judges lots of tough decisions to make on the poetry, paintings, short stories, photography, computer graphics, musicals, plays, drawings, and ceramic sculptures.

Justice-Andrew Cox (08) said that his inspiration for his piece- Variations of the Ransom Coillis House- was an old house that he drove past a few times while it was undergoing restoration. Miranda Post (06) said that she likes flowers, so she made a ceramic vase to put her flowers in.

The Madison Scouts won first place, at the 28th Annual Blue Water Brass Drum and Bugle Corps show held June 27, 2006 in Port Huron at Memorial Stadium. The Madison Scouts won first place for the third time in a row. They also won first place in 1981, 1989, 1997. The Madison Scouts was founded in 1938. They have won the Drum and Bugle Corps World Championship twice. The Blue Stars placed second, Pioneers placed third, and Capital Sound placed fourth.

The Blue Stars were founded in 1964. They are a 27-time Drum Corps International finalist in Division I, II, and III. They have also won Division III world title four times. Their performance honors those who put their life on the line so that we can live in freedom.

The Pioneer Corps was founded in 1972, when the St. Patrick's and Thunderbolts merged together. They are well known for their Irish roots. The Pioneer Corps won Division I in 1998.

Capital Sound was formed in 1995 when the all-male Madison Junior Scouts and all-female Capitolaires merged together.

The Corps work harder than most people think. On average they spend 800 hours rehearsing for their 11 and a half minute performance; that's nearly 70 hours for every 1 minute of their performance. The Drum Corps International's top corps spent about ten weeks touring the United States and Canada.

The Drum and Bugle Corps activities formed a little after World War I, when groups of veterans formed corps to participate in performances such as parades. The Corps are made up of a brass section, color guard, and a percussion section.

The Madison Scouts were the last drum and bugle corps to perform. Their theme was Primal Forces, which is rich in tribal culture based on warrior myths and legends from the pre-Columbian Americas.

Radio 1st of Port Huron sponsored a speaker set sculpture with their logo; it was displayed in front of McMorran Arena.

A leaf design was etched into the ice, and many children chose to get their pictures taken inside the carved frame.

The Fogcutter Restaurant displayed their logo in a blue tinted sculptor.

For the second year in a row, the Big Red Tree was sponsored by Mueller Brass, but this time the tree was available for raffle.

The DYCK Security logo was featured as a design for one of the sculptures.

AIMED AT SERVICE

The Detroit Tigers tree featured a team picture and pennant. Both were autographed by all of the Tigers.

One of the artists of the ice sculptures works to finish his carving of the Tazmanian Devil.

Volunteers throughout the event offered to play the voice of the Talking Tree.

Both Port Huron events, the Festival of Trees and the Ice Festival were aimed at servicing the community.

Festival of Trees is a town event scheduled every year to raise money for the Port Huron Hospital Foundation. Beautifully, decorated Christmas trees were sponsored by local businesses and organizations. This years charity extravaganza was held December 1-3, 2006 at McMorran Arena.

Every tree had a unique theme based on the designers' personality or the sponsors' specifications. There were many different trees this year, even PH had their own tree. Creators also made a Detroit Tigers tree. The final creations were on display for public viewing. Each tree was used to raise money through direct sale or raffle.

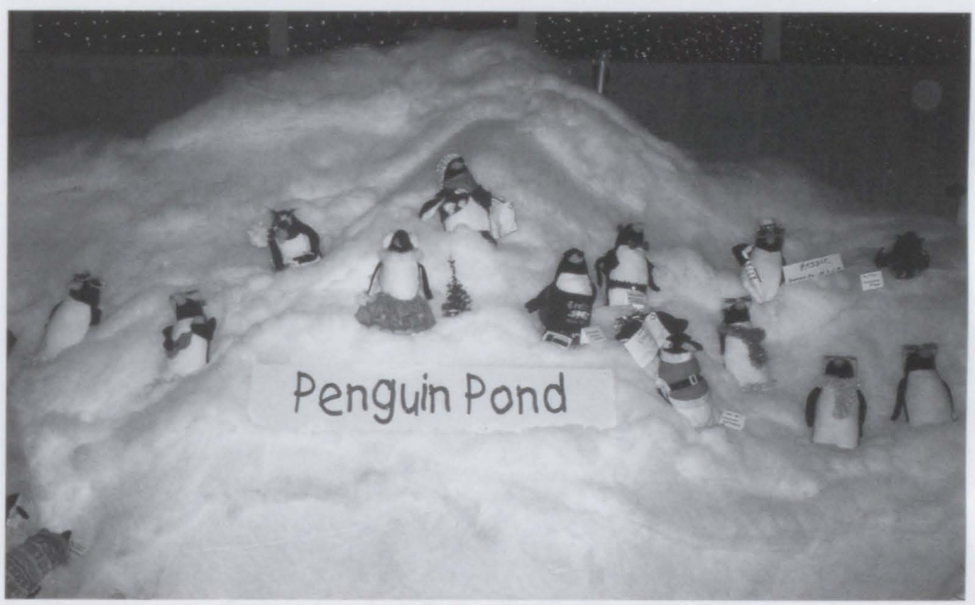
If the cost of trees was too steep, there were handmade wreaths sold or raffled. Also for sale were table top Christmas trees decorated by students. To help enhance the feeling of the North Pole penguins in the Penguin Pond were dressed and sponsored.

At no cost, younger viewers had fun with the children games like Bean Bag Toss and Tree Decorating. Children also could spend time decorating cookies with Mrs. Claus. During the festival, a talking tree was there to greet all the youngsters.

Community members volunteered their time to collect admissions, run the Children Area, sell raffle tickets, play the role of Santa or Mrs. Claus, or speak for the Talking Tree. Volunteers also worked in the Elf Shop selling gifts and souvenirs to all the visitors.

A second winter event, The Ice Festival, ran from McMorran to Court Street. All of the shops downtown were able to sponsor a sculpture that was put on display in front of their store. The Main Street Welcome Center was the principle sponsor of the day, and provided free hot chocolate to the fans enjoying the event.

Miniature penguins were hidden in random stores along Main Street. Once seekers found all of the penguins, they submitted their form to the Main Street Welcome Center. One form was then chosen at random, and the winner received a pair of tickets to a Port Huron Flags game. A $50 savings bond was awarded to the lucky guesser selecting the correct amount of money in the piggy bank sponsored by Eastern Michigan Bank.



The Penguin Pond featured miniature penguins that represented different schools in the area. Each penguin showed their school spirit by dressing up in their school colors.

WE'RE GOIN' TO THE FAIR

The bright lights, the taste of the food, the wind in your face, and the sounds of the music and screams were all memories to be captured during the summers fairs.

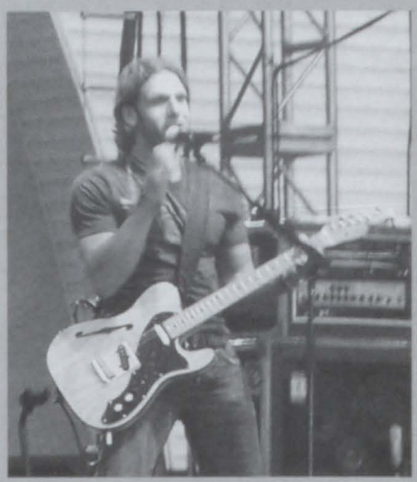
In the heat of summer, the annual St. Clair County 4-H and Youth Fair once again brought some well needed excitement to the school-free days. The Antique Tractor pull kicked the fair off, and led the crowd to the opening ceremonies where the King and Queen were crowned. Other events during the week-long fair included the live rodeo, livestock auctions, and the petting zoo. BMX racing, the demolition derby, motocross, and figure 8 races all took place in the Rimrock Crater. On each day of the fair, McDonagh's Amusements provided carnival rides for the fair's spectators.

The Armada Fair, known as "the best little country fair in Michigan," ran from August 15-20. Spectators enjoyed a petting farm, the pedal and tractor pull, and 4-H judging. McDonagh's Amusements provided the carnival rides for each day of the event. Every evening the main arena was host to different events, such as the Motocross, Demolition Derby, and the Figure 8. Fireworks were also set off nightly, sponsored by McDonagh's Amusements. The biggest attraction to the Armada Fair was a concert put on by country recording artist Little Big Town. They were introduced on August 18 by Radio 1st WSAQ.

Michigan is also home to the oldest state fair in the country, with the first one taking place just twelve years after the birth of the state. The State Fair was the last to take place before the start of school. The most unique feature of the State Fair was the Miracle of Life Exhibit, where guests could watch the live birth of an animal live. There were a total of 542 live births this year; 10 lambs, 14 calves, 156 quail, 141 chicks, and 12 ducks.

Another special event to the State Fair was the free concerts that were included with admission to the fair. This year, the live concerts were moved from the Colosseum, to the Bandshell, due to the sound systems. Detroit country music station 99.5 WYCD brought in Billy Currington to open the series on Tuesday August 28. Adding to the excitement was Montgomery Gentry, performing on the last day of the fair.

The Miracle of Life Exhibit at the State Fair offers people the chance to watch the live births of different animals. The normal litter of piglets ranges from 8-10, but this particular pig had 15 piglets in this litter. The pigs nurse from their mother just hours after being born.



Country artist Billy Currington was "doing something right" when he performed at the State Fair.

Krystal Pack (09) took part in the Youth Achiever Art at the Armada Fair and took home a total of 17 awards.

Derek Roggenbuck (St. Clair) and Katrina Docherty (07) tattoo a rabbit's ear at the St. Clair County 4-H and Youth Fair.

HERE COMES SANTA CLAUS

Christina Cutler (08) and Megan Morrison (08) prepare themselves for the Women's Ensemble performance of "Santa Baby".

Holland Padgham (09) and Zachary Carroll (09) play their piece for the Guitar Theory portion of the show.

Mr. Jeremy Rosenau sits on Santa's lap to receive his box of Lucky Charms, to maybe bring some luck to his basketball team.

Each year, just before being released for Christmas vacation, the annual Winter Assembly is held in the gymnasium.

The choir started off the show, singing many of the carols they were to perform at their concert. The Vocal Theory Choir performed The Twelve Days of Christmas, complete with humorous actions. The Concert Choir sang "Duet of Two Cats." The Women's Ensemble sang "Lord Bless You and Keep You," along with "Music of the Night." A special performance was also given by the Women's Ensemble, who sang and danced to the music of "Santa Baby."

"Choir is fun because Mr. Beasley makes singing fun; the best thing is at the end of the year we get to go sing at Cedar Point, and when we're all done singing we get to ride all the rides," said Ashley Mollan (08).

Representatives from the guitar classes, Tony Tidwell (08), Andrew Gardner (08), Craig Frank (07), and with Mr. Terry Beasley on keyboard, wowed the crowd with their version of "Carol of the Bells."

Once again, the ever famous Santa Claus, (Mr. Rock Stevens) and Mrs. Claus (Mrs. Mary O'Connor) were pulled into the gym by the trusty reindeer played by Ashley Morris (08), Rachel Farquhar (09), Kyla Howe (09), Brittany Gilbert (07), Colleen Lum (08), Casandra Chen (10), Ashley Finch (07) and Tara Sasu (08).

Some of those who chose to write letters to Santa with their Christmas wishes received candy and gifts from Santa.

The Big Red Marching Machine played "Sleigh Ride," one of the all time favorites to pump up the Christmas spirts. Other popular tunes included "A Christmas wish," "Jingle-bell Rock," "Sounds of Christmas," and ended with "A Yuletide Christmas."

"Its hard work to be a part of The Big Red Marching Machine , but it all pays off in the end; the concerts get better every year," said Sabrina Visga (09).

The Big Red Marching Machine drum line helps out the Wind Ensemble with their rendition of some well-known Christmas carols like Sleigh Ride.

PORT HURON CELEBRATED

"Happy Birthday to you!" Using a word that's as hard to pronounce as it is to spell, Port Huron heralded its Sesquicentennial on February 4, 2007. A landmark date, the city of Port Huron is now 150 years young; just imagine the candles on that cake!

The Thomas Edison Inn, named after Port Huron's most famous citizen, hosted one major winter celebration, the Sesquicentennial Gala, at the spot where Edison lived as a young boy. There were other birthday reminders, as well. On display at the Port Huron Museum were Russell Sawyer's photos from 1930-1980, including the 1949 photo of the Port Huron city hall fire and the 1938 photo of the construction of the first Blue Water Bridge; many of this freelance artist's photos were taken for the Times Herald.

How did it all begin? Here's a quick local history lesson. Fort St. Joseph was built in 1686 at the St. Clair River. The city was incorporated in 1857. By 1837 the name "Port Huron" was being used to describe the settlement near the Fort Gratiot military post.

Here are a few PHHS historical dates. The Student yearbook dates back over 100 years. The early PHHS building was constructed in the 1800's and burned in 1873. The following year a new building was constructed on the site that now houses St. Clair County Community College. The school's current building dates back to 1955. Northern's building was constructed in the 1964.

The logo for the Sesquicentennial was designed by Debbie Gillett and included the Fort Gratiot Lighthouse, water, and the number 150.

The Huron Physical Arts Center congratulates Port Huron on its birthday.

Lamp posts along Main Street welcome people to downtown PH.

Students step out into the dreary days of winter only wishing it was the last time they would have to make that step; like they would in June.

Leaving the Halls Behind

For the Week, the Year, Forever?

Good job, agents. Your journey beyond the halls of Port Huron High School is complete. All of your snooping around helped us gather files of information.

Your eavesdropping revealed the year's gossip. School began after Labor Day as mandated by a new state law. 24th Street was still under construction as the school year started. Hurricane Rita blew bad winds, winter blew really cold winds and school was cancelled for two days, and Saddam Hussein was hanged, and unfortunately photographed.

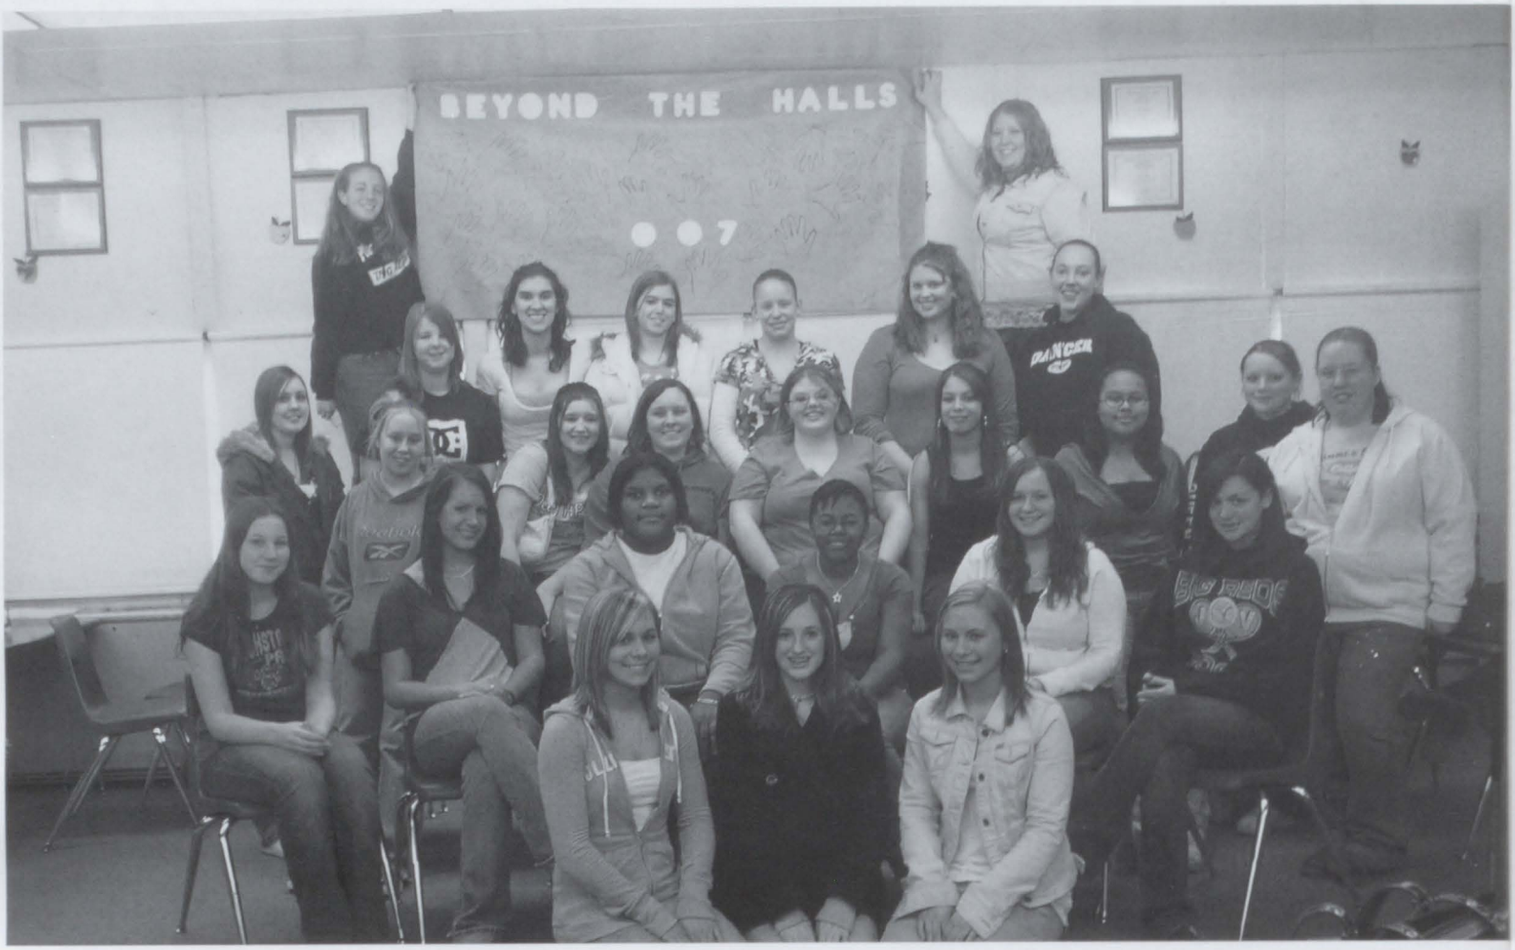
The administration search brought out the fact that Mr. Ron Wollen was leaving the halls of PHHS to go fill the vacant job of Assistant Superintendent in the administration building. Mr. Semelsberger stepped up to the principal's job.

Beyond the school doors you also dug up some community talk about the stars like Josh Gracin, Trace Adkins, Craig Morgan, Keith Anderson, and Larry the Cable Guy, who performed at McMorran. A Battle of the Bands was held here at the PAC.

Spies also dug up all they could about the governor's race between Granholm and DeVos, which left Granholm in charge. In the school board elections two new members, Patsy Chapman and Patricia Bayless, made the board.

Agents discovered the pride of the Detroit area this past summer was with the Tigers baseball team which made it all the way to the World Series, but they lost to the St. Louis Cardinals by four games to one.

The class of '007 left the PHHS halls behind, and for the rest of us, the absence is just for the summer.



Once beyond the halls and in the classroom, the 2007 yearbook staff collects all the data from a year full of experiences and sends it back to PHHS students with a smile.

Colophon

Beyond The Halls, '007 is the 102nd edition of the Port Huron High School yearbook, The Student. Seven hundred yearbooks were sold, each containing 216 pages; 56 pages were color and 160 pages were in black and white. Half of the pictures were digitally shot and cropped, while 35 millimeter film was used for the rest of the photographs. Times New Roman was the font used for all the body copies and captions. The editors and managers designed the layouts; Megan Reina and Kyla Howe created the spy cartoons seen on all the division pages. The book was printed by Herff Jones in Edwardsville, Kansas. Chalkdust, last year's yearbook, was rated a first place by American Scholastic. Angelina Taylor, Kourtney Pelkey, and Kristi Radatz attended a four day workshop at Michigan State University to get a better understanding of the new yearbook computer program, InDesign CS2. The cover design was created by Angelina Taylor, Kourtney Pelkey, Kristi Radatz, Herff Jones representative Tony Noto, and Herff Jones artist Bret Gonterman. The yearbook advisor was Mrs. M. Jane Zauner.
